Carnegie's First $400.
A $500,000,000 Baby.
Peace, and There Is None.
Says Dr. S. to Gov. Smith.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

"ANDREW CARNEGIE made his first $400 without spending a cent." That's how big fortunes often start.

Carnegie bought $400 of insurance stock, gave his note in payment, paid for the stock with its dividends, owned it for nothing.

Joseph P. Day, learned land scientist, says the three greatest letters in the alphabet are "O. P. M.," meaning "Other People's Money."

A QUICKER way to make money without capital is to have a good idea and push it. A way to plate metallic surfaces with aluminum, something hitherto found impossible, is discovered and involves actually billions of dollars to be saved.

The invention will be applied to endless uses, from kitchenware to locomotives, and is expected to give autmobiles a finish defying time and weather.

There are as good ideas in the human brain as ever came out of it. Try to find one.

SEARS, ROEBUCK stockholders yesterday voted to increase capital stock by 800,000 shares. At market prices that company is worth more than $500,000,000. Julius Rosenwald hardly expected that when he took hold of the company a few years ago.

Compared with other companies, General Motors, Standard Oil, U. S. Steel, etc., Sears, Roebuck is only a baby. We have the four-billion-dollar stock company. When will the 10-billion company arrive?

SOON our able Secretary of State, Mr. Kellogg, will be in Paris discussing the pact to prevent war.

In the meanwhile Japan notifies China that she will have war in a hurry if she doesn't stop her nonsense about repudiating treaties. When you read "direct action is hinted," you are reading a plain threat of war.

Peace pacts, certainly, while they don't interfere with some big power's war-plan, Britain and the United States at least are perfectly sincere in their desire to avoid war.

They have got all they want, all they can take care of and their desire is to be let alone.

GOV. SMITH sensibly insists that he be allowed to answer the reverend Baptist preacher, Dr. Straton, from the Baptist pulpit where the clergyman attacked him.

The Rev. Dr. Straton wanted to hire Madison Square Garden for a big crowd. Gov. Smith said, "No, I will reply to you where you attacked me."

NOW Dr. Straton, conquering his aversion to publicity, says he will let Gov. Smith answer from Dr. Straton's Baptist pulpit, provided Dr. Straton can repeat the debate in St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Cathedral on Fifth avenue.

That seems out of line—first, because Gov. Smith has nothing to do with the management of St. Patrick's Cathedral, and, second, because nobody was attacked in St. Patrick's Cathedral. It will be an interesting debate.

BUT Will Rogers says, "In the old days, Gov. Smith would have kidded that off with one wise crack."

That might be the wise thing for Gov. Smith, who is busy, to do now.

BRAVE men lost their lives in that Italian submarine, cut in two as it rose in the path of a destroyer. The last message from the men read, "We are all gathered at the prow, gas is advancing inexorably, we are dying, long live . . . "

Nobody will know the missing word. But it was surely one of these three, Italy, Mussolini, Fascismo. Probably "Italy," with Mussolini and Fascismo in mind.

A "MYSTERIOUS WOMAN" has amazed the gamblers at the French resort, Le Coquet, by playing every night six hours at the baccarat table and winning tremendously.

She wears huge emeralds, gambles alone. Any truthful gambler will tell you that if the lady keeps it up she won't have the emeralds, or "a tray heaped with 10,000-franc chips."

The wisest old croupier at Monte Carlo said to a young man: "You have won 30 times in succession. Now is the time for you to stop. But you won't. Nobody ever does. But when you lose all your money you will stop. That's why the bank always wins."

MADAME HALIDE EDIB, Turkish feminist, once a harem inmate, says Turkish husbands with many wives were always thoroughly henpecked.

That is easy to believe. Brigham Young kept his wives in different houses so they couldn't peck him all at once. "One at a time," was his motto.

Solomon in his glory, with 1,000 wives and concubines, was nothing for a wise man to envy.

MR. POLAND, head of the Anti-Saloon League legal department, requests Gov. Smith, of New York, to use the State Troopers and "dry up New York City."

It is a pleasant idea, but he might as well ask the Governor to use the Boy Scouts and dry up the Atlantic Ocean. He can't do it.

GAS SHOW, THREATEN BOMB AT CARRICK

An all-night vigil by police seeking the person who had telephoned a threat to bomb the Brentwood Theater, a Carrick movie house, prevented the threatened bombing. No headway was made, however, in learning the identity of the person who emptied a half pint of fluid with a noxious odor in the theater last night and drove the audience of 400 persons to the street.

John E. Snyder, owner of the theater, today said that a week ago he had been ordered to discharge a nonunion motion picture operator, by a man who represented himself as the business agent of the Motion Picture Operators' Union. Snyder said he refused.

After the auditorium had been filled with noxious fumes last night, driving the audience to the street, some one telephoned to Mrs. Snyder that the theater would be bombed. She notified police and the guard was placed.

Mrs. Snyder, who was at the ticket window, and who received the telephone call threatening the theater, said she remembers the man she believes emptied the bottle of odoriferous liquid in the theater.

"He was quite well dressed, short and was a stranger in Brentwood," she said.

Snyder denied emphatically distributing hundreds of handbills, said to have been spread broadcast by a man in an automobile. These called attention to employment of "nonunion musicians and moving picture operators" in the theater.

"Why should I discharge my operator?" asked Snyder. "He does his work and had been here before I bought the place."

BETTY COLWELL

Arrested with five male suspects, Betty Colwell, 25, Arch street, North Side, was grilled by detectives today in an effort to find what she knows about two payroll robberies. The suspects were arrested in connection with the Ward Baking Company hold-up, April 2, and the robbery of a Pittsburgh Railways Company paymaster at Castle Shannon, July 9.

U. S. JUDGE SEES PERIL IN DRY LAW

"Prohibition presents a problem fraught with peril to the peace and liberties of the people," and "the statesman who can point the way to a just and reasonable solution" of the problem—"a solution which will find approval with the man in the factory, and the man in the counting house; with the man in the hut, and the man in the mansion, should be hailed as a patriot, worthy of the highest honors of the nation."

—Judge W. H. S. Thomson.

Thus concludes a two-page leaflet entitled "The Volstead Act in the Light of the Eighteenth Amendment—The Legal View Point," written by W. H. S. Thomson, judge of the United States District Court. In it, he says:

"The average man is so misled and deceived by the ignorance, on the one hand, or the demagogery on the other, of those who undertake to interpret the Volstead Act, in the light of the Eighteenth Amendment, that a plain statement of the law might be of interest and value. The difference between the amendment and the Realism can be carried too far. Hanni Hoessrich, Viennese actress, appreciates the danger. In an Alpine film, a staged avalanche became "too real" and beyond the control of prop men. She escaped death or injury narrowly.

MOTORMAN HELD IN DEATHS OF 2

Frank McFarren, 62, of 921 Norfolk street, motorman, a veteran of 28 years' service with the Pittsburgh Railways Company, today was held by the coroner's jury to await the grand jury's action on a charge of manslaughter at the inquest into the deaths of the two victims in the runaway trolley accident in Braddock July 21.

It developed in the testimony that Conductor Thomas W. Butler, 60, of 2022 Monroe street, Swissvale, who had been 29 years in the service, was not familiar with the operation of a street car. Butler's admission of his ignorance of the mechanics of the car drew from Coroner W. J. McGregor the statement that "if the Pittsburgh Railways Company is permitting men to have charge of a car who in 29 years learn nothing of its operation, something ought to be done about it."

McFarren admitted that it was a rule of the company that the hand-brake should always be set when the motorman leaves the controller and the testimony showed that if this rule had been observed the accident would not have happened. McFarren said that he had joined his conductor in assisting a passenger, Miss Stella Dowling, of 7520 Vernon street, who had sprained her ankle in leaving the car. He said that he did not consider he was leaving his car in doing this act. The car was standing at the top of a long hill and the motorman removed one of the trolley poles before the conductor had placed the reverse pole on the wire.

The result was that the airbrakes were released and the car ran down the grade, crashing into a crowded store at the foot of the hill, killing Concetta Prestia, 13, of 1112 Rebecca avenue, North Braddock, and her cousin, Yolando Sabella, 12, of 1114 Rebecca avenue, North Braddock, and injuring several others.

DESPONDENT, KILLS SELF, SON WATCHING

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 10.—Charles Tennant, 45, of Bula, W. Va., just across the state line, committed suicide yesterday in the presence of his small son, Welden. Tennant, proprietor of a small store, shot himself in the head and died almost instantly. Despondency over business affairs is said to have been the cause for his act.

P. R. R. TRAIN WRECKED IN FLOOD, 4 HURT

ALLIANCE, O., Aug. 10.—Running into a washout due to a heavy rainstorm at North Sebring near here last night, the Pennsylvania passenger train No. 815, westbound, was derailed and four persons were injured. The engine and six cars left the track and the passengers badly bounced about.

THE INJURED.

ENGINEER W. A. GLASSER, of New Castle.

FIREMAN J. E. JENKINS, of New Castle.

MRS. MOLLEY MOORE, Negro of Youngstown.

MRS. E. J. PHELAN, of Youngstown.

The injured suffered cuts and bruises. The women were treated at the scene and put to bed in a Pullman car and the two employes were brought to Alliance on a relief train and treated at a local hospital. The train was made up at New Castle and runs as far as Orville and there connects with a train for Columbus. The accident occurred shortly before 11 o'clock daylight saving time.

The relief train brought most of

Canoeist's Body Is Found

The body of William Joseph Clifford, 20, a student, of 837 Anaheim street, drowned in the Allegheny River at Twelve Mile Island early Wednesday morning, was recovered at noon today.

The youth met with his accident when he took a canoe and attempted to paddle to the mainland to telephone his mother that he would not return home, according to his stepfather, Joseph M. Clifford, who identified the body at the morgue.

It was Clifford's rule never to remain away from home without notifying his mother, the stepfather said, and this is said to account for his action in leaving his tent after midnight and taking the canoe in an attempt to leave the island where there are no telephone connections.

His cries for help were heard by campers who went to his rescue, but they could not discern him in the fog and he sank before they reached his capsized craft.

Bucs Beat Leaders; Try for 9

The owner of another long string of unbroken successes, the Pirate band today will make an effort to further reduce the lead of the pace-setting Redbirds.

Returning to their home haunts yesterday, the Freebooters measured the league leaders for a 5-to-4 triumph in a brilliant ball game. The home team has won eight straight.

Manager McKechnie, of the Cardinals, intends to turn loose Alexander the Great this afternoon in an attempt to end the losing streak of the club. The Redbirds have lost three in a row to the Giants and Pirates. Manager Bush, of the Pirates, will rely on Lefthander Fred Fussell.

The Pirates are only one game removed from fourth place and just one and one-half games from the third notch as they made ready for the second meeting with the Cards. The latter team's lead over the Giants has been reduced to four games.

LINDY BACKS CITY AS AIRPLANE CENTER

Definite steps toward making Pittsburgh the aviation center of the Eastern United States have already been taken, it was disclosed yesterday when Col. Charles A. Lindbergh made an unheralded trip to the city in the interests of a newly formed airplane corporation here. Lindbergh was at Rodgers Field, Aspinwall, for almost an hour yesterday, flying here from New York and then taking off for St. Louis.

The Colonel was met at the flying field by B. Franklin Mahoney, president of the Mahoney Ryan Aircraft Corporation, of San Diego, Cal., manufacturers of the Ryan airplane, and F. LeMoyne Page, secretary of the Pennsylvania Trust Company, the president of the new Pittsburgh company which will be the distributing agency for Ryan planes for Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York and New Jersey.

Thirty or 40 prominent Pittsburghers are connected with the new concern, either as stockholders or officers. The name of the local company has not yet been selected, but this will be done within a few days, and the company will be ready to start business imme-

"Cooler," Forecast Today

"Cooler weather," forecast for the first time in weeks, is expected to break the prolonged heat wave tomorrow afternoon.

A drop of between 5 and 10 degrees is predicted for Saturday by Forecaster W. S. Brotzman. A fall of 10 degrees is reported today in the Dakotas and other northwest points.

Thundershowers are likely this afternoon or tonight, Brotzman said. Temperatures today were slightly lower than yesterday, as light clouds partly obscured the sun.

The hot weather is blamed for an alleged robbery and an attempted suicide yesterday, the police state. Walter Malasky, 19, of Indiana, Pa., was arrested when he is alleged to have been caught walking off with a five gallon can of ice cream from a truck in Carson street. He said he wanted to cool off. Police say that Robert Ragegauch, 23, of Penn township, was suffering from the heat when he drank poison yesterday in his home. He is in the Pittsburgh Hospital.

Forests Planted To Save Pgh. From Floods!

The rivers went on a rampage on March 15, 1907. The Allegheny penetrated Pittsburgh's downtown business district as far as Liberty avenue and Sixth street. Thousands of persons were driven from their homes, millions of dollars of damage done. Pittsburgh's foremost business men subscribed $100,000, employed capable engineers, and asked them to devise a program for flood prevention. After a year of study the engineers recommended, among other things, that forests be restored on the denuded hillsides at the headwaters of the Allegheny.

The United States government has taken the job in hand. It has established the Allegheny National Forest, a domain of 740,000 acres, of which 314,000 have already been acquired, in Warren, McKean, Elk and Forest counties. Five hundred bears and 5,000 deer are estimated to be roaming these wilds. Five thousand Seneca Indians live hard by in tribal reservations. The mountain and river scenery of the forset is superb. It is destined to become one of the principal playgrounds of the crowded East. Warren, Pa., is the gateway.

The forest will be described in a page of articles and illustrations devoted to Warren in The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph of next Sunday.

SHOULD A GIRL TAKE GIFTS? WELL, YOU KNOW BLONDES

Whether a girl should take presents from "gentlemen" is answered in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," big selling book in which Anita Loos lays down a barrage of laughs. It will appear Sunday, forming the complete novel—"The Peach Section" of The Sun-Telegraph.

This story, written in the form of a "gold digger's" diary, is the day-by-day report of what an interesting, attractive, and not too Puritanic blonde can do to various gentlemen's pocketbooks.

Anita Loos, who wrote it, has realized by this unusual comedy-yarn an unusual popularity. She created catch-phrases in it that have carried into the American language new words for old things—and the words will likely stay.

It is her best story. This sophisticated diary could be written only by some one who has had environment and training comparable to Miss Loos'. The daughter of actors, she has trouped with them, knows the show business and the butterfly type of life that "the preferred blonde" lived. She is the wife of John Emerson, playwright.

A lot of laughs are yours Sunday in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." It is free with the Sunday Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

'THROUGH WITH PUBLIC,' TUNNEY TRIES FOR '400'

International News Service.

SOUTH BRISTOL, Me., Aug. 10.—Standing squarely by his statement that he was through with the public and that the public must let him alone, Gene Tunney, with a new battle on his hands, continued in seclusion today on John's Island, the summer estate of his fiancee, Miss Mary Josephine Rowland (Polly) Lauder.

Tunney's new battle is to win a place in the ranks of New York's four hundred. To do this his name must appear in the social register.

Tunney, born of parents who emigrated to this country from England and Ireland and himself a former New York shipping clerk, has already been accepted in society. His friends today predicted that the name of James Joseph Tunney would be in the social register within two years. The young heiress, whom the world's heavyweight retired champion is to marry, has been listed in the register for years as have the names of other members of the Lauder family.

The Lauder island continued under armed guard today and summer diately. An order will be placed for a half dozen Ryan planes, and a larger order will follow shortly.

Temporarily, the company will use a hangar at one of the three local fields.

Both Mr. Mahoney and Mr. Page were of the opinion that the sales in the eastern territory will be large enough to merit the erection of an Eastern factory or assembling plant here within a short time. This gives Pittsburgh a decided lead over other Eastern cities, as all the Ryan planes sold from New York to Cincinnati must be purchased here. The Ryan is one of the most popular planes being manufactured. Lindbergh flew across the Atlantic in one.

Col. Lindbergh had originally intended to remain overnight here as the guest of Mr. Page at his home in Aspinwall, but other business forced him to take off for St. Louis. Mr. Mahoney is stopping with Mr. Page. The conference at the field yesterday was held in the cabin of Lindbergh's new Ryan ship. Lindbergh came here for the express purpose of meeting Mr. Page and discussing the new company with him, the meeting being arranged by Mr. Mahoney, a close friend of Lindbergh.

SELECTS PITTSBURGH

The formation of the new company was brought about with Pittsburgh capital at the direction of Mr. Mahoney, who selected Pittsburgh as his eastern headquarters at the request of Pittsburgh businessmen. The chairman of the board of a large steel company is its secretary and a bank president its treasurer, Mr. Page said.

Mr. Page said that he would resign his position with the bank and devote all his time to going about establishing sub-agencies in cities throughout the Eastern territory. Such agencies will be established in Cleveland, Cincinnati, New York and Philadelphia, but their headquarters will be here. If a factory is erected heer it will mean that another landing field will be constructed. Ryan planes will be kept on hand all the time for delivery to all points.

Half a hundred persons witnessed Lindbergh's arrival here at 4:37 o'clock. He circled the field twice before landing. He was out of the plane only a short time and then re-entered with his friends for the conference.

Hagey H. Campbell, Pittsburgh agent for the Republic Casualty Company, was responsible for Mr. Mahoney's opening negotiations with the Pittsburgh group.

LINDY AT COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 10. — Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who spent the night at the Columbus Country Club here, planned to leave for St. Louis late today.

Lindbergh alighted here in his Ryan brougham monoplane last night after a flight from Pittsburgh.

Police Kill Man Who Shot 2

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 10.—(AP.)—As he fled from his home in Harrisville today with an automatic revolver in his hand after being pursued by officers since 11 o'clock Tuesday night, when he shot and wounded two officers, Melville A. Gawthrop, 55, a farm laborer, was shot and killed instantly by officers who had surrounded the house.

Gawthrop Tuesday night wounded Sheriff J. S. Goode and A. W. Canther, a special deputy sheriff, when they attempted to arrest him on a liquor warrant. He was shot in the abdomen in an exchange of shots with the officers, it was disclosed, and gangrene had set in.

Gawthrop's killing ended one of the most extensive man hunts in the history of Ritchie county.

SPANGLER (PA.) BANKER, J. A. M'CLAIN, 78, DIES

SPANGLER, Pa., Aug. 10.—(AP.)—James A. McClain, 78, banker and business man, died at his home here last night. He formerly lived at Bellefonte, where he once served as register of wills and clerk of courts of Center county. His widow, one son, Thomas B. McClain of Philadelphia, and two daughters, Mrs. Harvey S. Lingle of Washington, D. C., and Miss Emily Spangler, of Spangler, survive.

Highway Honker Is Fined $10 In Butler

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 10. — Highway patrolmen of the Butler district announce a campaign against unnecessary noises by motorists.

The first arrest in Butler county was made and conviction secured when Lawrence Zeigler, of Mars, was fined $10 by a Butler magistrate on a charge of making harsh and unnecessary loud noises with an automobile.

Zeigler had honked his horn continuously when a line of motorists was held up on the Pittsburgh-Butler highway.

visitors from the mainland who circled by motorboat hoping to catch a glimpse of Gene and "Polly" were disappointed. The only time the couple were seen together was when Gene was out cutting brush. Miss Lauder, dressed in a yellow print dress, trimmed with orange, was at his side.

Tunney was standing on his ultimatum to the press that from now on he desires to live the simple life and hopes that the public will forget him. Newspaper photographs of himself or his fiancee were barred by the ex-champion, who said he was done with crowds and the limelight.

the passengers from the day coaches into Alliance and then transferred them to a train that would take them to Columbus. The Pullman passengers remained on the cars.

Several large crews of workmen were sent to repair the damage. Before they attempted to replace the coaches they had to make large fills of ballast and in some places drain off the water. Traffic would be delayed for several hours, railroad officials said this morning.

Another washout occurred on the main line of the Fort Wayne division west of Sebring, O., where dirt was washed from beneath the tracks for a distance of 300 feet.

Four-year-old William Harme, was struck by lightning and killed during the storm, which blew down more than 100 telephone lines.

PITTSBURGHER, PILOT KILLED IN AIR CRASH

GRAVENHURST, Ont., Aug. 10.—(AP.)—Five persons injured in the crash of a sightseeing airplane at Lake Muskoka, in which two were killed, today were expected to recover.

The dead are Robert Erving, 19, of Pittsburgh, a passenger, and Capt. Charles Haines, of Miami, Fla., pilot of the plane. Erving was killed instantly. Capt. Haines was taken from the plane unconscious, his back and both legs broken, and died shortly after at Calydor Sanitarium.

The injured are Walter Phillips, 19, of Philadelphia, severe concussions and a fractured leg; Miss Lucy Hill, Boston, Mass., left arm broken; Miss Molly Spaulding, East Aurora, N. Y.; Miss Betty McKay, Pittsburgh, and James Reed, Pittsburgh, injuries not serious. Physicians today said all were out of immediate danger.

The plane, an amphibian, had just taken off yesterday from the waters of the lake and climbed to an altitude of 500 feet when something went wrong. It started to fall. A wing struck a tree and the plane turned completely over, crashing on the rocks along the shore.

Linesman for a power company working nearby who witnessed the accident, pulled the injured from the wreckage and rushed them to the sanitarium in a motorboat. The plane was wrecked.

The plane was received at Gravenhurst Tuesday, and was making one of its first flights with passengers.

THREE PITTSBURGHERS

The Pittsburgh youth who was killed in the accident is a son of Mrs. R. H. Erving, of 418 Amberson avenue, and a nephew of Robert J. McKay of 5016 Center avenue, president of the McKay Chain Company. Betty McKay, 22, one of the injured, is a daughter of Thomas J. McKay, of 5016 Center avenue, presipresident and treasurer of the United States Chain and Forging Company.

James Reed, 17, is a son of S. Clark Reed, of 1176 Murrayhill avenue, Shadyside. The three Pittsburghers were guests of Mrs. Erving at her cottage. Ronald Erving, 20, a brother of the dead youth also is at the resort.

Thomas J. McKay left Pittsburgh for Canada immediately after hearing that his daughter had been injured. He plans to go by automobile and airplane.

Robert Erving, the dead youth, was a student of the University of Pittsburgh and a graduate of Shadyside Academy. He went to Beaumaris July 1, after returning to Pittsburgh from Tucson, Ariz., where he had gone for his health. Several years ago his older brother, James, was drowned at Beaumaris.

SEES PERIL IN DRY LAW

Volstead Act, is that the former is a Constitutional provision which can only be changed by the action of the legislatures of three-fourths of the states concurring in a resolution of Congress submitting the question.

NOT SELF-ENFORCING

"The Volstead law is an act of Congress which may be changed, modified or repealed by the majority vote of any succeeding Congress. The Eighteenth Amendment is the organic law on the sale of intoxicants. But as it is not self-enforcing, it requires an act of Congress to carry it into effect. This, the Volstead Act, undertakes to do.

"The Eighteenth Amendment undertakes to do one thing, and one thing only, that is: To prohibit the importation, exportation, manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. It will be noted that the amendment did not undertake to define the word 'intoxicating liquors;' that is, did not fix the alcoholic content which would make any particular liquor intoxicating. That was left for Congress to define. This Congress undertook to do in the Volstead Act, by declaring any liquor containing ½ of 1 per cent of alcohol by volume, to be intoxicating.

CONGRESS CAN AMEND

"But, as I said before, this is an act of Congress, and another Congress, in the exercise of its sovereign right as the supreme legislative power of the nation, may give a different definition to the term intoxicating, by increasing the alcoholic content to such reasonable point as makes the beverage intoxicating, not in theory, but in fact. In the same way, some Congress might decrease the alcoholic content below one-half of 1 per cent, to the smallest imaginable fraction, in its definition of the term 'intoxicating.'

"It will thus be seen that there is nothing sacred in Volstead's definition; nothing that puts manacles on the broad legislative power of any future Congress. The man who defies the Constitution may be justly termed a repudiationist.

MAY URGE CHANGE

"But none but the unreasoning zealot can call him a repudiationist who seeks within the proper limits of legislative authority, to have Congress lay down such a definition of the word 'intoxicating' as harmonizes with the facts of human experience and is consistent with the Constitution. The limit so fixed by any subsequent act of Congress will, until modified or repealed, become the law of the land, executing the will of the people, as expressed in the Eighteenth Amendment.

"When that alcoholic limit is fixed by Congress, that marks the line beyond which no state can go in legislating on the subject.

RIGHTS OF STATES

"But each state would have the right, within that limit, to fix for its own people, the alcoholic content of liquors for beverage purposes. The bone-dry state might reduce the alcoholic content below ½ of 1%. The state with cosmopolitan population might give to its beverages the higher limit fixed by the Act of Congress. In this way, the power of the Constitution, as the supreme law of the nation, would be recognized and given effect, while the fast-waning powers of the states, which all wise men regret, the right to local self-government, which the fathers regarded as supreme, would, in some measures, be upheld."

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 10.—(INS.)—Dr. Elwood R. Kirby, who has been attending Senator-elect William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, since the Philadelphia political leader was stricken by paralysis at his summer home in Chelsea, near here, issued the following bulletin early today:

"Mr. Vare is progressing every day. He is improving right along. His temperature, pulse and respiration are normal. He is taking plenty of food and is sleeping well.

"We are more and more hopeful of his complete recovery."

Vare waas shaved yesterday for the first time since he became ill on August 1.

Dr. Kirby said that members of the patient's family are admitted to the sick room occasionally "to break the monotony."

DU PONT LEAVES G. M. TO FIGHT DRY LAW

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—Pierre S. Du Pont, who was expected to indicate publicly his support of the presidential candidacy of Gov. Smith, was granted leave of absence as chairman of the board of General Motors Corporation yesterday when he attempted to resign to avoid embarrassing the corporation through his opposition to the prohibition amendment.

The resignation was not accepted and it was not indicated whether the leave of absence would end at the close of the presidential campaign when John J. Raskob, who resigned almost three weeks ago as chairman of the finance committee after he was appointed chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is expected to resume his duties.

G. M. NOT IN POLITICS

A formal statement issued by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the corporation, after a meeting of the board of directors yesterday, said Du Pont submitted his resignation because he felt his activities in connection with the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, with which he and Raskob have been closely identified since its foundation, might give the impression that the corporation was involved in that movement.

"The board felt," Mr. Sloan's statement added, "that the position of the corporation, having been stated, was understood and that all should appreciate that Mr. Du Pont's activities in connection with that association's work are entirely those of an individual and did not concern the corporation."

When Raskob resigned, July 23, he and President Sloan agreed in an exchange of letters that the corporation should have no part in politics.

Simultaneously with the Du Pont action yesterday the resignation of Raskob from the executive committee of the Missouri Pacific Railroad became known. He said he relinquished that position and his directorate on the Gulf Coast Lines, the Texas and Pacific Railway and the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad because he was holding too many positions and did not have time to attend to the business details in connection with all of them. The resignations were submitted last March. Raskob added—long before he had any idea of becoming chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Smith at Brennan Funeral

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—The solemn ritual of the Catholic Church—requiem high mass for the dead—sent its somber echoes through Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church today as high and low alike joined in a parting tribute to George E. Brennan, dead Democratic leader of Illinois.

Gov. Alfred F. Smith, of New York, staunch friend of the Illinois national committeeman, was among the mourners who bowed their heads in reverent silence while the last rites were said.

Gov. Smith, making a special trip from New York to attend the services, occupied a pew well down near the altar opposite Mr. Brennan's family. The service was extremely simple, in accordance with the wishes of the family, and no flowers were at the church.

FLOOD FOLLOWS FLORIDA CYCLONE

MORE RUIN SPREAD; DAM IN PERIL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 10.—(AP.)—High water accumulating in the wake of a 48-hour hurricane and heavy rain harassed Florida today just as the state began to emerge from partial temporary paralysis occasioned by the fury of the winds.

The north end of Lake Okeechobee in the southeastern part of the state, apparently was the most seriously affected area and the object of Red Cross attention. One hundred persons in the sparsely settled area west of Jupiter on the East coast, were receiving their first meals in nearly two days, from Red Cross trucks sent in from West Palm Beach.

DAM THREATENED

Across the state the huge power dam at Inglis, one of the largest in the state, was threatened by high water. The dam is on the western fringe of the storm area, 100 miles north of St. Petersburg. While communication lines to Inglis had been rendered useless by flood waters of the Withlacoochee River, engineers learned indirectly that an effort would be made to reinforce the dam with sack concrete as soon as the necessary materials could be transported to the scene.

Meanwhile, Florida cast an apprehensive eye out over the Atlantic toward Haiti, whence came last Tuesday's storm, and where another tropical disturbance of cyclonic force was "accumulating intensity."

While the phenomenon was beginning to look dangerously like the one that raked the state two days this week, its course was problematical, although it was headed in the direction of the Bahamas and the lower end of the state. Either it must head out toward the Atlantic within the next 400 miles of its progress or die out, if the state escapes its fury.

As for the storm of Tuesday, it was reported early today at Mobile to have dissipated itself in the Gulf of Mexico, although somewhat heavy winds were blowing in toward the gulf states.

Knew He Loved Another, Girl Says of Gene

International News Service.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 10.—Miss Carolyn Bishop, whose name has repeatedly been linked with that of Gene Tunney in rumors suggesting an engagement, knew the champion was in love with another girl all the time.

This was revealed by Miss Bishop's aunt, Mrs. Fred Thompson, known in the motion picture world as Frances Marion, with whom Miss Bishop, now only 17, makes her home, following announcement of Tunney's engagement to Miss Mary Josephine Lauder of New York.

"Gene introduced Miss Lauder to us all a year ago as his fiancee," Mrs. Thompson said when interviewed in her home amid preparations for a journey to Europe.

"We were dying to tell the news at the time silly rumor had it that Carolyn was engaged to Gene but had promised not to. You see, a woman can keep a secret, after all."

FRIDAY · AUGUST 10 · 1928

POLICEMAN IS HELD

Accused of annoying an 8-year-old girl in a Federal street theater, Patrolman John De Grange, 30, of 5426 Penn avenue, reporting at North Side station, was held for court by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today. The magistrate also recommended that he be dismissed from the police force.

DeGrange was arrested by Patrolman Peter Connors after the child's mother had complained that her daughter had been annoyed in the theater on Monday. The girl was sent back yesterday, and according to Patrolman Connors he saw DeGrange in company with her in the theater. DeGrange denied the charge.

DeGrange was dismissed from the force about three years ago for being absent without leave, police say, and was recently reinstated by Director of Public Safety James M. Clark.

MONESSEN GUARDSMAN BREAKS BACK AT CAMP

LEBANON, Pa., Aug. 10.—(AP.)—William MacMillan of Monessen, a member of Company D, One Hundred and Tenth Infantry, now in camp at Mt. Gretna, near here, was in the Good Samaritan Hospital today suffering from a fracture of the spine received in a motor car accident yesterday. MacMillan was one of a party of eight, but the others escaped injury. His condition, the hospital reported, was serious.

WINS AWAY FROM HOME

RUTH CRIBBS

Competing across town from her home at 363 South Negley avenue, Miss Ruth Cribbs, 18, has won the title "Miss Dormont." She won over 25 "home girls," the judges declaring her eligible to appear as "Miss Dormont."

SHOW VOTE SUNDAY

Only one more day until The Sun-Telegraph, in connection with Hearst newspapers through the nation, will publish results in the straw vote.

And there will be many interesting facts in connection with this extensive poll which have hitherto not been known about the public sentiment over the coming presidential election.

Not only the city vote, but the suburban and rural votes will be shown, and various doubtful districts will have a liberal ballot to indicate their presidential preference.

In Pittsburgh and environs, The Sun-Telegraph has already sent out tens of thousands of double postal cards, asking the registered voters to whom they were mailed, to express their choice as between Hoover and Smith.

Is Pittsburgh, Republican stronghold, going to vote for Smith in November? This question will be answered as satisfactorily as it is possible for a preliminary vote to do it. There is no repeating or duplication in this straw vote, and only registered voters or those eligible to vote, are being canvassed.

There is nothing more interesting than anticipating the news. Everybody will know who won the election on November 7, but to know who will likely win it before the election, that is enterprise.

The postals simply ask the recipient to check one of the names on the ballot, Hoover or Smith, and also to indicate how he or she voted in 1924, whether for Coolidge, Davis or LaFollette.

There is no indication on the return card as to names or addresses, nothing to show who sent it back.

Sunday the figures will be published, not only of the returns here, but in other sections of the country as well.

MILK-ICE FUND NEARS $1,500

Just another few dollars and The Sun-Telegraph Milk and Ice Fund will be on its way toward $1,500, surely not too high an aim for those who wish to help the babies. Perhaps if more people could witness the sufferings of some of these little ones who must live in the congested districts of the city and have no way of escaping the heat, they could better appreciate the work being done by the Milk and Ice Association.

Three contributions have been sent in today, adding $20 to the fund. One gift is $10, the amount pledged each year by the Pittsburgh Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy. FIVE PERISH IN CAMBRIA COUNTY MINE BLAST

6 OF RESCUERS AMONG TEN GASSED

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 10.—(AP.)—Five miners were killed and 10 men overcome by fumes in an explosion in the Lochrie mine of the Tunnel Smokeless Coal Company, near here yesterday.

Six of the men overcome were rescue workers who entered the workings after the blast. The other four were miners. None was reported in a serious condition, although all were taken to hospitals.

Officials of the mine said they believed the explosion had its origin in a gas pocket 2,800 feet back from the drift opening, where the nine men in the mine at the time of the blast were working. One of the surviving workers said the mine was known to be gaseous and that only "safety" lamps were used.

The men killed were Steve Parkker, Wasil Gendruski, Frank Survinski, Peter Klenkovich and Ignace Budny. The workers, cutters and loaders, succumbed to the deadly gases which follow a mine explosion.

Mine rescue teams from nearby mines were sent into the Lochrie workings, and it was while the four miners who escaped were being sought, that six of the rescuers were overcome. They included Charles Crocker, chief of the state mine inspectors in this district.

The bodies of the five men, all of whom resided in Johnstown, were brought to morgues here.

The Lochrie mine is a small one, employing but few miners.

Weather Conditions.

The Florida storm is centered over Southern Georgia this morning with a decided decrease in intensity. It produced additional heavy rains in Florida from Tampa northward, but, while the rain area extends as far north as Virginia, the rains were light north of Florida. Thunderstorms were also general in the Ohio Valley states, and in Michigan and Missouri. Elsewhere they were widely scattered.

The pressure is relatively high over the West, and the skies are clear. There was little change in temperature.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling everywhere. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.8 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.1, and Dam No. 6, 8.2 feet. The dams are up.

MATRIMONIAL AGENCY ROMANCE HITS ROCKS

A matrimonial agency romance was on the rocks in court today and the young bridegroom was cited for contempt of court for failing to heed an order to pay the bride $5 a week. It was said he is several weeks in arrears. At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Thomas D. Carnahan directed the bride's attorney to draw up a court order requiring the presence of the husband in court.

Vera Audrey Greene, of Dora, Ala., became acquainted with John Van Roy Greene, 1143 Termon avenue, through a matrimonial advertisement in a magazine, testimony revealed. They were married in Butler, Pa., December 27, last, and went to live at the Greene home. Trouble quickly brewed and the bride avers her husband and mother-in law drove her from the house. She sued for divorce and an order was made for counsel fees and $5 weekly allowance for support. When Greene became delinquent on the latter his wife started contempt proceedings.

DEATH OF FISH FOUND NOT DUE TO OIL WORKS

WARREN, Pa., Aug. 10.—(AP.)—Belief that acids and alkalis from the Conewango refinery were killing fish in Conewango Creek here was dispelled yesterday, when the refinery manager, Harry Lewis, announced that an investigation by state authorities had revealed that no poisons were entering the stream from the oil works. The surface of the creek became literally covered with dead fish recently, this condition leading to the state inquiry.

CHURCH INAPPROPRIATE LIQUOR CACHE, SAYS JUDGE

A Presbyterian Church is no fit place to store contraband liquor, the court decided when Atlas Jannessa, 17, of Fifth avenue, Coraopolis, was paroled for two years by Judge Thomas D. Carnahan in Criminal Court.

The charge was that of entering a building, but before the boy had a chance to plead guilty, the testimony showed that he had only climbed upon the roof.

Jannessa was arrested July 17, by the Coraopolis chief of police when complaint was made that he had been seen running across the roof of the First Presbyterian Church, Fifth avenue and Broadway, Coraopolis. The boy said that he and several companions had found a number of half pint bottles of whisky and he had tried to hide his hoard of liquor behind the church chimney. When seen cavorting on the church roof, he was getting the bottles, which later, he declared, he threw into the Ohio River.

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

Made in the Richman Factories and Sold Direct to You

Established 1879

Half a century's continuous operation—the Richman reputation for fair dealing with the public—and the loyal efficiency of 2800 employes who own a $6,000,000.00 interest in this business give you assurance of complete satisfaction with your investment in Richman's Clothes.

Outstanding Quality and Value

Here are a few of the vital features that make Richman's Clothes so completely satisfying to ALL men—the inimitable style only our master designers know how to create—the newest and finest of pure wool fabrics—handsome, long wearing linings—correct and comfortable fit—and thoroughly good needle work, inside and out, to insure lasting style and long wear.

Added to this superb quality, there is the pleasing economy of our low price—a price made possible only through the economies commanded by Richman resources and the efficiency of Richman manufacturing and selling methods.

The cash purchase of fine materials at lowest prices, scientific volume production in our own factories, and the saving of the middleman's profit through our direct-from-factory selling plan produce the incomparable value in Richman's Clothes.

spray Dethol

It shows them no mercy

WHY play hide and seek or give in to flies and mosquitoes? You don't have to tolerate these annoying pests another single day. Spray Dethol. Get rid of them.

Dethol never fails. Flies and mosquitoes breathe it—and die. By the roomful. And it's so easy. The Dethol mist from the handy sprayer does it. Just as deadly to roaches, ants, bedbugs, moths, fleas. For cleaning, spray basins, bathtubs, tiling. Leaves a spotless, glistening surface when wiped. And you'll like the clean, refreshing odor of Dethol.

Nothing is so quick, so sure as Dethol. If you don't think so too, if you're the least bit dissatisfied with Dethol, return it to the store and get your money back. Dethol Mfg. Co., Inc., Richmond, Va.

SIXTH STREET BRIDGE TO OPEN LATE IN OCTOBER

NEED 2 MONTHS TO COMPLETE, BROWN SAYS

The Sixth Street Bridge will be opened, probably the latter part of October, County Public Works Director Norman F. Brown announced today.

The director declared he had been "misquoted" in a previous statement in the presence of the County Commissioners and newspapermen that the span would be in use next month.

Construction of hand railings, flooring and painting will require at least two months, it was said. The contract calls for completion of the bridge next January. The contractor will receive no bonus for finishing ahead of time, according to county engineers. The bridge is costing $1,430,000.

WASH. PARK PETTERS MUST TAKE PLEDGES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—Lieut. Col. Ulysses S. Grant III, like his famous grandfather, is to lead a war on "petters" in darkened automobiles in Washington's parks, of which he is the director.

Today he ordered the police of the national capital to launch a vigorous campaign against "spooning, necking and petting noticeably prevalent in darkened automobiles at night in the parks."

He also plans to place the users of the parks systems on an honor system and has drafted nine pledges to have them sign. These include fire prevention, grass littering and flower-picking, but the real nub is in the last pledge. This reads: "I will refrain from any action, posture of public display of amorousness that might be offensive to others or could set a bad example to children."

REAL ESTATE

A large center hall brick residence at 5621 Northumberland street near Wightman street, Squirrel Hill, has been sold through Coll & Totten for Marcus Rauh to E. W. Smith, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The lot is 122x140 feet and includes a two-car garage.

SAYS HE THOUGHT DEATH WAS NEAR

North Side Man Relates How Ten Herbs Ended Indigestion; Feels 100% Better.

"I have now taken a few bottles of Ten Herbs, and I feel sure that no one in this city could take more pleasure in endorsing your medicine than I do, as I feel a hundred per cent. better in every way," was the statement of Mr. George Voiret, 18 [illegible]mpson Street, North Side, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine.

"I had suffered with indigestion the past two years," continued Mr. Voiret, who is a machinist, employed by the Guilispie Manufacturing Co., Pittsburgh. "I had a poor appetite, and what little I ate did not digest properly, but would sour and ferment. Gas would form and work up around my heart, causing terrible palpitation—on several occasions I thought I was going to pass out. My bowels were so irregular I had to keep taking physics. At times, there was intense pain in the lower bowel. My inactive liver caused bilious headaches and dizzy spells. I was awfully nervous, and at times could not sleep.

"After reading how Ten Herbs had benefited persons whose cases were similar to mine, I started using your medicine. My appetite has returned, and I can eat anything without fear of distress. There is no more bloating or heart palpitation. My bowels are regular, and bilious headaches and dizzy spells have left me. My nerves are more quiet, I sleep like a child, and in the morning feel rested and refreshed and ready for the day's work. I am willing to tell anyone what Ten Herbs has done for me."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

VICTROLA-RADIOLA

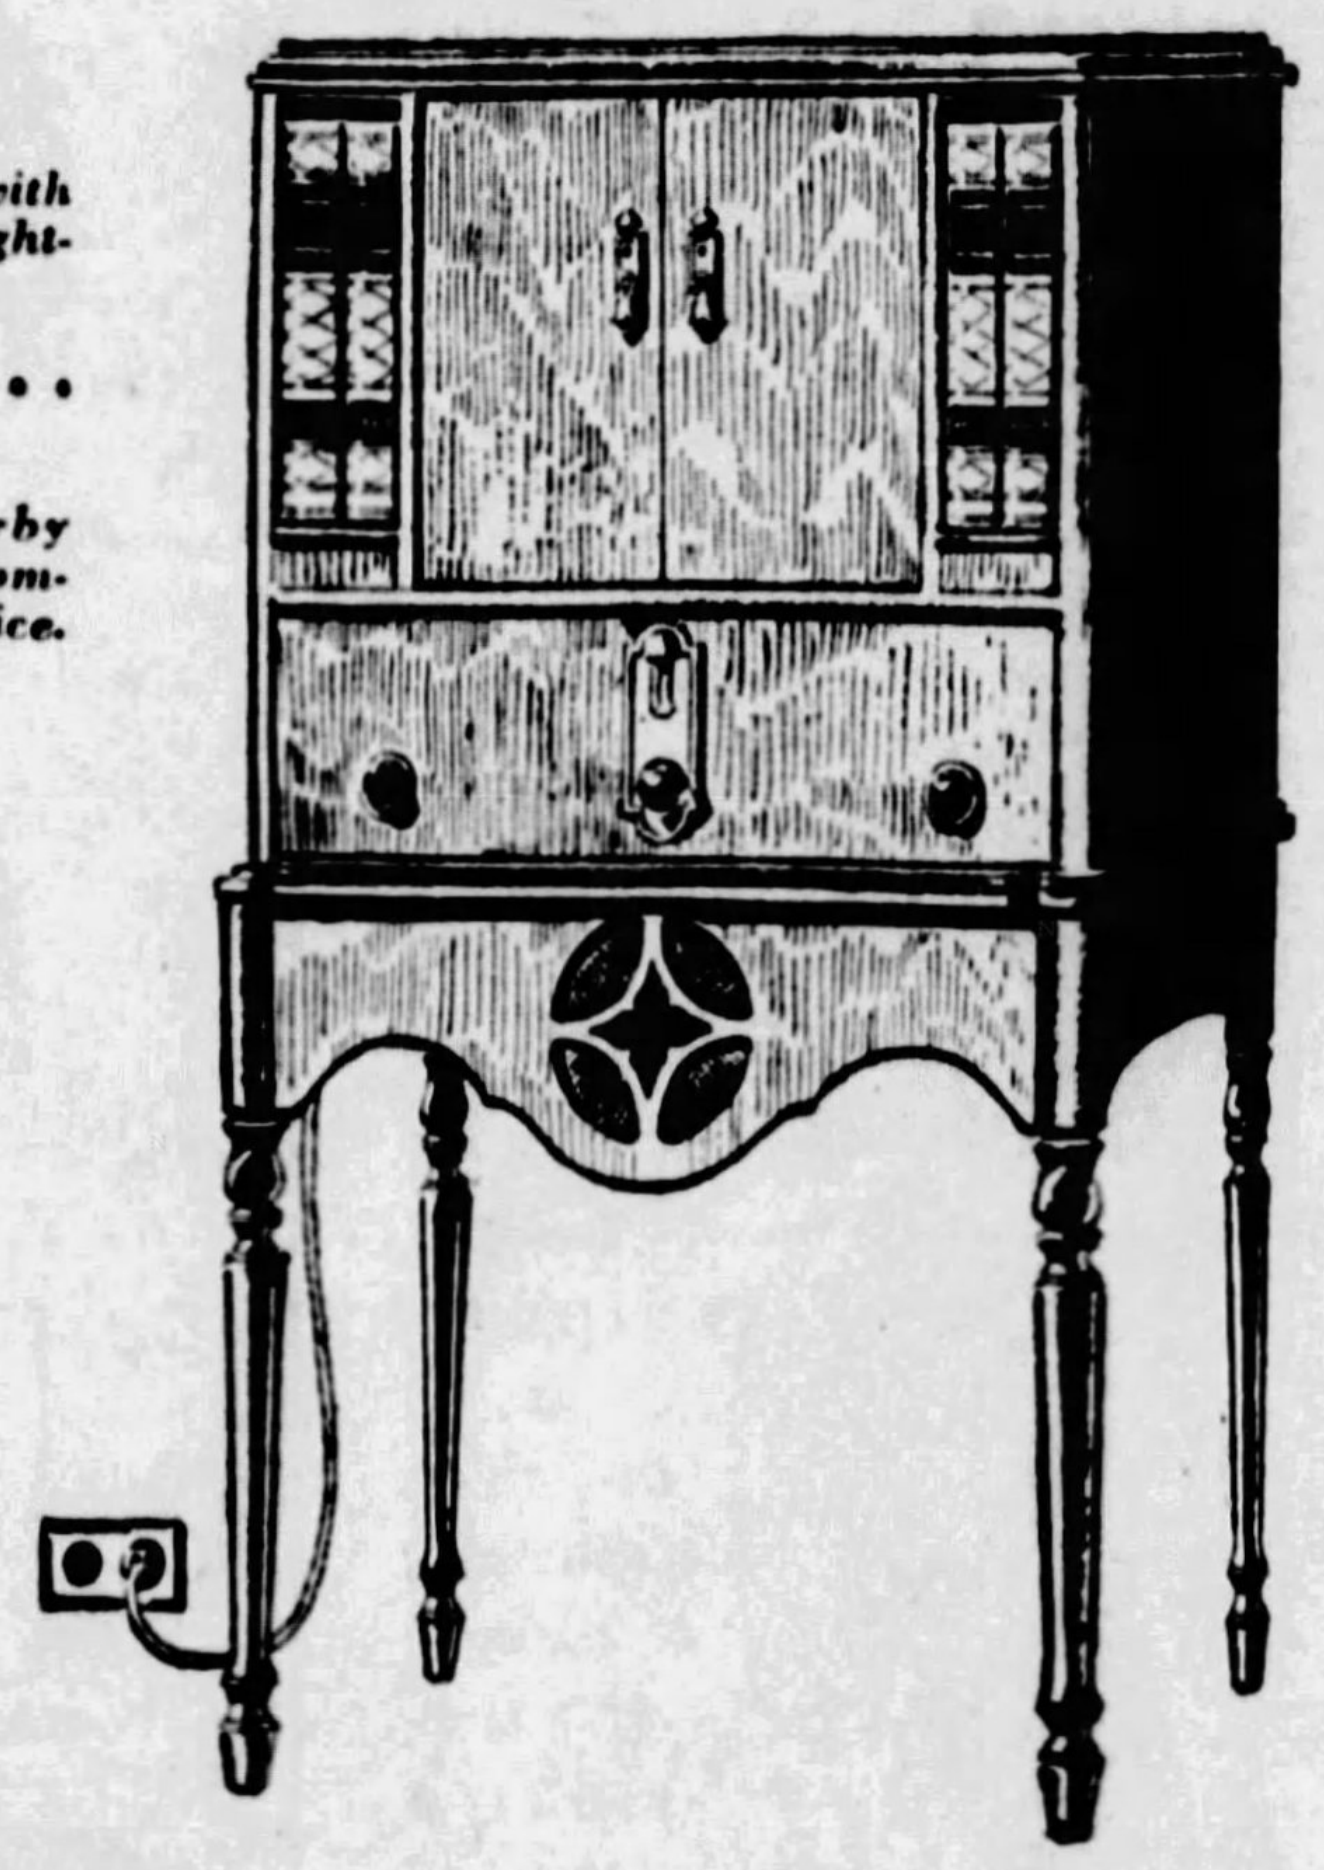
SCHROEDERS
820 Liberty Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Who's going to believe THAT?



Model Seven-eleven. Victrola with Radiola 18. Operates from light-socket. No batteries.

Set instrument anywhere . . . plug in and play!

Antenna-plate brings in nearby broadcasts without any aerial. Complete with tubes, $250, list price. With electric motor, $35 extra.

WHAT! A Victrola and a Radiola and a cabinet and a built-in speaker—at almost the price of the radio alone? Believe it or not, here is an opportunity that never existed before. Only the combined resources of the Victor Talking Machine Co. and the Radio Corporation of America could have made such outstanding value possible. Look—

A genuine, full-size, all-electric Radiola, with cabinet and built-in speaker . . . next season's model! . . . Radiola 18, a refinement of the famous Radiola 17. A new model Victrola, with Orthophonic-type Sound-box and four handsome, cloth-bound record-albums. Two wonderful instruments, neatly housed in the same unit, ready to plug in and play!

Think what this same Radiola, with speaker, would cost you if bought separately. In the Victor combination Model Seven-eleven, you get these in a beautiful cabinet, including a Victrola, with the four albums . . . all for $250 (list price) and all in one compact, convenient unit!

No, it isn't believable. But your Victor dealer will show you. No strings. No catch. It's all true—as true as the tone of both Victrola and Radiola in this remarkable combination. There won't be enough of them to go around, so lose no time in getting to your dealer's. If you know a winner when you see one, here it is. Whether you're in the market or not, hear this instrument by all means. Other Victor models, from $35 to $1550, list price.

CONDUIT WORK IS STOPPED IN CORAOPOLIS

The Duquesne Light Company and Coraopolis borough have come to an open break. Borough officials yesterday halted company employes from putting in a conduit in the borough streets. The borough had refused permission to the work but employes of the Byllesby Construction Company went ahead until stopped by the borough police.

Workmen said they had the authority from a county official to place the conduit in Fourth street near the approach to the new Coraopolis-Neville Island bridge, but police refused to permit the work.

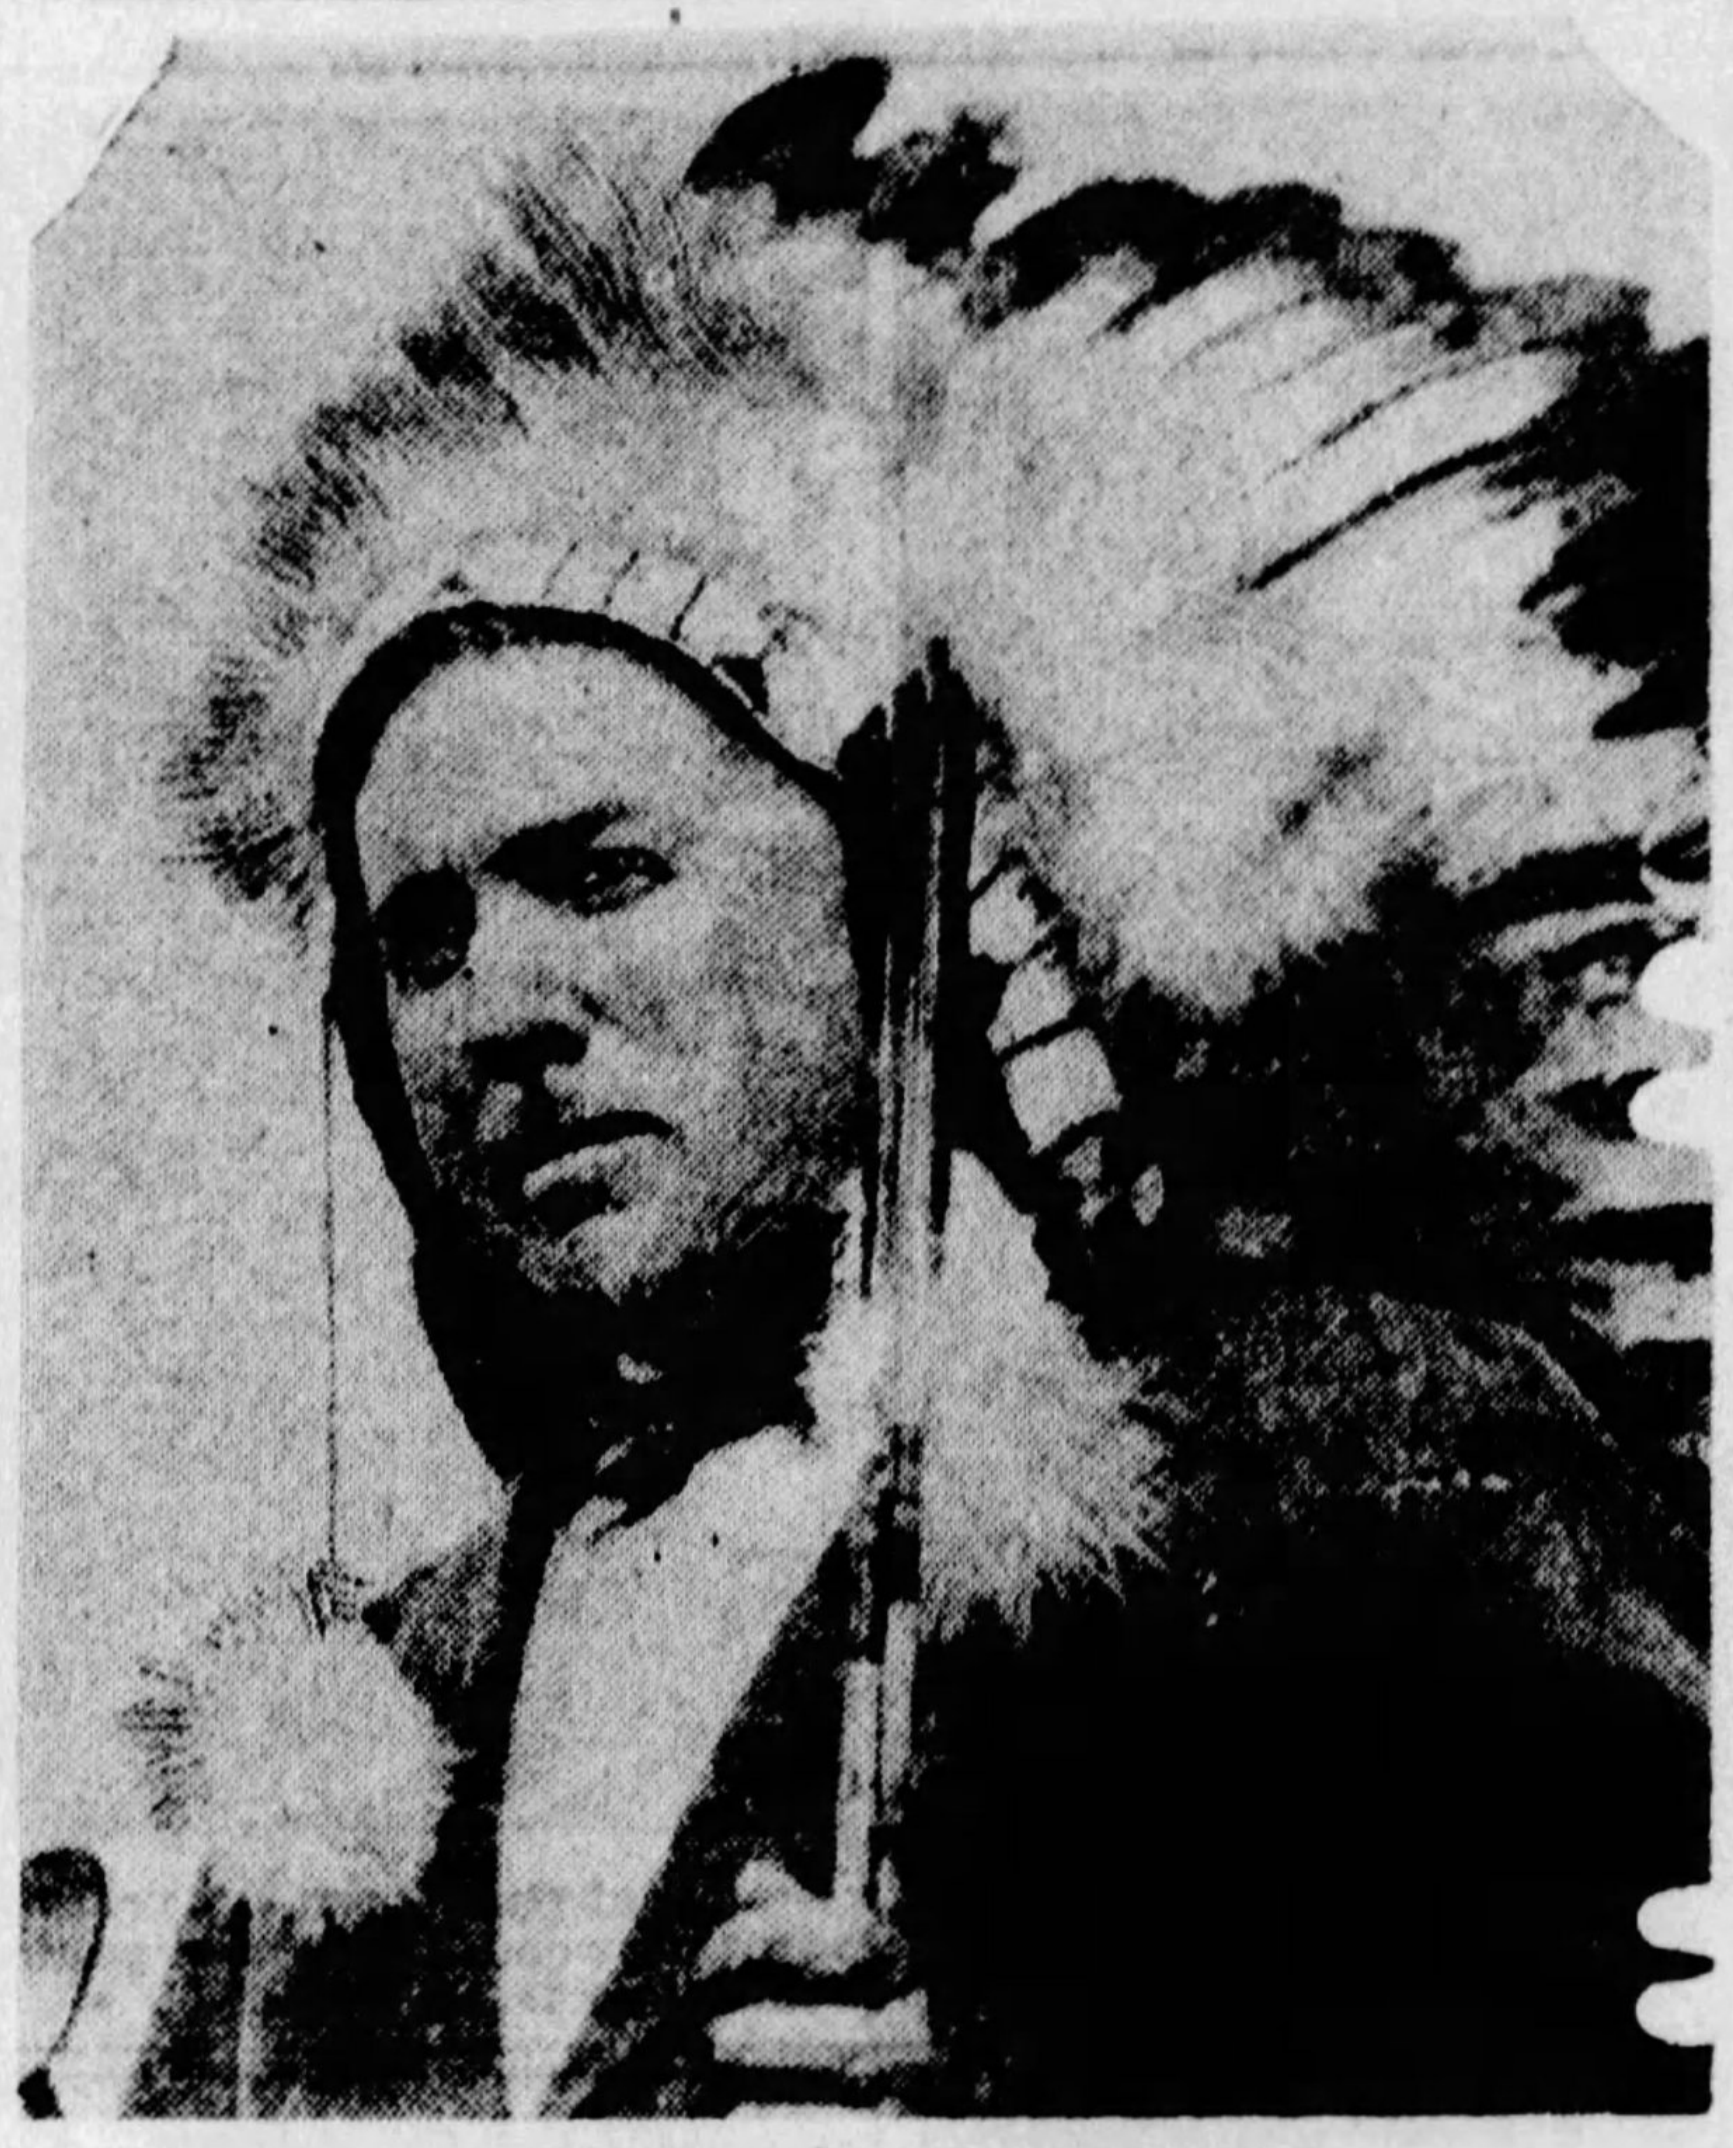
Council refused permission for the work because the borough is planning to install its own conduit for supplying street lighting current when its contract with the company expires in 1932. After the work had been halted, employes returned to fill up the trench they had dug.

SLAYER FREED ON BAIL

Joseph Luciano, 30, of 622 Whittier street, yesterday was admitted to bail in $5,000 on a charge of murder by Judge Elder W. Marshall. He is charged with the shooting of Nicklas Periuccio, 39, of 64 Lenora street, July 5.

It was testified that he was acting as a peacemaker between Periuccio and the latter's wife when they quarreled. Attorney Frank J. Zappala is counsel for Luciana and presented the argument for his release.

"PAINTER IN WORDS"



CHIEF EYSKABOO

Peter B. Kyne, visiting in the Canadian Rockies, has been made a blood brother by Stoney Tribe. He has been named Chief Eyskaboo, meaning, to a Stoney Indian, "Painter in Words." This is the chieftain with his new, beautiful headpiece and a bear skin, on which the address that made him an Indian is written with pigments in hieroglyphics.

WORKERS' PARTY TAKES BOAT RIDE TOMORROW

The Workers' Party has arranged a boat excursion for tomorrow night. The Julia Belle-Swain will leave the Smithfield street wharf at 8:30 p. m., returning at 11:30 p. m.

Large delegations of workers from Monessen, Ambridge, McKeesport, East Pittsburgh and other sections of Western Pennsylvania are expected to attend. The arrangements committee consists of John Kasper, Max Jenkins, Dave Mates, William J. White and A. Jakira.

SLEUTH MAY BE COMPELLED TO BARE SECRETS

The "padlocked" lips of John W. Lauer, Cleveland detective, may be opened long enough for Lauer to tell government officials about the inner workings of the Pinkerton National Detective Agency, which yesterday obtained a preliminary injunction to prevent Lauer from revealing office secrets. The injunction makes the proviso for Lauer disclosing any knowledge necessary for public good to government officials.

Several days ago the agency asked for the injunction to restrain Lauer from revealing knowledge which he obtained while manager of the agency's Cincinnati office.

During the hearing yesterday S. L. Spiles, division manager, identified a letter which Lauer had sent to the New York office, in which he threatened to write letters to congressmen and a newspaper syndicate concerning dealings of the agency with postoffice inspectors. Lauer previously had been indicted in Cincinnati on an embezzlement charge and paroled.

STRAIGHT AND NARROW LEADS BUT TO POLICE

"I was walking the straight and narrow path when it happened," Eliza Lewis, 35, a Negress, of 1301 Conductor way told police when they asked her how she fell 40 feet down a hillside at Bigelow boulevard and Washington street, last night. At Allegheny General Hospital two stitches were placed over her right eye. Patrolman John Flannery arrested her on a charge of drunkenness.

Be sure to get the new 4 page Color Comic Section with your Evening Sun-Telegraph every day. It's the latest thing in Pittsburgh—the talk of the town!

They Furnished An Entire House On A Saturday Morning

At the August Furniture Sale

They were in a hurry to move into the new house. So this young couple—seeking a store whose reliability and established reputation for the best are unquestioned — spent a busy and profitable Saturday morning and completely furnished a six-room house.

They came to the Consulting and Budget Bureau, in the furniture department, and stated their problem. This service is in charge of a budget expert, and under the direction of the Interior Decorating Studios. With their assistance, the home-makers selected their furniture—taking advantage of the August Sale to purchase it all at a surprisingly small cost. They then selected floor coverings and other furnishings.

Two days later they moved into the new house—prompt delivery of essential furniture enabling them to start housekeeping Monday.

Kathryn Carver Fails to Get Role With Husband Adolphe In New Film, "Pointed Heels"

By REGINA CREWE

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10.

EVERYONE rather expected that Kathryn Carver, Adolphe Menjou's new bride, would play the role of her hubby's leading lady on the screen as well as off. And as often happens, "everyone" has been disappointed. Adolphe's new picture will be called "Pointed Heels," an original by Charles Brackett. And it hasn't yet been decided who will be the woman in the case—except that it is not to be Miss Carver. The production goes into work the latter part of the month, and will appear in novel form in "College Humor."

The line forms at the left for Louise Fazenda's services. So far she has three pictures piled before her. As soon as she finishes in "Outcast" for First National, she goes to Fox for "Riley, the Cop," and then back to the old homestead. Warner Brothers, for a "squeakie" called "Stark Mad." Louise's voice test delighted the Warner group, and they hastened to requisition her to play with Lois Wilson, Henry Walthal, John Miljan and H. B. Warner. Looks like an all-star cast.

When Warner Brothers broke ground for their new Hollywood Theater, they say that Sid Graumann, rival showman, as a practical joke caused a hearse to parade before the site and had a band play a funeral march. All of which was to indicate that the Warner project would die a-borning. Now that Sid sees the record-breaking line-up of customers storming the theater, he mustn't feel so hot about that stunt.

Universal took one listen to its voice test of John Soles and rushed to him with a five-year starring contract. John, who made his bow with Gloria Swanson in "Sunya," has signed on the dotted line. So as soon as he finishes his present Fox film opposite Mary Astor, he will hang up his make-up box at Universal forever and ever—or for five years anyhow.

Fox is erecting a million-dollar "Movietone" plant. It will cover 40 acres. As further evidence that Fox is going at "squeakie" hook, line and sinker, the outfit has signed up Clark and McCullough, Chic Sale, Sylvia Field, Helen Twelvetrees and a host more of stage names. And as for writers and stage managers, the Fox folk have secured Tom Barry, Dave Stamper, Eugene Walter, Helen Ware and Don Gallagher among a dozen stage celebs.

Leila Hyams, released by Warner Brothers, has been signed for five years by Metro. Which is the way it goes in the movies.

"Dracula," the thriller that features a different sort of vampire from the kind that stroll Broadway and Hollywood boulevard, has been purchased for pictures by Universal. They say that the author's widow has been asking $250,000 for screen rights. That would be more than Mr. Laemmele paid for "Broadway." So the chances are that she accepted a lesser sum. We understand Conrad Veidt is to play the role created by Bela Lugosi on the stage.

Cleve Moore, Colleen's brother, has a very excellent chance of being cast in Ramon Novarro's film, "Gold Braid."

BUGS BAER Says

CANDIDATE speaking over the air during the big fall political harvest:

Ladies and people of the invisible audience, although you are not present tonight, I am delighted to be absent.

ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Unaccustomed as I am to public static, it would ill become me to remain silent at a time like this when a few words from me would mean so little.

I have taken this method of conversing with the public because my voice is too manly for the talking movies.

I know of no more enjoyable method of hearing me than to listen to my voice without being forced to look at me.

Thanks to the publicity committee of the opposing party, everybody knows my record. It is written with imperishable lipstick on the chin of history.

I have listened to my honored antagonist speak over the polka-dotted network. If the radio is the university of the air he must be studying Greek.

Ever since I was appointed goodwill ambassador to Barren Island, my illustrious foeman has been disgruntled. I do not disparage him. He not only talks straight from the shoulder but he thinks from his elbow.

There are some voters who think that these political hours would be much better if we two candidates got together and sang a duet.

I agree with them. If my opponent sang Tosti's "Goodbye," I assure him there would be no demand for an encore.

As commissioner of detours of Maryland I endeared myself to millions of automobile mechanics. Do not forget that I am the man who forced cafeterias to launder paper napkins.

I am not boosting. I have held public office ever since I have been six years of age. I'd be a yap if I quit now.

The Campfire Girls are with me to a man. Would you have the scream of the American eagle a plea in bankruptcy? My grandfather was at Gettysburg, even if he did go there on a school teachers' excursion.

Is there any more I can say that would mean anything?

Who put the straps in street cars within reach of the working man? Even now, I am not sure whether this is a record or a complaint blank.

In conclusion, I wish to thank you for your kind of attention. I am sure you enjoyed this musical treat of orthophonic adenoids strained through a wire mustache. If there is anyone who understood this speech, my campaign managers would be delighted to receive an explanation. I thank you and will continue to do my utmost to make people think that extravagance is prosperity and that waving the flag in times of danger is better judgment than swinging a red lamp.

SEEK YOUTH'S FREEDOM THROUGH HABEAS WRIT

Habeas corpus proceedings have been started to gain freedom for Sidney Mandelbaum, Wightman street. He was arrested a few days ago, charged with being a suspicious person and sentenced $50 or 30 days to the workhouse by Magistrate A. D. Brandon. The proceedings to obtain her son's liberty, the latter being a minor, were brought before Judge Thomas D. Carnahan in Common Pleas Court by Mrs. Lillian Mandelbaum.

TWENTY ROLES IN PLAY

There are more than 20 characters in "Lightnin'" the comedy-drama announced by the George Sharp Players for the Pitt next week. Gus Forbes will play the central figure of "Lightnin' Bill Jones." May Buckley will play his much harassed wife. Olive Meehan and Bradley Page will carry the young love interest.

"Little Miss Bluebeard," in which Irene Bordoni starred in the Lyceum Theater, New York, will be presented by the Nixon Players in the Nixon Theater next week, with Harry Bannister and Marguerite Merrill playing the leading roles.

SANDERS' MAY KEEP JAN GARBER MUSIC

Jan Garber's engagement may be extended at Sanders' to include next week, due to requests from patrons, it is indicated. Garber's is the fifth of a series of prominent orchestras which have appeared at Sanders' this summer.

SCOUTS TO TAKE PART IN FIRST AID MEET

Forty Boy Scout teams are expected to take part in the first aid meet on Carnegie Tech campus at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon. The meet is sponsored by the Western Pennsylvania Division of the National Safety Council. The judges will be Coroner W. J. McGregor, J. T. Ryan, of the Mine Safety Appliance Company, and William H. Boyce, president of the Safety Council. John A. Oartel, of the Carnegie Steel Company, will be chief timekeeper. In the event of rain the meet will be held in Tech gymnasium. The Boy Scout band will give a concert.

80TH REUNION OPENS

BLUE RIDGERS SWARM INTO CONNEAUT

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., Aug. 10.—Veterans of the Spanish-American War, celebrating the thirtieth anniversary of the battle of Coamo in Porto Rico, today joined in welcoming visitors here attending the annual reunion of the Eightieth Division, famous Blue Ridge unit in the World War. The buddies of the Eightieth, more than 1,000 strong, yesterday "stormed" Conneaut Lake Park just as ex-members of the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Pennsylvania Infantry regiments of '98 were closing their joint celebration, and at the closing session of the Pennsylvanians were joined on the platform by the leading officers of the World War Association.

The soldiers of '98 returned the compliment when the Eightieth Division members held their opening meeting.

Judge D. Paulson Foster, president of the Eightieth Association, and James F. Malone, president of Pittsburgh City Council, honorary member of the Eightieth, spoke at the regimental reunion, and Maj. E. Lowry Humes, of the Sixteenth, welcomed the visitors at the opening session of the World War veterans. On the platform were the two blind members of the Eightieth, Lieut. Frank Schople, of Philadelphia, and Howard Wells, of Petersburg, Va.

Today is devoted to recreation and water sports and the serious business of the convention will go over till tomorrow afternoon. On Sunday, special religious services will be held. Hundreds of ex-service men are arriving, the majority coming by automobile from all points in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Maryland and Virginia.

PORT VUE ASKS MERGER WITH M'KEESPORT

Port Vue and McKeesport citizens will vote on November 6 on the proposal of annexing the former to the Tube City.

A petition, signed by more than half of the taxables of the borough, asking that an election be granted, was accepted by Judge Elder W. Marshall in Quarter Sessions Court, who then set the election date.

Attorney Robert F. Graham presented the petition, which set forth that Port Vue not only adjoined McKeesport, but was an industrial community with similar features.

Convict, Eager to Die, Runs to Death Chair

OSSINING, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(INS.)—Prison guards at Sing Sing prison revealed today that Alexander Kalinowski, 49, one of three murderers executed in the death house late last night, was so anxious to "get it over with" that he eagerly ran from his cell down the corridor, which leads to the electric chair. The guards had to restrain him and march him to the "little green door" in an orderly manner.

The other two men executed were Daniel Graham, 26, and George Appel, 26. All three were cheerful at the end. Although they prayed, they were smiling as they went into the death chamber, and Appel commented with a laugh, while the guards were strapping him in, "Well, I'll be a baked apple soon."

Makes Her Own Skin Bleach

Known for having one of the most beautiful skins in New York, Miss Mildred Ball, favorite artists' and photographers' model, recently made the statement that most of the New York models use a skin bleach of their own making.

According to Miss Ball, "we get three ounces of Orchard White from the druggist and add to it the juice of two lemons. This makes a full quarter pint of a perfectly harmless yet marvelously effective bleach. Applied to face, neck and arms, it bleaches any dark or discolored skin a beautiful rosy white. It also makes any rough or coarse skin soft and smooth. Many of the girls use it, too, for a tan and freckle bleach. Nothing like this wonderful mixture can be bought ready to use because it acts best when freshly prepared. The cost for several weeks' supply is only a few cents."

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Parents Dispel Discomforts of Torrid Wave by Planning Debuts for Daughters This Fall

YOU know the old saying that anticipation is the greater part of pleasure? If anticipation is making plans, and hearing about plans, it's about half the pleasure, I do admit.

And right now a number of Pittsburgh parents in the social register are planning for an event that interests all their friends—the debut of their daughters. Some of the buds will come out late in September, and early November is going to be more popular than ever as a season for young girls to make their bows to the social world.

Elizabeth McCullough, daughter of the William T. McCulloughs, of Bennington avenue, will come out early in November. The exact date hasn't been set yet and will not be until Mrs. C. C. Hax, Mrs. McCullough's mother, returns from Cape Cod, where she is spending the summer. Elizabeth has just returned home herself. After attending a house party in Winchester, Va., given by Ann Brooks Kern for her classmates at Miss Wright's School, Bryn Mawr, Elizabeth went to Ventor, N. J., where she was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. O. C. Gaub, at her summer home.

Rebecca Follansbee, daughter of the John Follansbees, of Cape May, is another bud who will probably come out in November. Her mother will not set a day for her debut until Rebecca returns. This attractive bud will be back in the city about the first of September. She has been at Cape May all summer.

PITTSBURGH society folks while away at summer resorts are always seen at all the outstanding events. At a dance the Theodore Weickers gave Wednesday night at their home, Fort Hill, in the Shinnecock Hills, Southampton, for their daughter, Florence, Rhoda Drew and her hostess, Jean Olcott, were among the 200 guests. Florence will make her formal bow at a dance in the Hotel Ritz, New York, on November 29.

THE marriage of Miss Grace Elizabeth Welsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Welsh, of Homestead Park, and Robert Tinsley Shafer, of Cincinnati, was solemnized Wednesday afternoon in the Welsh home by the Rev. James Howard Douds, pastor of the Homestead United Presbyterian Church. Mrs. James Downey, of Regent Square, was matron of honor and Miss Jeannette Welsh was her sister's bridesmaid. Harry E. Welsh, her brother, was best man and Mrs. Herbert L. Henderson, of Brookville, played the wedding music. Mr. and Mrs. Shafer are taking a motor trip and after September 1 will be at home in Glenway avenue.

MRS. LEROY A. PENNELL gave a miscellaneous shower and bridge party yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Davies, in Crafton, in honor of Miss Sarah Hoskinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Hoskinson, of Maplewood avenue, Crafton, whose engagement to E. N. Osborne was recently announced. Three tables were in play.

TUESDAY, September 4, is the date chosen for the wedding of Miss Ethel C. Piper, daughter of Canon and Mrs. Charles Frederick Piper, of St. Catherine's, Ontario, and George Kneeland McNulty, of Glen Mitchell road, Sewickley, formerly of New York. Mr. McNulty is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert McNulty, of New York.

MRS. P. J. HAMILL, of South Negley avenue, who will be remembered as Miss Adeline McCormick, of Duquesne Heights, entertained with a garden party Thursday at her home in honor of Miss Isabelle Cavanaugh, of West Carson street, whose marriage to Francis J. Begly, of Baden, will be solemnized September 3 in St. Francis de Sales Church, West Park.

MEMBERS of the Zeta Tau Alpha fraternity will be entertained Saturday by Miss Louise Wright, president of the alumnae chapter, in her home in Harriet street, with the children of members as honor guests. The aides will include Miss Grace McMillan, Mrs. Laird Auchmuty and girls from the University of Pittsburgh chapter, who will be seniors next year. In addition to Miss Wright, the other newly elected officers of the fraternity include: Vice president, Mrs. Frederick Lohstoetter; secretary, Mrs. Howard Fry, treasurer, Mrs. Donald Couch; historian, Miss Mary Kammerer; guard, Mrs. Howard Wentley; panhellenic representative, Mrs. Joseph Heckel, and alternate, Miss Louise Kregar.

THE marriage of Miss Harriet Felsenthal, daughter of Mrs. Dora M. Felsenthal, of Woodlawn avenue, and Dr. Martin Snyderman, of Phillips avenue, was solemnized last night in the French room of the Hotel Schenley. Mrs. Jerome Horwitz, of Washington, was matron of honor, and Louis M. Felsenthal was best man.

JAPAN, STUDY TOPIC FOR LITERARY CLUB

WITHIN the past year or so the people of the western hemisphere have become deeply interested in the Orient, its people, its customs, its work, and above all, its art. For the first time since Ezra Pound poets are translating Chinese and Japanese poetry.

The Pittsburgh Literary and Musical Club, after having studied China, will try to come to an understanding of the life of Japan.

Among the topics to be studied this year, according to the program outlined in the year book which has just been issued, are the geography and race origin of Japan, an outline of the history, the imperial family, Shintoism and Buddhism, temples and shrines, Christianity and its influence on modern Japan, Japanese plays and theaters, education, fetes and festivals, music, the Korean question, literature, industries, arts and crafts, the relation between Japan and China, between Japan and the United States, the present day status of the Japanese woman, folklore and fairy tales, and the government.

On October 8 the club will open its season with a president's program.

Officers of the club for this year are: Mrs. W. S. Trosh, president; Mrs. Adele Eggers Furniss, vice president; Miss Lilian Sprague, secretary; Mrs. R. G. Himmelrich, treasurer; Mrs. Mary J. Cowley, musical director.

Program committee—Mrs. Lettea C. Donaldson, Mrs. W. S. Trosh and Miss Laura Cluley.

Reception committee — Mrs. J. Boyd Duff, Miss Alice Benning, Mrs. E. H. Orrison, Mrs. Adalaide Cornell and Mrs. C. F. Tiers.

Social committee—Mrs. William B. Epley, Miss Elizabeth Bell, Miss Anna Hasley, Mrs. H. Q. Turner and Mrs. H. B. Stone.

THE Woman's Club of Bradford Woods will hold its annual garden party tomorrow afternoon on the lawn of Mrs. John Scott's home, Bradford Woods. A bazar will be conducted with a wide variety of articles for sale in the different booths. Mrs. E. E. Kehew is chairman of the event.

A cafeteria dinner will be served from 4 to 8 o'clock.

THE Allegheny County Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the Methodist Building Chapel, Penn avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. Eleanor Burke will be the speaker.

MISS REGINA HAYES, of Court Chartiers, Catholic Daughters of America, Crafton, is chairman of the picnic dinner committee, and Mrs. Estelle McMahon, grand regent of Court Carnegie, is chairman of the prizes and novelties for the annual orphans' entertainment at St. Paul's Orphanage, to be given on Saturday, August 18. Mrs. Christine Manion and Mrs. Ella Coleman are aides. A concert by the Pittsburgh Letter Carriers' band will be a feature.

THE Pittsburgh Girls' Club will hold a summer dance on Friday evening, August 17, at the Riverview Inn, Riverview Park. Miss Marie Mechera is chairman.

This week-end a large party of members will go to Sandy Lake, the club camp at Stoneboro, Pa. In charge of the camp is Miss Katherine McNamara.

THE Ladies' Community Organization of Ingomar, will meet at the home of Mrs. J. W. Ferguson Thursday, August 14, at 1 o'clock.

YOUTH FINED $100 IN 30-CENT THEFT

Accused of stealing wearing apparel and 30 cents from the home of Mrs. Ella Whitmyre, 1821 Jancey street, on July 3, Anthony Mawhinney, 23, of 1827 Jacob street, was fined $100 by Magistrate John Orie in Central Police Court today. Mrs. Whitmyre's daughter, Anna, identified Mawhinney as the man she saw running from her home following the robbery.

WOODS RUN ROBBERY SUSPECTS ARRESTED

Accused of robbing three Woods Run confectionery stores, three young men are to be arraigned in Morals Court. They are John Scherber, Robert Hallowell and Walter Wilhelm, all of the North Side. They were arrested yesterday by Detectives Edward McEntee and Clarence Rader.

It's the talk of the town—the 4 Page Color Comic Section published every week day as a big part of the Evening Sun-Telegraph.

Don't fool yourself:

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Halitosis ruins romance—end it

How can you expect attention from others—especially of the opposite sex—when you have halitosis (unpleasant breath)?

Many a vacation and pleasure trip that otherwise would have been jolly and romantic has been a failure because of it.

Don't fool yourself that you never have halitosis. Because you simply cannot know when you are a victim. Halitosis does not announce itself. Unknowingly, you may offend.

Why take the chance at all? Simply use Listerine every day. Then, if you have halitosis, Listerine ends it. If you haven't—your mouth has had the benefit that Listerine always gives.

Listerine ends halitosis because it is a powerful deodorant. If you need proof of this, rub a bit of onion on your hand and then apply a bit of Listerine clear. Immediately, the odor is gone. Even the strong odor of fish yields to this treatment. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

STRATON WILL DEBATE, IF—

WANTS TO MEET SMITH BEFORE VAST AUDIENCE

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Dr. John Roach Straton's letter to Gov. Al Smith, accepting the latter's challenge to debate the charge made by Dr. Straton last Sunday before his congregation in the Calvary Baptist Church that the Governor was the "deadliest foe today in America of moral progress and true political wisdom," should be received at the Governor's office today.

Dr. Straton in his letter continued to maintain his position assailing Gov. Smith's record. He insisted that the debate be held in an auditorium larger than Calvary Baptist Church, in order to accommodate the large crowd that would wish to hear it.

The clergyman suggested that Madison Square Garden be obtained and that 3,000 seats be apportioned to members of Calvary Church, 3,000 to members of St. Patrick's Cathedral and the 20,000 remaining be divided equally between the Republican and Democratic national committees.

Dr. Straton had told reporters that he would insist that the debate be continued in St. Patrick's Cathedral, after it had been held in Calvary. However, in his formal letter of acceptance, Dr. Straton did not insist upon this arrangement, but did make the suggestion for the division of seats between the two congregations.

It is understood that the suggestion of Dr. Straton for a debate in St. Patrick's Cathedral would be rejected by the Governor, as the cathedral does not permit discussion of secular topics in its pulpit. The Governor is insistent upon answering the charges before the same persons who heard them made, and also in the same place.

WOULD GO TO PARK

Dr. Straton said in his letter that the debate would be arranged, "even if it is to be in Central Park" and at the time suggested—sometime in the week of September 2. He added that he hoped it might be arranged for September 7 or 8.

IN RADIO BROADCASTS

SAXOPHONE

Merle Johnston's Saxophone Quartet will be heard over WCAE at 10 o'clock tonight.

SOPRANO

Gladys Rice, soprano, guest artist during Stromberg-Carlson hour over KDKA at 10 o'clock.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

GLADYS RICE, noted soprano, will be featured during the Stromberg-Carlson broadcast over KDKA and associated NBC stations at 10 o'clock tonight. Quartet numbers, a vibraphone solo and violin selections will supplement Miss Rice's presentation. She will sing "Indian Love Call," "The Fat Little Fellow with His Mammy's Eyes," "Oh, Susannah," "Where the River Shannon Flows," "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes" and "Treasure Chest of Memory."

Hoover Address In Broadcast Tomorrow

The address of Herbert Hoover from his home in Palo Alto, Cal., accepting the Republican nomination for President, will be broadcast over the air tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. By special arrangements with the Republican National Committee, the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia System both have completed plans to send out the address in nation-wide hookups.

Pittsburgh stations in the broadcast will be KDKA, WCAE and WJAS.

A mixed quartet, composed of Katherine Palmer, Esterre Waterman, John Oakley and George O'Brien, will be prominent in the program of the National Broadcasting and Concert Bureau scheduled for 10 o'clock over WCAE. The program also will include novelty numbers by Merle Johnston's Saxophone Quartet and by the National Concert Orchestra.

Liszt's famous melody, "Lieberstraum," will be played as an accordion solo in dance rhythm during the Wrigley review to be heard over KDKA at 9 o'clock. Other features will include "Scalp Dance," by the orchestra; "Giannina Mia," from Friml's "Firefly," as a soprano solo; "Stolen Melody," by a male quartet, and "Down in the Cane-Break," by a novelty trio of vocalists.

Three violinist-composers will be represented during a recital by Godfrey Ludlow, violinist, and Mme. Lolita Cabrera Gainsborg, pianist, at 8 o'clock. KDKA will be in the hookup.

"The Sunshine of Your Smile," "Funiculi, Funicula," "Just a Wearyin' for You" and "Annie Laurie" are among the well-known songs to be presented by the merry group of entertainers in the Kodak Front Porch program to be broadcast by 18 associated stations of the Columbia System, including WJAS, at 10 o'clock. Among the numbers which are programed especially for the radio audience to sing with those "on the front porch" are "Good News," from the current musical success of the same name; "Funiculi, Funicula," "Blue Skies," "Sweet Sue" and "Sunshine."

W. & L. E. BALKS ON NEW LAKE CARGO RATE

12 STREAMS STUDIED TO END FLOODS HERE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—Records of floods and rains at Rome, dating back to 1,000 B. C., are to be studied by Army engineers in connection with the flood control on the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers for the protection of Pittsburgh and vicinity, as well as work on the Mississippi.

Slapped

ELMER J. PETERS

Resenting a parental slap for misbehavior, Elmer J. Peters, 19, 646-A Middle avenue, Wilmerding, left home and his mother is heartbroken. She appealed to city police to help her locate her son, whom she believes may seek employment here as a movie machine operator.

Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of engineers, has just returned from an inspection trip in the Pittsburgh and Buffalo engineer districts, where he visited some of the sites proposed for reservoirs as a means of flood control on these two rivers in connection with a survey ordered by Congress.

He declared he was much impressed with the improvements he found in some of these sites. The surveys being made consider costs and benefits and will show the money value of benefits against the values to be destroyed by the reservoirs under consideration. Incidental power that would be developed also has been considered.

About a dozen reservoir projects are under detailed study in which hydraulics and economic features have been worked out. The principal projects are the French Creek, Upper Allegheny, Tionesta Creek, Clarion River, Red Bank Creek, Mahoning, Loyalhanna-Conemaugh, Youghiogheny, Cheat River, Tygart River and West Fork River.

The possibility of turning the water of the Upper Allegheny into Lake Erie instead of letting it flow down into the Ohio, is another method considered by the engineers.

The flood control study being made will give an exhaustive analysis of floods and rains that have occurred in the Allegheny and Monongahela basins during the last 168 years. These will be compared with similar phenomena in France and Italy for thousands of years.

TRIED TO LEAP FROM BRIDGE, POLICE SAY

Dragged back from the rail when he is said to have attempted to leap into the Monongahela River from the Smithfield street bridge, Elmore Barner, 53, of 711 Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg, was arrested and is scheduled to be given a hearing in Central police court. Patrolmen Hugh Lavery and James Fay saw the man on the bridge yesterday afternoon and were near enough to drag him back to safety.

LINK No. 13 is the Pittsburgh branch of the National Magicians' Association. In Link No. 13 there are about 200 men who can scramble an egg in a stove pipe hat and produce therefrom as fine a pair of rabbits as you'd wish to see. The membership is a mixed one, ranging from such trades as barbering to such professions as followers of Blackstone and disciples of Hippocrates. There are professionals and semi-professionals in the organization as well as simon pure amateurs.

The worst sin, in the eyes of the magicians, is to expose a trick. If a member is discovered revealing how a trick is done he is immediately expelled. All this comes from Mr. Guidotti, who, by day in the Oliver Building barber shop, wields shears, comb and razor, and who, in evenings, displays two empty hands and in a split second produces from those same empty hands a handkerchief, which he transforms as he wills into a string of flags of all nations, or rolls and rolls of ribbon.

It is an adventure to be shaved by Mr. Guidotti, after one knows he is a magician, because one always keeps one eye open, expectantly watching to see if Mr. Guidotti, with a deft twist of his wrists, will produce from underneath his barber's coat a large bowl of goldfish. Often, we have wondered why he bothers going to the nearby spigot for water for his shaving mug for since we were a boy we have noted that magicians by one sharp movement can produce a little fountain rising mysteriously from the ground on which they stand.

KELLER, Houdini and Thurston are the patriarchs of the tribe, whose history goes far, far back. Magicians will tell you that you can interpret parts of the Bible in such a way as to indicate that many of the characters indulged in the hobby of magic. In the time of Confucius there were coy Chinamen who, waving a diligent fan, would come up with bird cages and bowl after bowl of water.

The Pittsburgh magicians stage picnics and banquets from time to time and at these functions the number of needles, pieces of threads, flags, rabbits, playing cards and small spheres and cubes is amazing.

MAGICIANS do not learn their stuff by the correspondence school course. There are many books on the subject in every good library and in those books the tricks are discussed. A magician becomes proficient as a violinist or a kettle drum artist becomes expert—by practice.

The easiest trick is the one where you hoist your leg and flick the ace of hearts from the knee joint. This is so simple it is almost ridiculous. Of course, it is just as easy with the ace of spades, too, but as a general rule the ace of hearts is flicked from the knee joint while the ace of spades usually comes forth from the elbow. The most difficult is the trick of sawing a woman in half and then putting her together again. This is a very difficult trick to learn and if you remember what we said a few seconds ago about practice you will understand why it is difficult to learn how to cut a woman in half and put her together again. You see, a lot of the trouble comes from the fact that the average woman objects to one's practising. There is always the chance that once sawed in two, the woman may find herself in the position of the unfortunate Humpty-Dumpty, who, history says, could not be put together by a large number of horses and men.

JOHN Vachetta, who directs the Plaza restaurant, downtown, will tell you of how, when he was an artilleryman in the recent unpleasantness, he had to study his superior officer's handwriting for two weeks before he managed to imitate it expertly enough to write himself out a pass for two weeks. John was quite anxious to visit his native Italy, after the armistice, and the urge was so great that he fixed up a nice furlough. He had seen enough action to warrant this scheme, if not in the eyes of the military, certainly in the eyes of the common citizenry. He still likes to tell about it.

Recuperates

F. A. DEPOE

F. A. Depoe, 2441 Wedgemere avenue, recuperates today from a fractured jaw and serious internal injuries suffered when an airplane in which he was a passenger nose-dived at Mt. Pleasant (Pa.) airport. Adam Rudzinski, pilot, was cut on the hands and face.

Man Slain In Love Fight

COSHOCTON, O., Aug. 10.—Edward Rose, 38, manager of a local furniture store, was shot and fatally wounded shortly before last midnight in what police say was the culmination of a love "triangle."

Earl W. Rodd, 38, proprietor of a dry cleaning establishment at New Philadelphia, O., married and the father of three children, was jailed following the shooting. He maintains innocence.

The shooting took place in the home of Miss Elavine Sigman, 30, said by police to be a former sweetheart of Rose. She is being detained as a witness.

According to information gleaned by police a quarrel occurred in the Sigman home and Rose was shot down. He died an hour later in the City Hospital.

$108,000 IN GRIERSON ESTATE

An estate valued at $108,000 is left by Miss Agness M. Grierson, who died July 17 at Honolulu while on a trip to the Orient, according to her will filed for probate today.

Five thousand dollars is left the University of Pittsburgh to endow a perpetual scholarship in memory of her father, Robert Grierson. To the First United Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, the Humane Society and the Salvation Army, the sum of $2,000 each is bequeathed. The board of home missions and the board of foreign missions of the United Presbyterian Church and the Oakland Y. M. C. A. each receive $1,000. A separate bequest of $1,000 is given to George B. Nickel, and $500 each to Sarah and Margaret Linton. Miss Grierson's jewelry is left to Mrs. Agnes Tilbrook.

The remainder of the estate is to be divided into six parts, one each to her niece, Mrs. Delle Davis, of Columbus, O.; her nephew, Robert Grierson, of Columbus; Mrs. Laura Sank, of Columbus; in trust for James Grierson, of Columbus, and Mrs. Nellie Plummer, and to Mrs. Jennier Grierson Belden. It is stipulated that if Mrs. Belden cannot be found, her share is to be paid to Mrs. Davis and Robert and James Grierson.

CONTRACTS LET FOR STREETS

Contracts totaling $162,153, most of which will go for street and sewer improvements, have been awarded by the city Department of Public Works, Director Edward G. Lang announced yesterday.

Among the contracts were those for the improvement of Althea, Fortieth, Ashdale, Cassius, Colorado, Sullen, Leidertafel and Ley streets, Orangewood, Schenley and Standard avenues, and Basil, Inez and Light ways.

Ten of these street contracts were awarded to the Thomas Cronin Company.

MAN HUNT BUNGLED, CHARGE

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—A charge that Evanston police bungled their investigation into the slaying of Miss Jenny Constance, school teacher, has been made by Detective Frederick Bennett, fingerprint expert.

All articles connected with the crime, including the iron pipe used to club Miss Constance to death, were so handled before he was called as to eliminate possibilities of working out fingerprint clues, he said.

The handbag of Miss Constance, with its contents missing, and her vanity case, were found last night near the scene of the killing in front of a home where John Burke, the only suspect still in custody, was employed.

Evanston police, baffled by lack of definite clues and pressed by demands of citizens to apprehend the slayer, today pieced together their scant evidence and redoubled their man hunt.

Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern University, pledged $1,000 to the several rewards already offered for the capture of the criminal who clubbed the 42-year-old woman to death and attacked her, near the University grounds Tuesday night.

AUCTION LIMIT LAW UPHELD

A city ordinance limiting the period for holding auctions was upheld by Judge Thomas D. Carnahan today when he refused a restraining order prohibiting the city from interfering with a public sale which was being conducted by Burk Brothers, 402 Smithfield street.

The firm had been granted a permit to conduct an auction for 15 days and when the time limit was up, the sale was stopped, it was testified. Burk Brothers asked for an injunction.

In refusing to grant the order Judge Carnahan said he could see nothing unreasonable about the ordinance and would not interfere.

RIVETER QUITS HIGH PERCH, REVEALS OPERATIC TENOR

A structural steel worker with operatic aspirations, and a deeply religious faith when it comes to facing the perils of his daily work hundreds of feet above the ground—

Such is Maximilian (Max to his fellow-workers) Bradoc, of Fayette City, riveter and all-around worker where steel beams sway and red hot rivets fly.

Bradoc at noon yesterday descended from the thirty-fourth floor of the new Grant Building, and with the grime of his trade still upon him, quit the job for a time, strolled over to the Fort Pitt Hotel and in a beautiful tenor voice, with a touch of John McCormack in it, sang "Mother O' Mine" and several other selections for the edification of the Kiwanis Club members attending their weekly luncheon.

Bradoc is a man who expects to go far in his chosen artistic profession. In his present one he daily climbs to great heights, but the operatic stage and the concert platform are the summits he has set for himself.

And as he sang yesterday before the Kiwanians, the proudest person there, perhaps, was Victor Saudek, who "found" Max.

Some weeks ago Saudek was passing the Grant Building. In the interludes between the staccato pounding of the automatic riveting machines Saudek heard a voice, a sweet tenor voice, sending out lilting ballads to an audience of structural workers.

Saudek investigated, wanted to climb up to where the singer was perched, but stern building rules halted. He had to be content until the noon whistle blew. Then he found his man.

And now this structural worker is going on the air Sunday night over KDKA. Saudek believes he has a "find."

Bradoc was born in Berlin, Germany, and was brought to this country by his parents when two years old. At 14 he was in the Navy and served on the Delaware during the World War. He now is 33. While working in New York, Bradoc found time to give recitals in the Little Church Around the Corner and in the First Presbyterian Church.

As to the dangers of his trade, he says, "No, I'm not afraid. I feel all the time the Lord is with me. When He wants me He will take me." His "heart's desire," he says, "is to sing in grand opera."

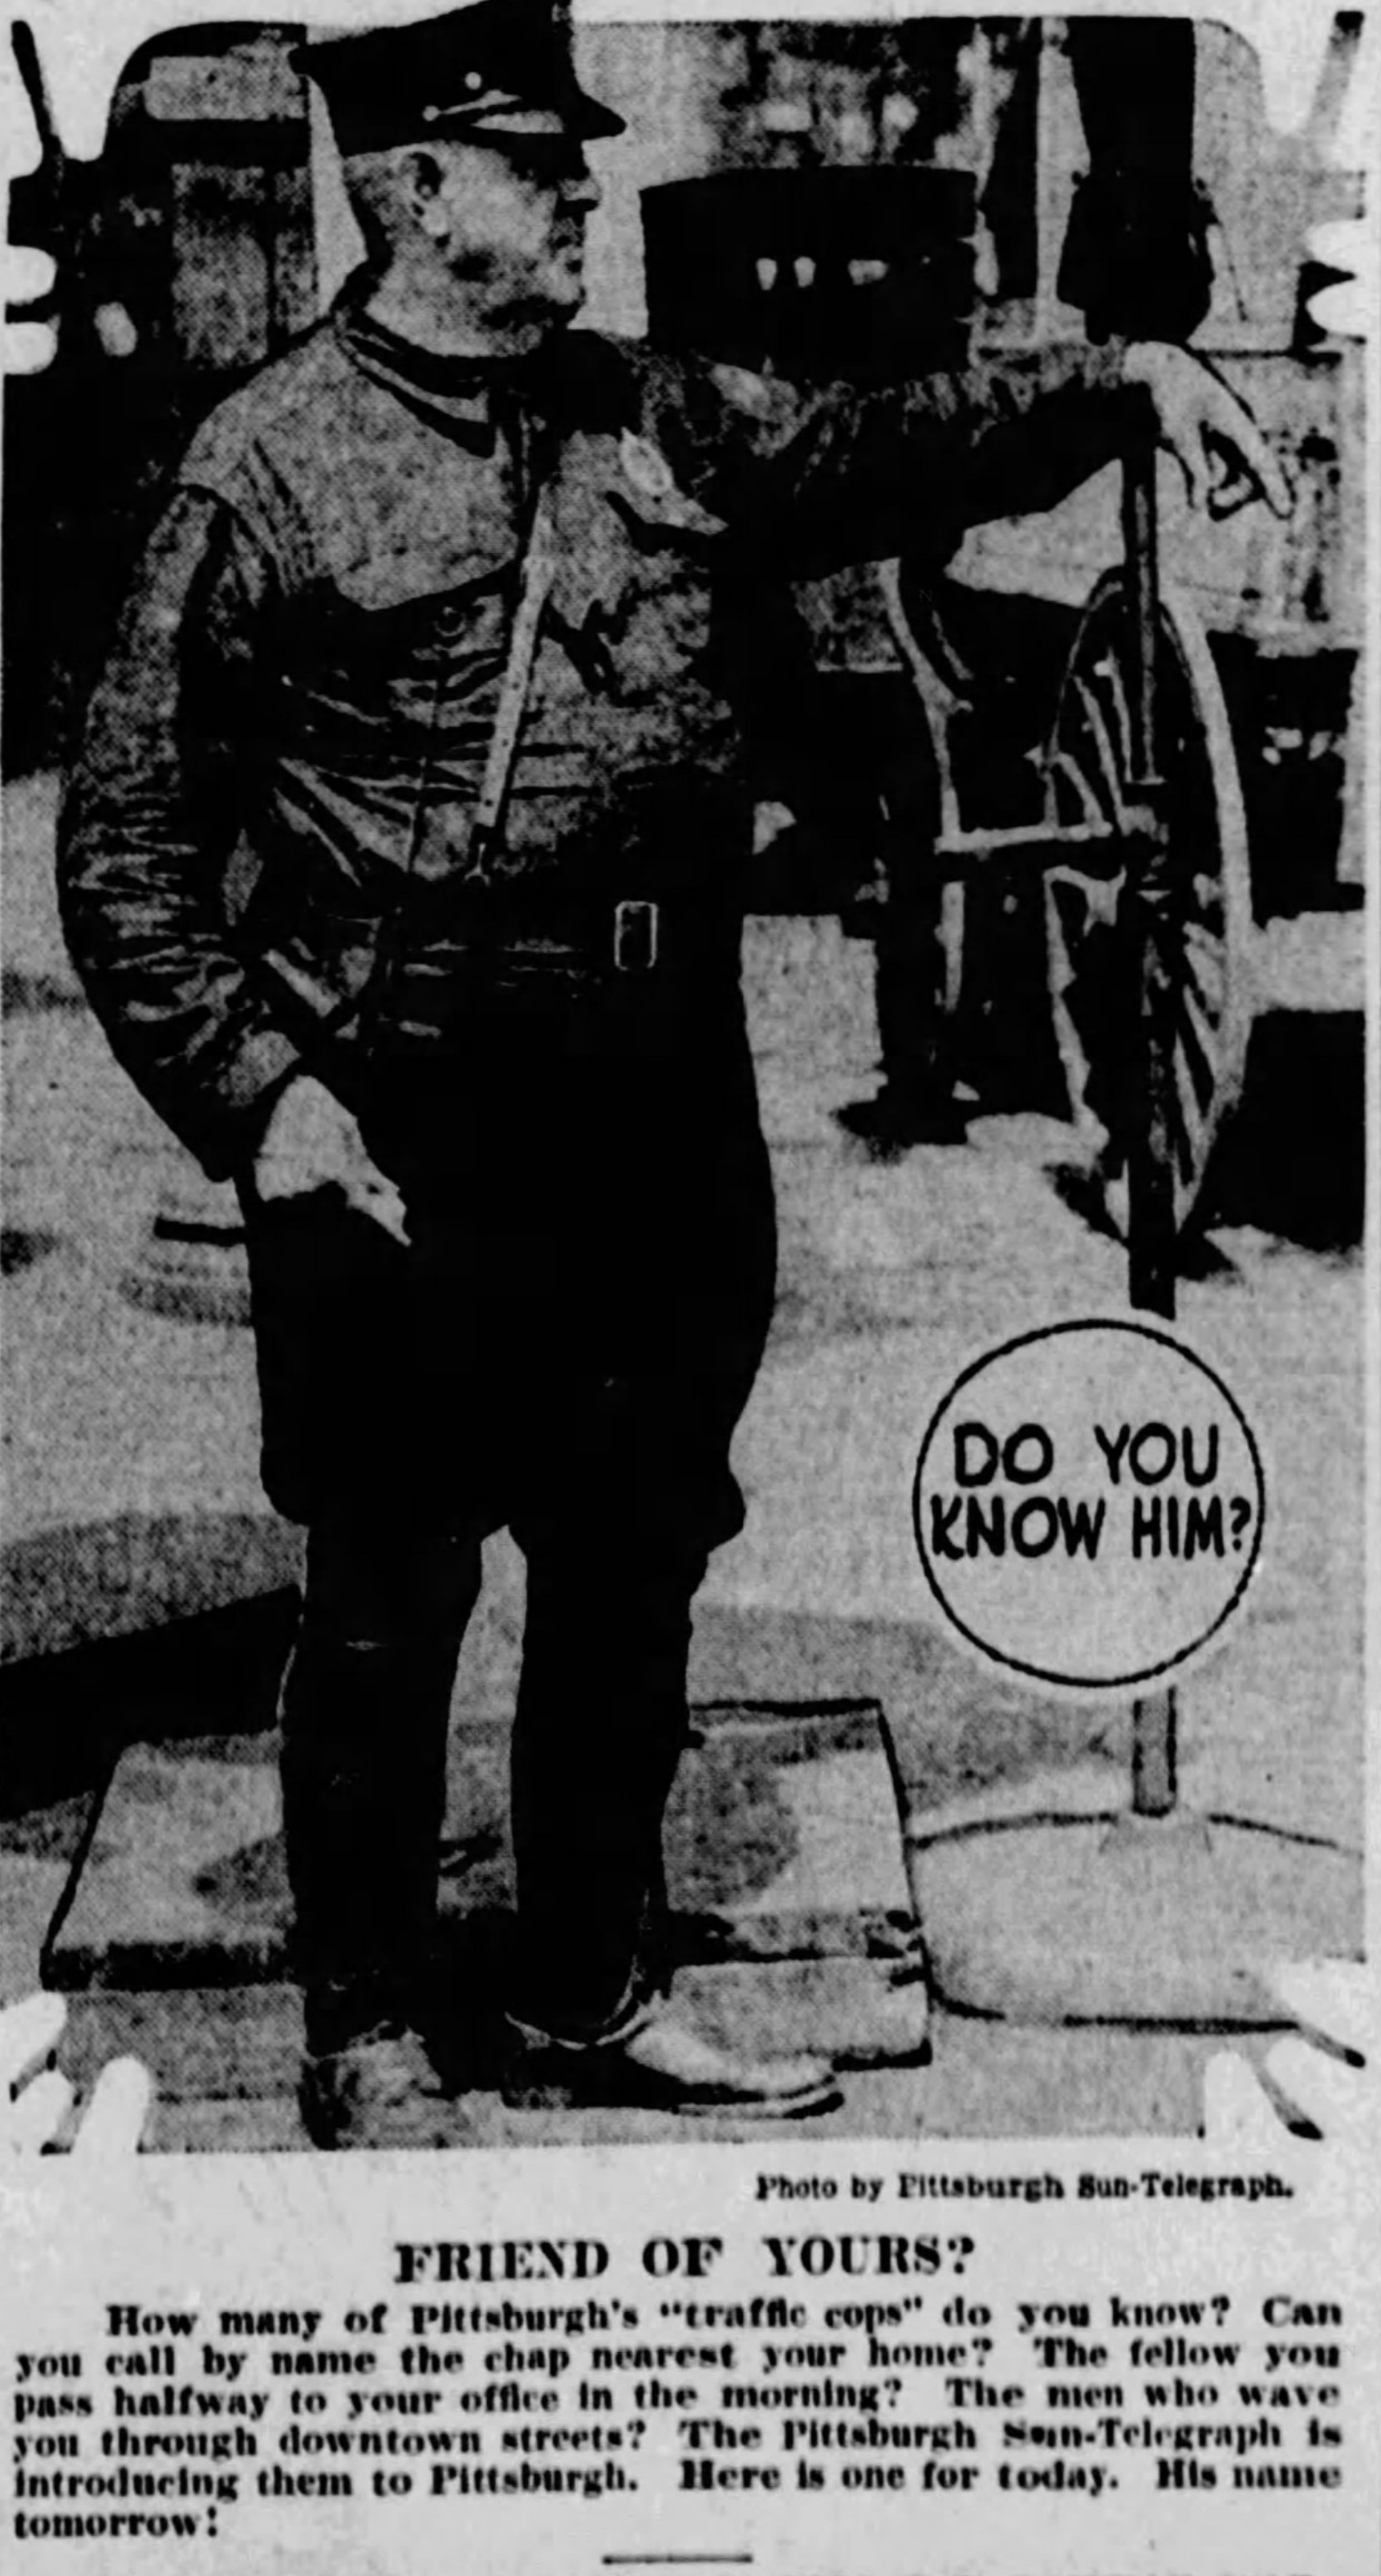
DO YOU KNOW YOUR OWN "TRAFFIC COP?"



DO YOU KNOW HIM?

FRIEND OF YOURS?

How many of Pittsburgh's "traffic cops" do you know? Can you call by name the chap nearest your home? The fellow you pass halfway to your office in the morning? The men who wave you through downtown streets? The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is introducing them to Pittsburgh. Here is one for today. His name tomorrow!

YESTERDAY'S "TRAFFIC COP" WAS M. J. CONWAY, MARRIED, 4419 GENEVA STREET, WHO HAS SPENT THE PAST SEVEN YEARS DIRECTING TRAFFIC AT SEVENTH AND GRANT STREETS. HE IS AN 11-YEAR VETERAN.

ALL VETERANS INVITED TO SUN-TELEGRAPH REUNION

Every American veteran, man or woman, is invited to attend the Tenth grand reunion of World War soldier men and women at Kennywood Park, Saturday, August 25.

The reunion, sponsored by The Sun-Telegraph to celebrate the tenth year since American soldiers were fighting their hardest in France, is planned to bring forth reminiscences of every American battle since the beginning of the Civil War down to the latest uprising in Nicaragua.

Booths will be established at the entrance to Kennywood, where veterans may register, giving their "outfit" and length of service. After that gates to all the amusements will be thrown open to them.

Civil War veterans, and disabled World War veterans now in Pittsburgh hospitals, will be special guests of The Sun-Telegraph at dinner and throughout the day. Pittsburghers are asked to provide private automobiles to take them from the hospitals to Kennywood and back again.

The Red Cross will be on the job with its canteen. Salvation Army lassies, who served with the troops overseas, will be on hand dishing out doughnuts and coffee.

And mingling about will be the "Grand Old Men" who fought to preserve the Union under Lincoln; members of the hosts who charged San Juan Hill, or fought it out with the natives in the Philippines; survivors of the Boxer rebellion in China, Pershing's followers in Mexico after Villa and the boys who went with him to France or were ready to go when the Armistice came.

It's going to be a grand reunion.

Shot by Woman, Man's Death Is Held Suicide

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—When a man kills himself, it's suicide. When a man tells a woman the revolver is empty and orders her to shoot, and he is killed, that likewise is suicide.

It was so adjudged yesterday by Judge John Lupe, who ordered that Mrs. Mary Kowalski be freed although she shot and fatally wounded Stanley Winowski, 54, on July 4.

The woman, who was Winowski's housekeeper, took the revolver and pulled the trigger at his request. Judge Lupe followed the theory that Winowski used the hand of another person to operate the weapon that killed him.

45-CENT DIFFERENTIAL ON COAL RETAINED

Maintaining that the 45-cent differential rate is fair and just, the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad will not join other roads in an attempt to impose a 35-cent substitute on local coal producers for lake cargo shipments.

The 45 cents a ton rate was prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission and it will be maintained by the Wheeling and Lake Erie road, regardless of what other carriers attempt.

This is the first break in the ranks of the railroads. The railroad's siding with the commission may result in the placing of large orders in northern fields for coal to be delivered in the northwest, some coal traffic experts believe. Other traffic men believe that the action of the Wheeling and Lake Erie road will have a decided bearing on the probable action of other railroads between now and at the end of the year.

'Sinking!' Last Log On Sub

POLA, Italy, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—The last entry on the log of the ill-fated submarine F-14 reads:

"Hour, 8:45 morning. We are rammed. We are sinking."

It was in the handwriting of Commander Fasulo and investigators today said that it indicated that the victims had been able to keep the electric light going for some time as did an entry in Capt. Weil's notebook. Capt. Weil, who evidently was unable to reach the log, told of the submarine striking the destroyer during a naval maneuver in this manner:

"After having sighted the enemy's ships, I was about to emerge when through the periscope I saw at the poop the outline of a ship too near to be avoided. It was the question of an instant and the shock occurred. The submarine sank to a depth of over 140 feet."

It was learned today eight of the men who died aboard the F-14 were victims of a tragic mistake. They were apprentice motorists and had been ordered to board the F-15, but by an error went aboard the F-14 to their deaths.

Capt. Weil's orderly, on the other hand, had a narrow escape. He had been sent ashore on an errand and was delayed a few minutes. Although he ran back to the ship, the gangway had already been removed and Capt. Weil signaled to him to remain ashore, thus unwittingly saving his life.

HELEN MADDEX

Mary Helen Maddex, Uhrichsville (O.) High School girl, will represent Tuscarawas county at the annual all-Ohio beauty contest at Cedar Point. She was named "Miss Riverside Park."

Hold 5 for Robbery 'Standup'

Five men arrested in connection with the hold-up of two messengers of the Ward Baking Company at Thirty-first street and Spring way, and a Pittsburgh Railways dispatcher at Castle Shannon, were held for a "standup" by Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court this morning.

They will be viewed by victims of the robberies. The arrests followed admissions of a young woman who also is being held in the investigation of the case.

The five suspects were docketed as William R. Murphy, 44, of 145 Thirty-eighth street; George Schrieber, 25, of the North Side; Lawrence Schoenberger, 23, of 3424 Denny street; Clarence Burkhart, 20, of 153 Thirty-eighth street, and Felix Muczinski, 31, of 312 Dobson street. The girl is Betty Colwell, 25, of Arch street.

The Castle Shannon robbery occurred July 9 when Dispatcher William Murray, of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, was held up at Poplar and Willow avenues, by two armed and masked bandits and robbed of $2,401.85.

The Ward robbery occurred April 2.

CIRCUS ELEPHANTS AMUCK, THRONGS FLEE SHRIEKING

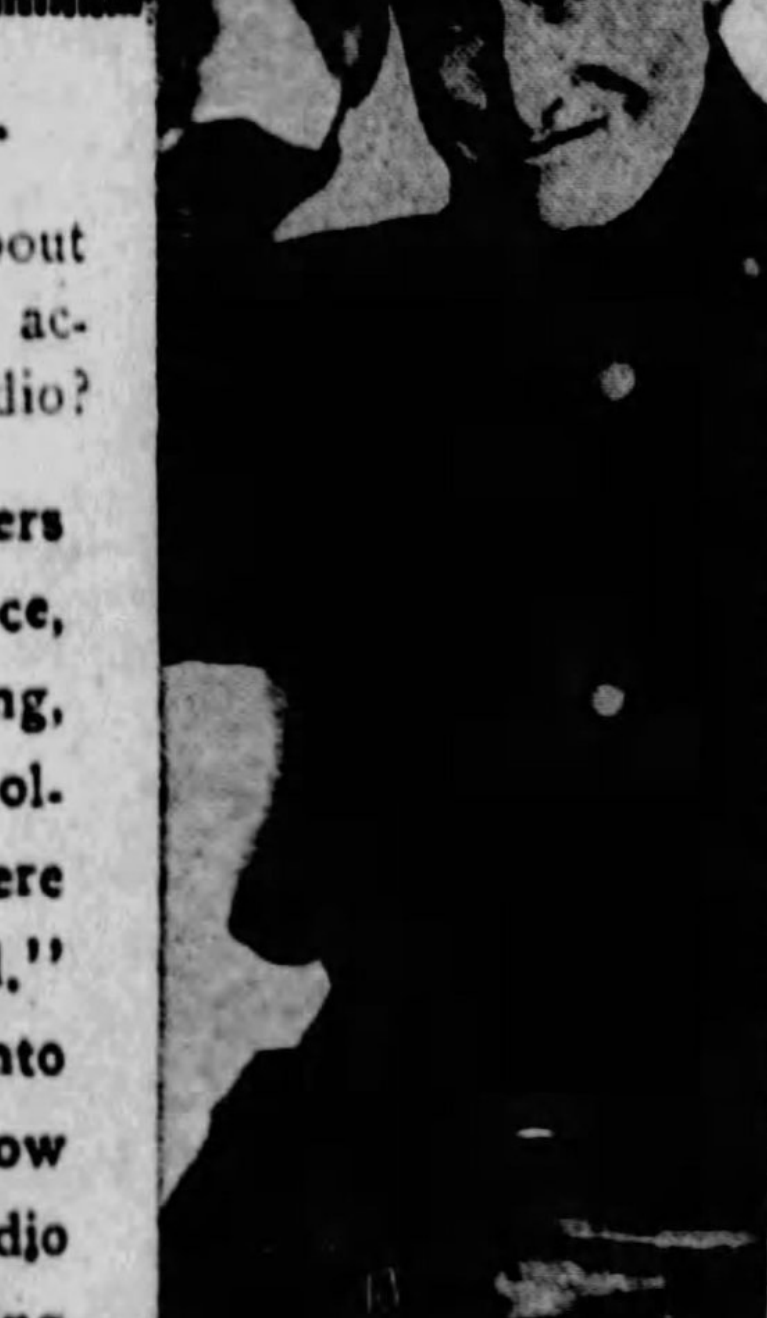
LEWISTON, Idaho, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—Four of five elephants which broke loose from a circus here yesterday and went raging through the business and residence district, smashing property and terrorizing citizens, were back at their circus jobs today.

The fifth of the huge animals was shot to death by Mayor E. G. Braddock. The other four were captured after the five had charged up and down the streets while women and children fled shrieking before them.

The lives of hundreds of women and children were endangered particularly when the most dangerous of the quintet of trained mammoths lumbered up and down the roads to be finally cornered in a downtown garage and slain by the Mayor.

Damage amountinng to several thousands of dolloars was said to have been caused, windows having been smashed, store fronts shattered automobiles wrecked and residential property mutilated.

Will Rogers Says



SANTA MONICA, Cal., Aug. 10.

Did you read in the paper about 'em being able to broadcast the actual moving pictures over the radio?

When a lot of us oldtimers are just sitting staring into space, and look like we are day-dreaming, or going cuckoo, our wives will holler, "What are you setting there gawking at? Come on to bed." Maybe we will be looking out into the universe watching Clara Bow disrobe, in her latest photo-radio drama, "You Ain't Seen Nothing Yet."

Yours, WILL.

HALF WIVES

Ione Is Bewildered as She Sees Fluff With Alan At His Studio

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Ione Farr, just out of high school, gets a position with Max Weimar's music publishing house in New York. Her chum, Marie Karey, is engaged to Palmer Elliott, a young lawyer, and plans to marry him on a 50-50 basis. She is always holding up as a model Ione's sister Jenepher, who is married, has a small son and also holds a fine position in a smart New York shop. Benz, Weimar's office manager, takes Ione to Tin Pan Alley where she meets the famous song writer, Wolfie Speed, and persuades Antony Ros, a matinee idol, to use Speed's new song after Benz had failed. She goes motoring with Benz, who asks her what marriage has to do with love. Alan Blake, an accompanist for the Weimar concern, who shows intense admiration for Ione, attends a Hallowe'en party at her house and Ione realizes she loves him. Little Timmy gets lost and doctors fear for his life. Jenepher tearfully explains to her father that she is only working so her son can have a better chance in life, but Mr. Farr does not see it that way. Marie is married, and during her honeymoon her place is taken at the office by Fluff Hartwick, a confirmed flirt.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVI.

"THE whole world will change before your eyes—get bright and full of colors you've never seen before. Everything will look beautiful—even ugly things.

"And your heart will feel all soft and shiny, beating so high."

Little Marie told her that. She would know when love came; those things would happen to her. Little Marie was in love. She knew.

World changing before your eyes. Beauty, beauty. . . . But Marie didn't say that you walk in a hushed, luminous haze.

On the train, on the ferry, over the typewriter, she kept living again those moments up the mountain, when the sky was pierced by sunset and Alan whispered against her lips, "Io—sweet Io—I love you so!"

Love had come to her. Love had come to Ione Farr. A glory in her heart, a song in her throat.

He stopped by her side each morning now, making some excuse to come from the studios.

A word, a look he would give her in the instant. "Greeting, Frills—" Something like that he would say, brushing her desk. But the hazel flecks would fill his eyes so deep they were, and her heart would open like a flower.

He waited for her down the stairs evenings. There was a table d'hote place around the corner on Seventh avenue, where he took her sometimes. A bare place where they served a great deal of ravioli for very little money and the clients were song pluggers and stage people out of a job mostly.

It looked more gorgeous to her han the Van Rex, more a-glitter, vith Lanny's light head across the able and Lanny grinning up at 'ete, the waiter.

Sometimes they went right from ork to a movie, feeling themlves adventurous in the big, dark eater nearly deserted at this our. Sitting close together, fin-rs twining.

'How about it? Quick, Frills—s or no?"

'Ah—say it"——

I love you, Lanny. With my ole heart. And you?"

Beautiful darling. Love you—ays."

hey would turn to each other a long look while the story the screen reached and passed high climax.

hen errands took her to the ios she would loiter past his door. And he would puzzle everybody by breaking in on whatever he happened to be playing with a few bars of "Only You."

Eddie Benz looked up with a faint smile one afternoon when he had spoken twice and got no answer.

"Somebody needs another vacation. Let's call it a day, Ione. Run up to Sunset Inn for dinner. Like to?"

She brought her thought around to him; to the time she had visited Sunset Inn with him—remembered it with a flutter of pleasure. But she had no wish to go there now, no wish to go anywhere but with Lanny. Otherwise she must be alone, just thinking.

He heard her "No" with a look of hurt. "Is it what happened that other time? You don't trust me?"

"Oh, Eddie—you know better! I think you're the finest! And kind to ask me."

The next day he came to her at noon. "The ban isn't on a lunch I'd like to buy you, fair one? If it will urge you, I've a bit of news." All flash and smile, so kindly-hearted.

"You're a lamb!"

He turned away quickly, lips down. "Ready in a minute then."

He took her to the Van Rex; she held her chin high, all proud joyousness, eyes like sapphires.

"You've guessed my great secret, Prince Eddie. I love it here."

"You love luxury, gentle, shining things—don't you? I guess more than you think, my dear. You like a place like this and you're happy here. That's because you belong here. Beauty is privileged; it merits the best. Anything less than the perfect setting for it is tragedy."

"Ha—the perfect setting! And how would I come by that, dear Eddie?"

"Demand it and life will not refuse it to you. But you must have courage to take it when it's offered . . . And not let yourself be blinded by the imitation.

"Beauty can have no warmth without love to tend it, little Io. Love with rich gifts—not beggar love demanding all and nothing but a flash of passion to give in return."

Crimson stained her neck and temples; she kept her eyes down. "Love gives itself," she said quietly.

"Think, Ione! All the shining things—would you exchange them for a quick, brief flare of boy's love?" He laughed and wagged his head. "Plunge into a Babbit life—housework, pulling at the ends to make them come together, growing too tired and careworn for happiness?"

"I'll not be plunging, Eddie, and 'twill give ye pleasure to know."

"Bravely said, though I fear not from the heart. Aren't you dying to hear what news I bring?

"Well, then, Wolf told you about his new song? We want Ros to take it. Think you could talk to him? But of course; I told the boss you would."

"Oh—oh—well, you think I can? Oh, I hope"——

"'Course I think so! Will mean a lot to you. An advance. Weimar appreciates ability. Glad?"

"Am I!" Quivering with delight she was now, hands together. "How splendid you are! How nice everybody is and they told me the business world was all traps and setbacks.

"Hard road for a girl to travel, making good, they said.

"Now I find it all smoothed for my feet, I'm sent ahead without so much as asking!"

He told her, gravely, "It's plenty hard for some. I said I'd stand by didn't I? Little bright darling—you believe I'm what I promised? A good friend?"

She gave him a warm, grateful smile.

It was arranged that she should see Ros in the morning at his hotel. A pianist would go with her and perhaps Speed.

She was buoyant as a spring breeze through the afternoon; filled with little stabs of anxiety, great inrushes of confidence. Supposing Ros were temperamental? Supposing he'd have nothing to do with the song and she'd come back and tell Papa Weimar she had failed? Shame Eddie Benz that way?

"Oh, he'll take it! I'll just make him take it," she would say to herself then, suddenly hopeful.

She went to the studios. She wished to tell Lanny about it—see his eyes light.

It was the busy hour there. Crowds, hurry, noise.

She made her way to the partly opened door, caught her breath to say his name. It fell back on her lips; she stood a bewildered moment.

He was playing something that rippled under his fingers and Fluff Hartwick was clinging to the piano with her face almost touching his.

Ione stole out through the crowd. Back to the office.

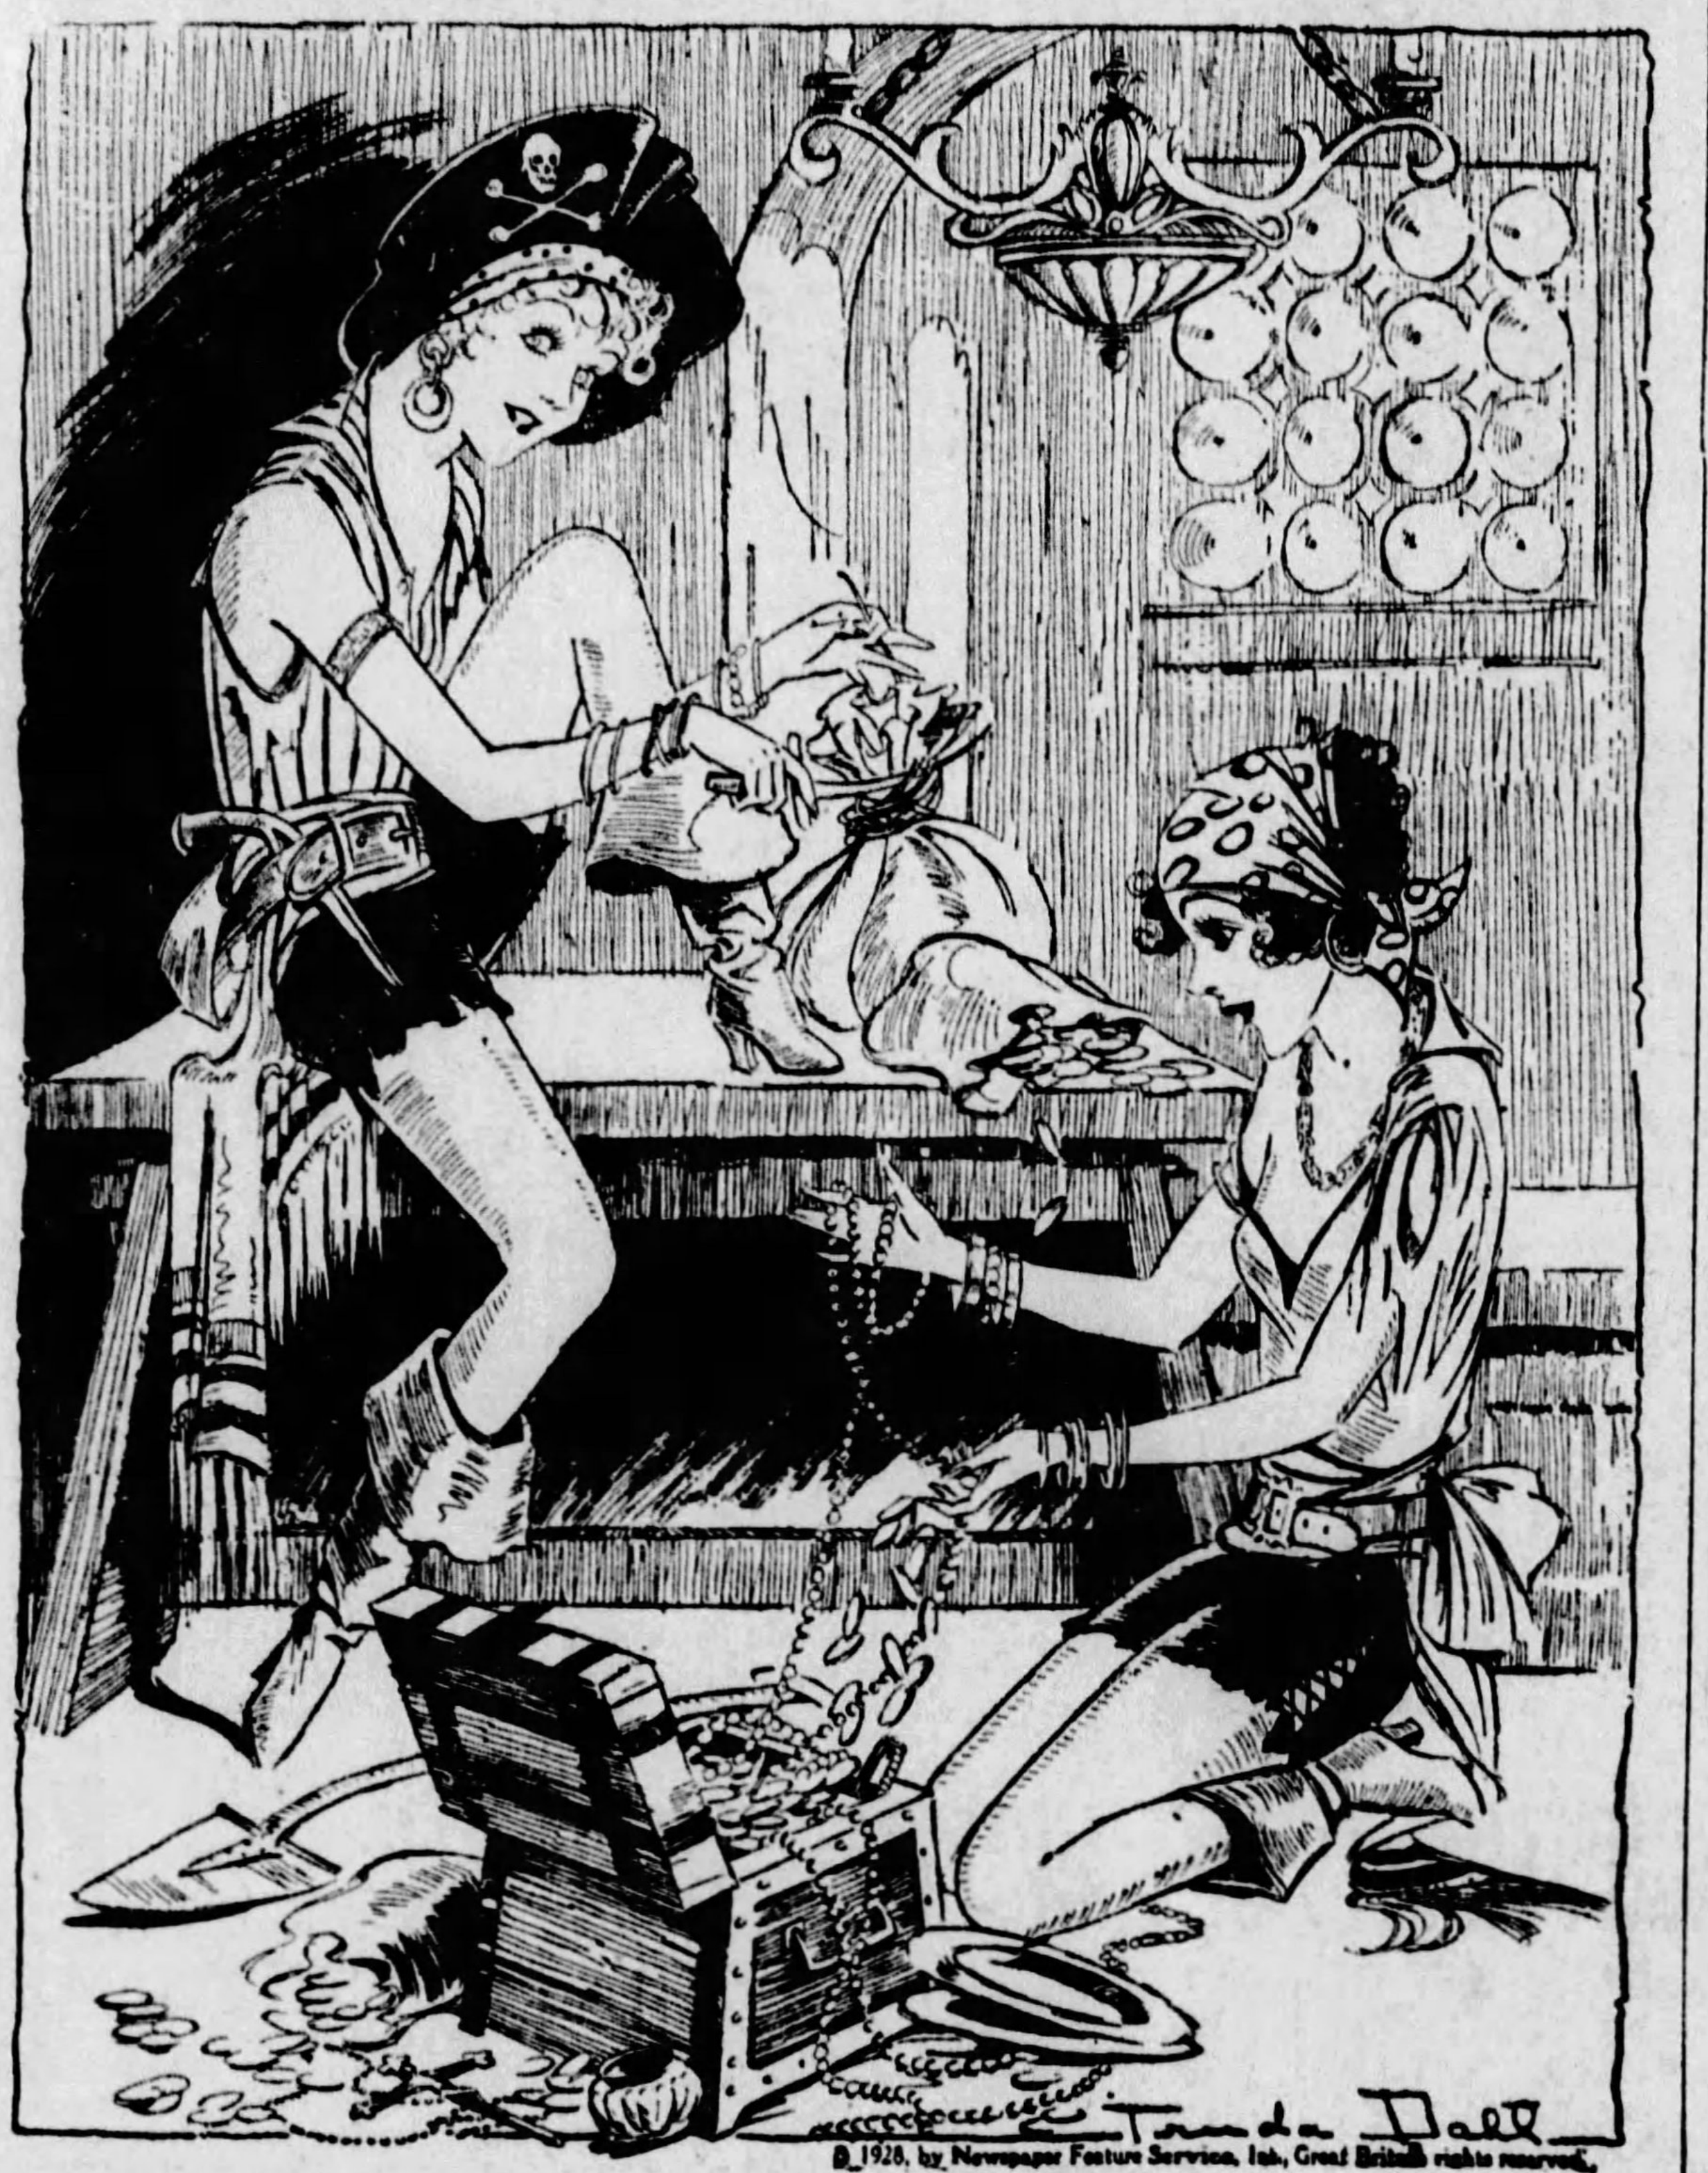
A Treasure Dream -:- -:- By Truda Dahl



© 1928, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved.

EVEN in this era of airplanes, jazz and ultra-modernism, young girls still dream of pirates, treasure and desert islands. It is true that they no longer believe in it, but they let their fancy roam occasionally and enjoy thrilling flights of the imagination. Thus they may feel once in a while a draught of romance blow across their practical and sophisticated lives.

And when they take the fantastic flights in their imagination, these modern young people go the gamut of picaresque adventure. Their pirates are the fiercest, their ships are the most magnificent, their treasure is the most alluring and their battles are the most thrilling. With what exultant delight these two piratical beauties seem to be dividing the booty so dear to their feminine hearts!

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife" By Adele Garrison

Noel Demands an Explanation From Mary.

I BEGGED Noel Veritzen's pardon for my momentary misjudging of his discretion and his trustworthiness—all the more fervently because I could not utter the words in his hearing, but must silently frame them from my unsuspected position a few feet away from the place where he was facing Mary Harrison. I had been afraid for a second that he would tax her with the cry of "I can't, I can't," which she had uttered so vehemently when I had urged her to come down to see the distracted young man upon the occasion of his last visit to the farmhouse. I had felt disloyal to Mary in repeating the words, had done so only because of my sympathy for Noel; and my eagerness to soften for him the blow of her curt refusal to see him. It would have been most embarrassing for me if he had repeated my rash confidence.

"I want you to tell me now," Noel went on steadily, "why you wouldn't see me that day, and why you've put me out of your life as if I were a—a criminal. What have I done to you, Mary? Don't you think I have a right to know that much?"

"You haven't done anything, Noel," she said. "And you musn't ask me why I can't see you. It would only make you feel badly if I told you. But you must know one thing. I can't see you any more. I can't, I tell you! I can't!"

It was a repetition of the cry with which she had received my plea for the boy.

"Why can't you?" he asked. "'Can't? Mustn't?' Those are queer words for you to use about seeing me. Who has forbidden you?"

"Oh-h!" Mary's voice was frightened now, and it came to me that in some incomprehensive fashion she had broken faith with herself in using the phrases which Noel was questioning. Then her voice changed, and I shivered at the callousness, amounting to cruelty, of her next sentences.

"What's the matter with you boys anyway?" she asked flippantly. "Can't you ever take a hint unless it's pounded into your dome with a hammer and nails? I didn't want to make you feel badly if I could help it, but you're just asking for the ax so you'll have to have it. Did it ever occur to you that the reason why I don't see you any longer is because I don't want to, because I'm tired to death of listening to you?"

"I sincerely beg your pardon," he said, "for forcing you to answer me as I deserved for so troubling you. I am sorry I was too obtuse to understand before and so save you this unpleasant interview. But you may be sure I never shall trouble you again. Now, if you will permit me to escort you down to the beach—the footing is precarious here—I will assure you—"

"No, no," Mary gasped. "Above all things you mustn't come back to the campfire with me. Goodby—and I'm—sorry."

I heard her running in my direction, wondered worriedly if she would see me. But she dashed past without halting, and an instant later I put out my hand and grasped Noel Vertizen's arm as he, too, ran past me.

"It isn't any use, Noel," I said. "She's perfectly safe, as surefooted as a chamois. And I want to talk to you."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, August 11.

THE astral auguries point to a day of fairly lively and progressive conditions, although there is some slight hazard in speculation or other risk of finances. The mind should be keen and the judgment sound, thus avoiding pitfalls and loss. With prudence new ventures may prosper, but sign papers with care. In the domestic, social and affectional connections, harmony and good will flourish.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a fairly active and interesting year, with matters flourishing, if speculation and money risk be shunned. Personal contact should bring happiness and satisfaction.

A child born on this day may be talented and accomplished, with a studious as well as gracious mind.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.

U.S. Senator from New York

Mothers No Longer Need Be in Darkness.

TWO or three years ago I gave a set of rules prepared by the late Dr. Holt, who was a great authority on babies. I want to to repeat them, because every mother should be taught the fundamentals of disease prevention. Then her baby will have good health.

DR. COPELAND

The majority of babies dying under two years of age are carried away by diarrheal diseases. Since these diseases are caused by bad feeding, it is important that every mother should know the general rules for the protection of her infant. Here are Dr. Holt's suggestions:

1. Encouragement of maternal nursing, and the adoption of measures to make this possible, particularly during the summer months.
2. Education of mothers in all matters relating to the care and hygiene of infants, best through the agency of the milk stations and the visits of a trained district nurse.
3. Adequate supervision of the milk supply, the general use of pasteurized or sterilized milk during the summer, and furnishing good milk to those too poor to pay for it.
4. Instruction of mothers in regard to the care of milk in the home and in all matters of artificial feeding.
5. The constant supervision of artificially fed infants either in the milk station or by visits to the home.

To carry out these suggestions it is necessary to have a community program. In the cities the boards of health provide all the facilities for giving them effect. It is more difficult in the rural districts and small towns.

I am sure nobody can study Dr. Holt's rules without realizing that infant care must be conducted in a systematic and scientific manner. A mother should not depend on her own knowledge or even on the advice of her immediate family and friends.

The methods of fighting fire are infinitely better today than they were a generation or two ago. Bringing up babies has improved even to a greater degree. Every mother should give her child the benefit of this wider and important knowledge.

The importance of individual care for the given infant cannot be overstated. It is not possible to lay down any firm and fast rules which apply to all babies. Peculiar and unusual conditions will be meet. Particular care must be given to the baby that does not thrive. It needs special attention. Then it is that the mother must be advised by somebody who knows all about the welfare of infants.

Within reach of every mother is a good doctor. No matter if you are poor he will be glad to advise you. You must not let your pride prevent asking for advice—the welfare of your previous infant is at stake.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

THE SHORT CUT TO A MAN'S HEART

THE one infallible way to win a man's admiration, if not his heart, is to ask him for his ADVICE.

It's like feeding peanuts to the circus elephant. You can't overdo it—and they DO love it so!

Beg him to explain the farm-relief bill to you, or persuade him to help you mould your political opinions. Ask him to help you pick our your new car, or tell him that you have a queer headache and let him prescribe for it. Let him "tell you all about" something, no matter how much you know about it! It always works!

HELEN ROWLAND

After that, there is nothing more to do except tie the ribbons on his leash and teach him to catch bonbons on his nose.

There is nothing on earth that a man prizes so highly and cherishes so devoutly as his own counsel! You may scorn his love, trample on his heart and outrage his Victorian notions of propriety—but beware how you trifle with his "advice."

As long as you remember his wise and wonderful counsels, to "hold them sacred," you are on the safe side of his friendship, and on the right road to his heart.

Even a waiter melts and becomes human, when you look up at him confidingly and inquire, "What would YOU advise me to order, Francis? YOU always know what's best!"

And if you want a nice, safe, smooth ride in a taxi, don't start by telling the taxi-driver to take you through Maple street and up the boulevard. Win his mercy and approval, first, by asking him what he THINKS of the Maple street route.

The average woman spends at least one-quarter of her life in listening to masculine "suggestions." If she should carry around all the gratuitous advice she receives, she would have to pay excess baggage, wherever she went.

Telling a woman how to do things is an ingrowing weakness in the masculine make-up. Whether it's about cooking, finance, carpentry or philosophy, ALL men have wonderful judgment! Ask them.

You may question a man's sincerity, doubt his veracity, argue about his religion and even disapprove of his politics—but never question his JUDGMENT!

A woman doesn't have to "take anything" from the man she marries, these days—not even his name or his money or his family crest.

But if she wants to live happily and serenely with him, she had better take his ADVICE. Take it—and LIKE it!

It's the shortest cut to domestic tranquility and personal popularity.

Mushroom-Shaped House Fay King's Solution of Over Accumulation

IT'S A GOOD THING I'M NOT A COLLECTOR OF ANTIQUES!
CALENDAR
I ONCE HAD A THOROUGH HOUSE CLEANING AND I'M STILL SUFFERING FROM THE SHOCK OF THINGS I DISCARDED FAY-KING

By FAY KING

EVER since I once visited circus friends on a circus train I have been desperately discouraged with my faults and failings as a good housekeeper.

If I could only get my home-making down to the compact basis that they have.

But it's no use.

Economy and being provident are worthy virtues, but when you have the gift for accumulating that I have it is awful.

I am the most inveterate collector of this, that and the other thing that ever was, and I can't throw anything away.

Once I did clean house, but I have never been the same since, for everything I discarded has from time to time been the one thing I needed most.

I hope some day to build a house the shape of a mushroom, the top being a huge attic and the stem being a small parlor, bedroom, and bath.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

One Good Kiss Deserves Another

By EMILY BURTON

DAVE MAXWELL was hiding. He had eluded his pursuers all morning. They had almost caught him on College avenue; but he had jumped on the running board of a car and jumped off again a block away. They had come pell mell after him, until a dark stair case offered protection. He had crouched there unseen until the grim-faced sophomores passed by.

Dave was a freshman at Bentley and he was in for an old-time hazing. He was good natured about it, but he determined to give those lordly sophs a run for their money.

Suddenly he leaped from his hiding place, while a dozen of his would-be tormentors stood on the opposite side of the street. He thumbed his nose at them and started on a run toward the city. But they finally overtook him.

Thereupon they conceived the brilliant idea of forcing him to kiss the first woman who passed by regardless of age, appearance or circumstances.

Dave gallantly assumed the position they ordered, while the boys stood nearby to watch the performance.

And the first woman who approached was Lyda Emerson, walking sedately beside her austere father on the way to church.

Now Lydia was young and beautiful and alluring—a girl to inspire kisses. But there was something about her that made one feel that such liberties had better be omitted. Besides there was old Judge Emerson, with his long frock coat, his high silk hat, his white spats and gloves and his cane.

"Kiss her!" hissed voices of ribald sophomores. And Dave proceeded to obey.

An instant later he was lying unconscious on the asphalt pavement—laid low by a sharp crack on his head from Judge Emerson's cane.

"My God, I've killed him!" groaned the old man as he bent down over the prostrate form.

"Help me lift him," he said to the boys who crowded around.

Dave was lifted into a borrowed car and one of the boys took the wheel. Judge Emerson took his place in the car and kept his arm around Dave's sagging shoulders. Lydia climbed into the front seat with the driver.

"Take him to my home on Chestnut Hill," the Judge ordered.

When Dave Maxwell opened his eyes he was lying on a couch in Judge Emerson's study. The doctor had just finished bandaging his head and the judge was holding his hand.

At the foot of the couch stood a radiant figure that he thought might be an angel. But it was only Lydia Emerson.

It was Lydia who brightened the days of his convalescence. She brought his meals to the guest room, where Judge Emerson had ordered him to lie. She filled bowls with flowers that she gathered from her own garden. She played popular airs and syncopated melodies on the piano downstairs; she read to him—college comedy stuff, ultra-modern stories and crazy-sounding verse. But no matter what she did, he liked it.

One afternoon, while Lydia and her father were both away from home, a dapper little man entered their guest room, without knocking. He seemed rather taken back when he saw Dave, but he quickly recovered his suave manner.

"Beg pardon," he said, "I am Judge Emerson's secretary. "If you don't mind I'll get some papers for him out of this desk.'

"Help yourself," said Dave. He watched the man idly, as he rummaged through the writing desk. At last he saw him run his hand over the inner surface of the desk until his fingers touched a spring, that caused a tiny door to fly open. Then the visitor took some papers and left at once.

In the late afternoon Judge Emerson came in to speak with Dave. His glance fell upon the disordered desk, and he walked over to investigate.

Presently he turned a troubled and inquiring gaze upon his guest.

'Your secretary came in to get some papers for you," said Dave. "He seemed to be in a hurry. I suppose that is why he left the drawers in confusion."

"I haven't any secretary," said the Judge, "nothing but a girl stenographer. What sort of looking was this secretary person?"

Dave described him as accurately as he could. Then the Judge went out, saying, "I'll have to look into this—"

Dave did not think about the matter again until six months later, when he overheard a conversation in a drug store. He was in one telephone booth waiting for a number, while another man was talking in an adjoining booth.

"We've got the evidence in his own hand writing," said the voice in the adjoining booth. "The election is day after tomorrow. We'll publish these letters in tomorrow's papers and then we'll see whether or not Judge Emerson is re-elected to the Supreme Court bench. I've got the whole story right here in my pocket. I'm on my way to the newspaper offices now."

Dave Maxwell hung up the receiver without waiting for his number. He would see who was plotting the Judge's defeat in the coming election. He slipped out of the telephone booth just as the other man hurried away—

"Judge Emerson's alleged secretary!" he gasped. "So that was why he had come sneaking into that room to rob that desk!"

Dave had no idea what information those papers contained. He did not care. This sneak-thief had stolen them from the judge. He would get them back or know the reason why.

He followed the dapper gentleman until they reached a dark alleyway. Then Dave's fist shot out and knocked the other man down. He jumped on top of him and searched through his pockets while the man fought and scratched. In the struggle the bundle of letters fell from the man's pocket and Dave grabbed it.

It was then that he did the big sprinting act of his sporting career.

Ten minutes later he delivered the incriminating letters into Judge Emerson's own hands.

"Good gracious alive!" exclaimed the judge, "I've spent six months and a thousand dollars trying to get back those papers. Where on earth did you get them?"

Dave told him; and the boy's disheveled appearance corroborated his story of the struggle.

"How can I ever repay you?" cried the old judge.

"Let me pay him, daddy," said a voice in the doorway. Whereupon Lydia glided into the room and deliberately kissed Dave Maxwell right before her father's eyes.

Then she whirled upon her astounded parent.

"And you'd better not hit him with your cane either!" she declared.

Judge Emerson turned on his heel and walked out of the room.

"Have it your own way," he muttered as he departed—without looking back.

"One good kiss deserves another," Dave solemnly averred. "You are a good little devil, Lydia. I'm crazy about you, Honey."

SCOTTISSUE—Pure white, delightfully fine and soft—like "old linen."

Now on all sides careful housewives are heeding the physician's warning: "For your family's sake, buy only specially made tissues for bathroom use."

580 doctors, recently questioned, are on record: "Inferior toilet papers are injurious."

Doctor J. F. Montague, a famous specialist, of the Bellevue Hospital Medical College Clinic, speaks forcefully in his recent book, *Troubles We Don't Talk About:

"By the use of too coarse a toilet tissue, much harm may be done. We can . . . adopt for bathroom use a tissue, such as ScotTissue, which is soft and free from alkali bleaching material. By its gentle use we can accomplish cleansing without damage to the skin."

Many so-called toilet tissues sold today are simply ordinary tissue paper in rolls. They may be glazed, abrasive, impure.

Scott tissues are specially made—to meet the strictest medical requirements. Note how absorbent ScotTissue and Waldorf are. They sink in water almost instantly.

How soft and fine-textured! You can feel no harsh edges. They are bland, cloth-like. And they are chemically and mechanically safe. You need never ask for toilet paper. Ask for ScotTissue or Waldorf. They fit all standard-size recess fixtures.

boiling salted water and let cook until rice is tender—about thirty-five minutes. Drain in a colander and place in the oven for about five minutes to dry out a little.

WASH tomatoes and remove the stem ends. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs and season with salt and pepper. Bake in the oven for forty-five minutes.

Wash celery and radishes, cut in thin slices and combine with mayonnaise dressing, place in lettuce cups and sprinkle with chipped green pepper.

Sift 1½ cups of flour with 1 teaspoonful of salt. Cut in with 2 knives, 6 tablespoonful of ice cold lard. Add barely enough ice water to make the dough stick together. Roll out on the board and dot all over with bits of lard. Fold all sides into the middle making a square or oblong piece of dough, then roll up. Place in the ice box while you pare and slice the apples.

CUT the roll in half and roll out. This should form a round piece which you place in the bottom of the greased pie plate. Fill the plate well with apples, sprinkled with sugar and cinnamon and dotted with tiny bits of butter. Roll out the upper crust, fold in quarters and make incisions for escaping steam. Trim lower crust and wet edges.

Place the top crust, pinch edges together and trim. Then press edges together with a fork and place in a hot oven. When the pie is a golden brown, it should be done. Test the apples through one of the steam vents. If they are not tender, turn the heat off but leave the pie in the oven another five minutes.

CORN CAKES—Two cups cornmeal, 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk, 2 teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ⅛ teaspoon soda, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons fat and 1 teaspoon Blue Ribbon Malt Extract (hop flafored).

Mix dry ingredients together. Dissolve the Blue Ribbon Malt Extract, hop flavored, in the buttermilk; add to dry ingredients. Add the slightly beaten eggs. Fry on a griddle.

SOME housewives find it harder to plan a summer dinner than a winter one. Not I. I know that if I serve corn on the cob every one is delighted. Never boil corn more than 10 minutes. Sometimes I add a little milk, which gives a delicious flavor. Some add sugar to the water.

IF there are a few ears of corn left I'm sure of a tasty dish for tomorrow's lunch or dinner. Here are some excellent recipes for left-over corn.

CORN MEXICAN—Saute 1 tablespoon each of chopped green pepper, pimento and onion and 2 slices of minced bacon in 3 tablespoons of butter for 5 minutes. Add 2 cups of corn and toss over a hot fire until corn is lightly seared.

SUCCOTASH—Cut 1 cup of corn from cob, add 1 cup boiled lima beans and a little butter, salt and pepper, add 1 teaspoon of milk. Heat together for a few minutes.

CORN AND TOMATOES—Heat 2 tablespoons butter in frying pan. Add 1 pint fresh tomatoes, peeled and chopped. Let simmer about 5 minutes, stirring. Stew for 3 minutes, add 1 pint fresh corn. Mix. Add salt and pepper to taste, a teaspoon of sugar. Let all stew or saute 20 minutes, then stir in a teaspoon of butter.

DEVILED CORN—Make a sauce of two tablespoons fat, two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon each of mustard and paprika. Add two cups corn, one egg slightly beaten and one teaspoon Worcestersrire sauce. Pour into baking dish, cover with crumbs mixed with little butter and bake until crumbs are brown.

CORN PUDDING—Cut two cups of corn to one-half depth of kernel. Scrape out remainder of pulp. Mix with one teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon salt, two eggs, two cups milk and one tablespoon melted butter. Pour mixture into greased baking dish, set in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven about 30 minutes.

CORN FRITTERS — Chop two cups of corn and add one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder, two teaspoons salt and one-quarter teaspoon paprika, mix and sift. Add yolk of one egg, beaten with one-half cup of milk and fold in beaten whites. Cook in frying pan in lard or bacon lard. Drain on paper.

WHEN you give your children a plate of soup, made with milk or chicken broth, you can feel sure that you are giving them something nourishing and delicious. Don't season too much, especially if you use vegetables. You want the natural flavor.

ASPARAGUS BROTH — Three cups water, three cups asparagus stalks, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon butter. Cut up the tough ends of asparagus and cover with cold water. Cook one hour or until soft. Replace water which boils away. Strain, press out all possible juice from stalks and season with butter and salt. Add one tablespoon cooked rice if desired.

WHEN "nize baby" eats up all the carrots we know he is storing up in his little insides future health and strength which will stand him in good stead one of these days.

Even our grandmothers, who wouldn't know a vitamin if they met it in their teacups, used to tell us to eat carrots for our complexions. Carrots are best eaten raw and are really delicious in salads. Grated carrots mixed with mayonnaise makes a delicious pinky dressing which may be served with vegetables or fruit salads.

GOLDEN KEEPS TITLE

HAWORTH, N. J., Aug. 10.—(AP.)—For the second year in succession, Johnny Golden, of the North Jersey Country Club, won the New Jersey State open golf championship at White Beeches Club. His total for the 72 holes was 2 6.

Babcock Defeated

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

M. LeBOSQUET, Castle Shannon, and John Graham, South Hills, are clashing this afternoon at the Westmoreland Country Club course for the Western Pennsylvania golf championship.

The two finalists earned the right to compete for the championship this morning when they triumphed in the semi-finals. LeBosquet vanquished Fred B. Weppner, Stanton Heights, 4 and 2, while Graham was extended to 20 holes to get the decision over Ray Babcock, Oakmont, 1 up.

Graham was leading Babcock 2 up at the fifteenth hole when Babcock made a strong recovery to even the match on the home green. After halving the first extra hole with 5s, Graham sank a 35-foot putt to clinch the match on the next hole. The cards:

The summary:

FIRST SIXTEEN

M. LesBosquet, Castle Shannon, defeated Fred B. Weppner, Stanton Heights, 4 and 2; John Graham, South Hills defeated Ray Babcock, Oakmont, 1 up (20 holes).

SECOND SIXTEEN

Fred Brand, Jr., defeated Dan Casey, 6 and 5; S. W. Greer defeated Denny St. Clair, 5 and 4.

THIRD SIXTEEN

C. L. Hagan defeated J. S. McNeely, 2 up; Dr. W. M. Crumrine defeated Dr. M. L. Wymard, 2 and 1.

FOURTH SIXTEEN

J. W. Walters defeated Robert Vandervoort, 7 and 6; Ray Totten defeated Roger Patrizio, 3 and 2.

HEYDLER DISALLOWS PROTEST OF BRAVES

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Protest by the Boston Braves of a game they lost to the Chicago Cubs, July 11, was disallowed by John A. Heydler, president of the National League. The protest was based on the claim that umpires failed to allow the batter and a runner to advance two bases on an overthrow into the stands. Heydler ruled the umpire's decision was final.

NOTES of the BOXERS

Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, and Dick O'Leary, of Scranton, formerly Jackie Britton, have been matched to box the 10-round main bout at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, next Monday night. Dunn also originally hailed from Scranton and has boxed Britton a few times, so that this meeting of the 122-pounders is just another chapter in a long feud of the coal mining community. Carl Cavelli and Andy Tomosky will box the semi-final, Romeo Pacelli meets Bobby Belford in another six-round bout and Harry Lebo faces Tom O'Leary and Roy Minteer meets Tony Icone in the four-rounders.

Eddie Shea and Rosy Stoy will box at the Rossmere Park, Lancaster, Pa., August 20. It is a return bout, Shea recently having beaten Stoy at Philadelphia.

Old Pete Hartley and Harry Wallace box in Brooklyn tonight.

The Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., of the North Side, will stage another outdoor amateur boxing show next Monday night.

Billy Ryan and Bobby Marriott have been matched for a bout at the Reds' Park, Cincinnati, August 20.

Osk Till, the Rochester (N. Y.) light-heavyweight, will arrive here Sunday for his 10-round main bout with Garfield Johnson at Duquesne Monday night.

Eddie Dempsey and Young Jack Thompson will make a third attempt to stage their twice-postponed bout in Chicago tonight.

ROBINS WIN

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 10.—(AP.)—New Haven held the Brooklyn Robins even until the ninth inning yesterday when Herman's third double sent three mates home, giving the National League team a 4-to-1 victory.

THE VARSITY COLUMN

by JESS M. CARVER

TRACK and field success depends to a great extent on the proper coaching system. Prior to our failure in the running events at the Olympic games, we figured that the American system was the best. Now that the nation has been given a neat shaking up by having men considered the cream of our runners decisively defeated by foreign stars, we may grimace a bit when considering our coaching theory. For that matter, the grimacing has already begun.

However, it is unfair to cast reflections on the coaches and their varied systems when it is pretty generally accepted that the failures at Amsterdam should be laid at the feet of an extremely inefficient Olympic selections committee and an ineffective Olympic system.

YOU can't blame coaches like Tom Keane of Syracuse, Nate Cartmell of Penn State, Johnny Behr of Illinois, Henry Schulte of Nebraska and Steve Farrell of Michigan and Dink Templeton of Stanford for occurrences like the one that won for Bud Spencer a place in the Olympics.

Spencer is undoubtedly a great quarter-miler — when he is RIGHT. At the Olympic tryouts at Philadelphia, the finals, he was not right, and if you will recall, was beaten in the semi-final heat. By all that is fair and just, Bud should have been through then and there. But the Olympic selections committee, through one of its odd, to say the least, rulings, declared him "in."

I HAVE it from a creditable source that Spencer, himself a good sport and a real athlete, objected strenuously to being included on the 1,600-meter relay team.

"I'm not in shape," he was quoted as saying, "and have no business being taken. Better not include me."

Bill Butler and Pete Bowen, local quarter-milers, who were in the dressing room at the time, report that an official of the Olympic committee walked over to Spencer and told him to "pipe down," adding that everything was set for him to go as a member of the relay team. By being included on the squad it left it up to the coaches and selection officials to enter him as they pleased.

Since then, Spencer has come through, running on the American 1600 meter relay team, which set a new record. But his time was not the fastest of the quartet, and there is a possibility that if one or two other American quarter-milers had been running in his place, that the United States team's time would have been better than it was.

THE committee took a long chance in including Spencer on the U. S. squad on the form he exhibited at Philadelphia. What if he had not come through at Amsterdam and the Yankee team had lost through the running of a poor 400 meters by him? Then the uproar that is going to be heard when the team and officials return to the States would have drawn added volume.

Another quarter-miler who "qualified" at Philadelphia was in taking a shower after running his semi-final heat, thinking he was through and being under the impression (one that was very likely correct that he had been distanced in the heat and had lost his chance to qualify. But he was called back by those in charge and told that he had placed and was eligible to run in the final.

The runner, Fred Alderman, former Michigan State star, had failed to qualify for the 400 meters and was attempting to make the relay team, along with Lewis, Baird, Pete Bowen and Butler.

GEORGE Milne, who has been competing collegiately for Carnegie Tech for the past couple of years and for the P. A. A. in open events, is going to return to Nebraska in the fall. Milne started to school at Lincoln, and then transferred here when his folks moved to this locality.

Milne has been a consistently good dash man since his advent in these parts. He runs both the 100 and 220, and essays the quarter-mile occasionally as a member of the relay team.

M'LOON, FORMER MASCOT FOR ATHLETICS, KILLED

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—Hugh McLoon, 29, former mascot of the Athletics baseball team, was killed and two other men wounded, one critically, early yesterday when three gunmen opened fire on them from a closed automobile and then sped away.

McLoon, in company with William Meister, 21, and Joseph Fries, 22, had walked a block from a saloon operated by McLoon in the downtown section of the city when they were attacked. Meister was seriously wounded and Fries was shot in the leg.

A pistol found lying on the sidewalk where the men fell indicated that one of them had attempted to return the fire.

NEALE TO MANAGE TEAM

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 10.—Earle (Greasy) Neale, coach and former star of the Cincinnati Reds, has been named manager of the local Middle Atlantic League team. He will take charge at Jeannette tomorrow.

Mackey Named New Manager At Charlotte

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 10.—(AP.)—Leo Mackey, veteran Southern Association catcher- today succeeded Heinie Groh, former National League star, as manager of the Charlotte club of the South Atlantic League. Groh resigned as manager a week ago.

Mackey was bought from the Nashville club of the association. Earlier in the season he had been loaned by that team to the Waterbury (Conn.) club of the Eastern League, but played only a few days with it.

Mackey is a resident of Pittsburgh.

For the Men Who Are Fighting YOUR Campaign of Courage!

A straight talk with every Smith voter!

If you could read the hundreds of letters pouring in on us every day—you would know just why Alfred E. Smith has fired the imagination of a whole people. "The man", as one letter puts it, "who has once more put a premium on courage in American public life". Courage! Matched by amazing executive ability—yes! Matched by an honesty his worst enemy has never dared to question—yes! But above all—courage! Determined to drive pussyfooting from American politics. Determined to let every man, woman and child know exactly what he thinks, whether they like it or not. A man who has never left a job half-done; whose word means achievement! And with him a man of the same fibre and courage, Joe T. Robinson. These are the men you and we want every American voter to know—by press, by radio, by letter, by their own forthright words spread everywhere. And for once we want this task to be a nation-wide partnership. Your campaign! Yes—everybody's!

Your Dollars Will Help Broadcast the Honesty, the Splendid Ability and the Fearless Leadership of the Most Talked-of Men in America

THE spotlight of baseball has been turned on the Athletics in the American League, but the Pirates are beginning to steal the show. A recent nine-game winning streak on the part of the Freebooters will be matched today provided they can measure the first-place Cardinals for another defeat.

The Buccos turned the trick yesterday, although they had to dig deeply into their bag of tricks to accomplish the desired result. To play out the string properly, Manager Bush yanked Carmen Hill off the mound in the ninth with two out, the move being the result of a double by Taylor Douthit that placed the tieing run in the scoring zone.

The Pittsburgh pilot apparently figured that Burleigh Grimes, inasmuch as he was warmed up, would be more apt to keep the important tally on the sacks. Burleigh did this, yet Sparky Admas appears to have had more to do with the realization of the plan than Grimes. The little Keystone tender sprang to his left for a bounder, came up cleanly with the mean smash and threw out Wattie Holm at first to ring down the curtain.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SPORTS EDITOR

LOCAL boxing fans will be interested in the split that parts Jack Zivic and his manager, Jimmy Bronson, of New York. Bronson is the only manager Zivic ever has had as a professional boxer. At a time when he was the most widely heralded amateur boxer in the business, following the 1920 Olympic games, he chose Bronson out of a list comprising the leading pilots of the sport to handle his affairs. Bronson recently has gained wide fame as the chief second of Gene Tunney in the latter's last three fights.

Prior to that he had been a boxer, promoter, referee and manager for many years. During the World War he handled many boxers overseas, and he came back with Bob Martin, the A. E. F. heavyweight champion, in tow and cleaned up handsomely with him. He is an intelligent man and a keen student of boxing.

IN ZIVIC, Bronson had his ideal type of a ringman to handle. Jimmy believes in showmanship in his proteges, and Zivic had that quality in abundant quantities. He believed in having his men FIGHT and give the customers a run for their money. No boxer ever did that more satisfactorily than Zivic.

Both Zivic and Bronson made a lot of money. But, in order to make it, Zivic had to fight the toughest men in the game. In his sixth professional fight he met Charley White, the Chicago lightweight veteran, who was knocking out the best of them with his famous left hook. A little later he knocked out Nate Goldman and Lew Tendler and became a sensation. He believed in fighting the very best and being well paid for it.

Jack once told me:

"I'm in this business to make money. I could fight a lot of easy opponents and get a few hundred dollars for bouts, but I figure I might as well meet them a shade tougher and get thousands instead of hundreds."

NOW, after some six years with Bronson, Zivic has broken away from his manager. He tells me he himself made the decision. His contract with Bronson expired July 10, and he did not choose to renew it. A week or so ago he visited Bronson in the latter's office in New York, and their interview wound up in a row. Jack says there is no chance of their ever getting together again. He is leaving today with his family for California and will not return until the fall. Meanwhile he does not intend to worry himself about fighting. When he goes into action again he either will

AMERICAN OARSMEN DISPLAY CLASS

SLOTEN, Holland, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—Capped by a sensational three-quarters length triumph for California's famous crew over the British Thames Rowing Club in the eight-oared finals, America scored a smashing victory in the Olympic regatta today.

The Californians, completing an unbroken season of success, gave the United States the premier laurels of the day and also sufficient points to beat out the nearest rival, Britain.

The victory was a glorious climax to one of the most remarkable rowing campaigns any crew ever waged, as it meant the completion of California's season without a single defeat, although opposed by the greatest aggregations of America and Europe. It left them supreme and unquestioned as the rowing champions of the world in their class, and kept the Yankee string of eight oared victories in the Olympics unbroken. The Naval Academy crew won for Uncle Sam in 1920 at Antwerp and Yale at Paris in 1924, but neither more impressively than California did today.

WIN IN FAST TIME

California's time of 6:03 1-5 for the 2,000 meters was faster than either of the previous American eight-oared standard-bearers made in winning their races, although not quite so fast as the 6:02 made by California two days ago in a semi-final race against the Canadians.

California's time was 6 minutes, 3 1-5 seconds. The Golden Bears' margin of victory over the experienced Thames Rowing Club crew from London was three-quarters of a length.

The crack Philadelphia double sculling pair came through with their impressive victory when American hopes were falling, their single sculling representative, Ken Myers, having been beaten by five lengths by the Australian, Bob Pearce.

The double sculling triumph clinched the regatta for the United States on points, regardless of the outcome of the remaining events.

CANADIANS BEATEN

By the smashing margin of six lengths, the American double sculling combination of Paul Costello and Charles McIlvaine defeated the Canadians in the final.

California took the lead early in the race and held it all the way.

At 250 meters the prows were level with both eights hitting a high beat. At 500 the Californians were a quarter of a length ahead and the margin was slightly more than this at 1,000 meters, the half-way point. At 1,500, the Golden Bears led by one length and the furious British stretch drive could get back only a quarter-length of this.

Bob Pearce, Australian rower, won the singles sculls championship, defeating Kenneth Myers, of Philadelphia.

The Australian star won by five lengths, appearing more exhausted at the finish than Myers, but quickly recovered.

Pearce out-rowed Myers from the start, jumping into a length lead in the first 150 meters with long, sweeping strokes and adding steadily to his advantage.

Italy won the first of the seven Olympic rowing championships today, defeating Switzerland by seven lengths in the four-oared shells with coxswain, while Germany took the

YANKEES WIN THREE FREE STYLE HEATS

AMSTERDAM, Holland, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—The United States placed all three of her swimmers in the 100-meter free style finals today. Johnny Weismuller, Chicago speedster and defending champion, and George Kojac, New York schoolboy, won their heats impressively, while Walter Laufer, of Chicago, finished second to Takaishi, of Japan, in his heat.

Weissmuller set a new Olympic record of 58 3-5 seconds in defeating Barany, of Hungary. Although three American girls qualified for the 100-meter backstroke, their showing was much less impressive than the men's. Miss Lisa Lindstrom, of New York, finished second to Marie Braun, of Holland, in a heat in which the Dutch girl set a new world record of 1:21 3-5 for the distance.

Miss Georgia Coleman, of the Los Angeles A. C., and Mrs. Betty Becker Pinkston, of Detroit, qualified for the finals in the high diving trials.

JAP BEATS LAUFER

The first semi-final heat in the men's 100-meter free style swim was won by Takaishi, of Japan, with Walter Laufer, of Chicago, U. S., second.

The hurricane finish of the Japanese, Takaishi, caught Laufer at the 75-meter mark in their heat in the 100 meter free style. Takaishi swam the final 25 meters in the most impressive style of the races to date, not excepting Johnny Weissmuller's performance. Both Takaishi and Laufer qualified for the finals. The Japanese's time was 1 minute flat, Laufer's 1 minute, 3-5 seconds.

The second semi-final in the men's 100-meter free style swim went to George Kojac, of the United States, the New York boy who yesterday won the 100-meter backstroke title in world's record time. Zorilla, of Argentina, was second to him today.

In the third and last elimination heat in the 100-meter women's backstroke, Eleanor Holm, of New York, was victorious, with Miss Cooper, of Britain, second. The time was 1:23 3-5, which is much slower than in the previous two heats, but Miss Holm won comfortably and undoubtedly can improve her time in the finals.

GIRL BREAKS RECORD

Miss Braun, of Holland, broke the world's record for the 100-meter backstroke swim for women, being timed at 1 minute, 21 3-5 seconds.

Miss Braun flashed a remarkable sprint to beat the American girl and set the new world backstroke record for 100 meters for women. All of the European girl swimmers

CHILLY SAUCE

By CHILLY DOYLE

THE Pirates won nine in a row with Dick Bartell in the shortfield. If they cop today's matinee they will have annexed nine unbroken victories with Buckshot Wright in the Wagnerian role. Moreover, Fred Brickell has played in each of the eight straight successes achieved by the home players.

Brickell nicked Haines and Rinehart for a couple of nice singles. The youngster is just about as swift as that other youthful greyhound of the pasture—Sprout the Younger. Sprout can scarcely beat Fred a step to first base.

PIE TRAYNOR must have felt that Taylor Douthit, with two out in the ninth, was ready to pull a ball into leftfield. Just before Taylor smacked his two-sacker against the boards, Pie stole a hasty look to see where Brickell was playing. Fred played the batter O. K., but for the first time since he has been in the pasture he failed to get the jump on the ball. The liner, however, struck the ramparts on the first bound, showing that it was well kissed.

'Twas a real scene in the Oakland Orchard yesterday, the weekday audience being one of the best of the season. About

"MY PERFECT FIGHT"

GENE TUNNEY

TOM HEENEY

GENE TUNNEY'S OWN STORY OF HIS FAREWELL RING APPEARANCE AGAINST TOM HEENEY.

by Gene Tunney
RETIRED HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION

(COPYRIGHT, 1928, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.)

CHAPTER VII.

THE seventh round, in which I paralyzed the nerve in Heeney's left eye with a sharp right hook and ended whatever chance the challenger had of lasting the full 15 rounds, did not meet with full approval when I returned to my corner.

Jimmy Bronson, who has acted as my chief second in all of my matches since I first met Jack Dempsey in 1926, leaned over and said:

"Young man, you are in there defending the heavyweight championship of the world. It is worth a lot to you. Let us have less sportsmanship and more attention to business. Go out there this round and finish him."

There were conflicting emotions in my mind as Bronson spoke. To me Heeney now was a rather pathetic figure, giving all he had of courage, stamina and ability in a cause that now was hopeless. I couldn't help saying to Jimmy:

"There must be sportsmanship even in this game."

THE PERFECT FIGHT

That, I believe, was the only time I did any more than nod to the advice and instruction poured into my ears between rounds. Talking during the minute rest is a waste of energy. That is for my seconds to do. My job is only to listen, profit by the counsel of those who have seen me do something wrong in the past three minutes and think of a way to do better in the next round. Always, in the corner, a boxer must think between rounds of the way in which he must solve some new attack or punch, an opponent has uncorked effectively in the last three minutes.

Bronson, during the rest between one of those last rounds, paid me the highest compliment that could come to me in the heat of an engagement.

"I don't know why I am here," he said. "You don't need me. You're fighting a perfect fight."

ADMIRED CHALLENGER

Somehow, I couldn't stir up the least enmity for a man of Heeney's

Pirates, Giants, A's Best

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—The fourth general major league intersection series, just ended, saw the defense tighten in the Eastern strongholds of the National League and Western ramparts of the American.

Although the western invaders in the older circuit, led by the Pittsburgh Pirates, again outscored the East it was by a margin of only two games—33 victories against 31 defeats. The Pirates won 12 and lost 5 in the East, but the New York Giants, carrying most of the burden for the defense, won 13 and lost only 4.

For the first time this year, the western defenders in the American League won more games than they lost to teams from the Atlantic seaboard—37 victories to 29 defeats. The summary:

DEVINE LOSES IN OLYMPIC BOXING SEMI-FINALS

The Phils and Red Sox Should Play a Booby Prize World Series

American Meets Defeat

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—Harry Devine, of Worcester, Mass., U. S. featherweight boxer, was defeated today in the semi-finals of the Olympic championship bouts by Vanklaveren, of Holland. The Dutchman won by decision.

In the other featherweight semi-final, Peralta, of Argentina, defeated Biguet, of Belgium, by decision.

The Devine-Vanklaveren match was hard fought, but the Hollander hit harder and oftener throughout. He won the first and third rounds. The second was a draw.

Devine floored his opponent in his second session with a hard left to the jaw, but the Dutch boy kept coming back for more and handing out accurate long range rights which eventually gave him the decision.

The Peralta-Biguet match consisted chiefly of infighting with the Argentine getting the better of most of the exchanges. Both bled profusely.

Peralta now will meet Vanklaveren for the championship in the featherweight class. America's last hope for that particular title vanished with Devine's defeat.

The second Argentine to win his way into the final round was Landini, conqueror of the American favorite, Tommy Lown, who won a three-round decision over Ray Smillie, last of the Canadian survivors in the tourney. The South American will meet Morgan, of New Zealand for the welterweight championship tomorrow.

Argentina placed her third man in the finals when Avendano won the decision over McCorkindale, of South Africa, in the semi-finals of the light-heavyweight division. Both fighters scarcely could stand the close of the battling.

In a final desperate sortie, McCorkindale drove the Argentine almost through the ropes twice in the third round, but could not overcome the large margin piled up by Avendano in the first two sessions.

The international amateur boxing federation voted today to have a referee in the ring in future Olympics, as proposed by Jacob W. Stumpf, manager of the American team.

7,000 were out to welcome the Buccos back home. And the Cardinals, under Bill McKechnie, are a fine attraction.

WE had to have the breaks to win the beautiful clash with the Redbirds; on the other hand Pie Traynor seems to have saved the contest with one of his incomparable assists. With Holm on third and two out, Strong-Boy Chick Hafey smeared a vicious liner between Pie and the foul line. Pie knocked down the mad drive and his desperate shot to Grantham stopped Chick by a step.

Earl Smith did not get any chance to show his stuff. Skipper Bill used Recruit Williamson and Andy High in pinch roles at the plate. Little Andy scared the multitude by pulling a foul into the rightfield stands. The utility star is bad news at the barrier, as any pitcher will tell you.

RABBIT MARANVILLE and Taylor Douthit matched Traynor's whirlwind play. Douthit came in for a Texas leaguer and held the ball after a head-spin dive. Maranville raced into the outfield with his back to the diamond to rob Brickell of a hit. Somebody went down with the heat in the stands about the time Rabbit flashed his feat and it was missed by hundreds of patrons.

The Reds arrived from Boston at 3 o'clock and soon were interested spectators. The Cincinnati boys also have an off-day today, so the majority of them will do the London Cabby trick again.

PAULINO IN CRASH

SAN SEBATIAN, Spain, Aug. 10.—(INS.)—Paulino Uzcudun, Spanish heavyweight, who will leave soon for the United States to seek a championship match, had a narrow escape from injury today when his automobile crashed into a wall. He was shaken up but not hurt.

BURNS QUITS GRAYS

PIRATES

Castle athlete, who has done fine work in the relief role.

Another illuminating feature will be the presence on Fogarty Knoll of Aleck the Great. Alexander is scheduled to face the Buccos in the closing contest. Manager Bush expects to send Fred Fussell out to heckle the leaders.

Jess Haines and Hill, two sterling righthanders, tied into each other yesterday. Both were hit quite freely, but Carmen was good in clinches and he was able to stay on the mound right up to the last hitter, who was retired by Grimes. Haines was relieved by Southpaw Arthur Reinhart in the fourth.

The Pirates showered Haines in the first round, five hits dotting the greensward and three runs going over the plate. The Cardinals came back in the third with a brace of tallies, but the Buccos added a single run in their half and after making another in the fourth they were three in front.

Fordham Frank Frisch caused lot of chills on the sweltering day when, with two out and Douthit on in the seventh, he socked the ball into the rightfield stands to put the foe within one run of the Pirates.

do so as his own manager or with a new connection.

Jack has some very definite opinions regarding this boxing business, and one of them is that the fighter makes the manager, and not the manager the fighter.

"How good would any manager look if his fighter did not stand up for him in the ring?" is Jack's argument.

Another conviction is that no manager is entitled to a one-third cut of his fighter's earnings.

"The fighter goes through the mill, and his career is comparatively short," Jack says, "whereas the manager may go on indefinitely. The manager certainly is not entitled to 33 1-3 per cent of the earnings of the man he is managing."

WOULD Lloyd Hahn, our best middle-distance runner, have fared better at Amsterdam if he had been permitted to go overseas a month before the meet to train and acclimatize himself? It will be remembered that he made this suggestion and was flatly turned down on the ground that such extra training would constitute a display of partiality in his case. As it was, he went over with the other members of the Olympic squad and finished a bad fifth in the 800 meters. Here's a little problem for the demon second guessers to crochet a fence around.

NICK the Greek is dead. He was one of the biggest race horse and boxing gamblers of the present era. The last time I saw him was in a restaurant in Chicago just before the second Dempsey-Tunney fight last fall. Somebody suggested that it would be a good idea to find out how he was betting on the bout. "Don't try," advised a man who knew Nick. "He won't tell you, anyhow. Like all big gamblers, he'll probably give you a bum steer and throw you off the track."

Nick's real name was Forzeley. He was a Syrian, born in England, and had been in the United States about 20 years. He made several big killings at the race tracks and also went broke several times, and many were the stories that were told of his coolness in the face of financial disaster.

BALTIMORE is the hotbed of lacrosse competition in the United States. There are more good teams of players of the Indian game there than anywhere else on the map, and, of all of them, the Johns Hopkins University team is the best. Johns Hopkins won the right to represent the United States in the Olympic games, and, after getting off to a fine start, lost, 7-6, to the British team. To the remainder of the world a defeat at lacrosse is not a serious thing, but I can imagine THIS defeat was quite a calamity for Baltimore.

TUNNEY'S STORY

type, a perfect sportsman who wanted to win that match and the heavyweight championship above everything else, but would not stoop to mean or unfair tactics to further his cause. Only that afternoon, at the weighing-in, he had wished me luck, me, the champion of the world, and he the challenger.

Only in the first round had Heeney in his anxiety to force the fighting, struck a blow that could have been construed as illegal. That was a right-hand punch to my jaw as we were breaking away from a clinch. Before the referee could step in with a warning, Tom had apologized. There could be none but the kindliest feelings for that type of man and athlete.

In the rounds after the first, when Tom did his only damage to my left eye, through the second and third, when the ring-rust was working from my system and I was trying all the things I had planned to try and solving the challenger's attack, there seemed to me to be no question of supremacy up to the seventh. Straight lefts to the challenger's face, hooks to the head and body and terrific right hand smashes under the heart all had worn him down past the point where he was dangerous.

It seemed to me, therefore, that there was room for magnanimity despite my desire to knock out Heeney. Of course, I tried my very best to land one clean, finishing punch after the seventh, when Tom's eye was hurt, but I could see no reason for cutting him up further. When Heeney went down in the tenth I thought the match was over, as Joe Humphries jumped into the ring and tried to raise my arm. It seemed, however, that even the smash that floored the challenger then could not finish him.

GLAD OF INTERVENTION

The eleventh and final round was rather distasteful. I could only wait, as Heeney, gathering strength for a final stand, rushed feebly at me with his right hand swinging. In the clinches, I could feel that his strength was gone, that he was fighting instinctively. There was no power in his blows. The cuts on his face bled profusely and I hoped that the referee would step between us.

It was not until all but eight seconds of the round had passed that Forbes, the referee, saw that continuance of the unequal contest was useless. The punches that I had shot at Heeney all had taken full effect. He was like a human punching bag at the close, helpless but struggling into me. I was genuinely glad when Forbes stopped it, as Tom stood there defenseless, hands hanging limply at his sides.

showed much improvement over their form in the 1924 games and promised to give the American girls keenest sort of competition in the finals. Miss Braun finished fresh and appeared capable of doing 1:20 flat for the distance. Miss Lindstrom's time was 1:23.

Mrs. Betty Becker Pinkston, of Detroit, and Georgia Coleman, of Los Angeles, finished first and second respectively in the first elimination series of the women's high diving competition, according to unofficial figures, both qualifying for the finals for the Olympic championship. Miss Onnela, of Finland, was third, also becoming eligible for the finals, it was believed certain in absence of official announcement, which was delayed as the judges conferred.

SETS OLYMPIC MARK

Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago speedster, set a new Olympic record for 100 meters free-style in winning the final elemination heat. The defending champion turned in 58 3-5 seconds for the distance. Barany, of Hungary, was second in 1 minute, 4-5 seconds.

Barany gave the American speed king a fight through every inch of the first 50 meters, making the turn with him on even terms. Weissmuller forged ahead with a tremendous burst of speed in the final 30 meters, flailing the water with great, distance-devouring strokes.

The first of the elimination heats in the women's 100-meter free style, first two to qualify, went to Miss McDowell, of Great Britain. She defeated Susan Laird, of the United States, by one-fifth of a second in 1:14 flat. The third girl, Miss Vierdag, of Germany, failed to qualify by another fifth of a second.

second championship in the pair-oared shells without coxswain, defeating Great Britain.

The brawny German pair, consisting of Kurt Moeschter and Bruno Muller, who eliminated the American crew in this event, led the British pair of O'Brien and Nisbet all the way, winning by one length. The Germans' time was 7 minutes 6 2-5 seconds, and the British time was 7 minutes 8 4-5 seconds.

In the final for pairs with coxswain, the Swiss Schochlin brothers beat the French Marcelle brothers by two lengths in 7:42 3-5. This reversed the outcome of the meeting of these same crews just a week ago, when the French won by a foot.

The American four without coxswain, from the Penn Barge Club, Philadelphia, was beaten by the British quartet from Cambridge University.

Try LIFEBUOY Shaving Cream!

No more tenderface

Its double-dense lather ends tenderface

HERE is an entirely new kind of shaving cream that assures a quick, clean shave without the usual after-shave discomfort.

Tenderface is usually caused by friction—the rough scraping of razor over skin. The only way you can end this friction is by complete lubrication.

Ordinary lather cannot give this complete lubrication. It is too light and frothy. Lifebuoy Shaving Cream lather, however, being of double-dense consistency, hugs the face so closely that a thoroughly lubricated shaving surface is formed. You get an amazingly smooth shave—yet your razor scarcely seems to touch you.

Lifebuoy Shaving Cream contains the same antiseptic ingredient as Lifebuoy Health Soap. Keeps skin clear, smooth and healthy.

A lasting lather

Men everywhere comment on Lifebuoy's lasting lather—a lather that stays fresh, moist and thick until the end of the shave.

Try Lifebuoy Shaving Cream now. So soothing and healing it's really a shaving cream and face lotion in one. Get the big red tube today.

U. S. Is Building Goodwill Abroad Helpful to Trade.

By B. C. FORBES

SINCE goodwill is a valuable business asset, America's helpful co-operation with various foreign countries should bring fruit to American industry and labor.

What are the facts?

TAKE the latest development first. Our prompt opening of friendly relations with the Chinese nationalist government, amounting to virtual recognition, is full of promise. The Chinese are impressed by acts of friendship.

Robert Dollar, the veteran owner of the round-the-world steamship line and other lines, tells me that, because he is known there, he has been able to travel wherever he desird in China during the war. He has passed unmolested from one armed faction to another. Not only so, but during all the recent destruction of property, not one dollar's worth of damage was done to any one of his various lumber and other plants in China. In one instance every surrounding building was burned down, but his was left standing—in recognition of his long friendliness towards the Chinese people.

Our trade with China by and by will become of extreme importance. Indeed, Mr. Dollar declares confidently that China will one day become America's largest customer. The Chinese would rather deal with Americans than with any other foreigners.

THE value of the work Ambassador Morrow is doing in Mexico can hardly be overestimated. He has made extraordinary progress in convincing the government and people of Mexico that this country entertains nothing but genuine goodwill towards them and that we have no sinister designs upon either their political freedom or their prosperity.

Some day our commerce with Mexico is to develop into impressive proportions. Let stability be established throughout Mexico, and let Mexico become thoroughly convinced of our neighborly, helpful attitude, and trade between the two countries will expand at a rate and on a scale destined to astonish those unfamiliar with Mexico's potentialities.

ONE European country after another has knocked at our door for financial assistance and has not knocked in vain. The dissatisfaction aroused in several countries by our stand on the repayment of war debts has been substantially modified in many directions by the responsive attitude of our bankers towards applications for credits and capital. Our Federal Reserve Bank authorities have co-operated in the most friendly and unselfish way with the principal governments and central banks in Europe. The work done in this direction by Gov. Benjamin Strong of the New York Reserve Bank has been especially effective.

ENGLAND, Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Spain, Balkan and other countries have have found American officials and financiers willing to help them to stabilize their currencies and to rehabilitate their industries and other enterprises.

It was during war debt negotiations that America was dubbed "Uncle Shylok." Since international financial activities passed into the hands of our bankers, the "Uncle Shylock" epithet has been dropped.

HOW freely American funds have been flowing into other countries is brought out anew by the figures covering the first half of this year. We furnished foreign borrowers during that short period with no less than $1,053,000,000. Last year we supplied $1,376,000,00. Compared with our 18 months' total of $2,429,000,000, Great Britain, formerly the world's chief source of capital, lent abroad only $967,000,000.

These are tremendously significant figures.

American industrialists, too, have extended co-operation in reorganizing, rehabilitating, launching and developing enterprises in many lands. All indications are that this work has been done acceptably to the nations concerned—although, of course, no claim has been made that altruism has been the governing motive.

All this is calculated to facilitate the building up of America's international commerce, to the benefit alike of American industtry, American business, American investors and American wage earners.

HIGHER MONEY HALTS STOCK ADVANCES

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—The stock market started forward at a brisk pace today and then stumbled over the barrier of 7½ per cent call money. Early gains of 1 to nearly 5½ points were generally cut down, or wiped out, and a number of issues sold down 1 to 3 points below yesterday's final quotations.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent, but advanced to 7½ as banks called $25,000,000 in loans to strengthen their positions at the Federal Reserve banks. Time money and commercial paper rates held firm. A ray of hope was seen, however, in private London dispatches that more than $3,000,000 in gold had been "ear marked" by the Bank of England for the account of the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

The early advance in prices was based on the relatively small increase in brokers' loans and the retention of the 5 per cent rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank. One of the most interesting business developments of the day was the drop of 66,082 tons in the July unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation, which is slightly less than had been generally expected.

Outside the stock market, chief speculative interest centered in the break of 4 to 5 points a bushel in wheat futures, and a rally of more than $1 a bale in cotton.

Heavy accumulation of Chrysler common and Dodge Brothers preferred, which advanced more than 5 points to new high records, contrasted with renewed liquidation of General Motors, which dropped from an early high of 187 to 181¼. Radio fell from 178 to 172¼, Wright Aeronautical from 155 to 150, Warner Brothers A from 78 to 74⅝ and Atlantic Refining from 157 to 154.

St. Louis Southwestern reached a new peak at 94⅝.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Big Dealings in Auto Stocks.

An upheaval in the automobile division enlivened the stock market today with Chrysler Motor enjoying the favor a strong bullish clique and General Motors feeling the weight of increased liquidation. Chrysler was taken in enormous blocks on a move to above 90 as the Street responded to the rumors that the Dodge Chrysler deal will pan out good for both companies and also that the Dupont interests are said to be "in" Chrysler which they regard as one of the greatest of the automobile organizations. General Motors had a strong opening but met a lot of selling on the initial bulge after which it was called upon to absorb steady selling which forced it down several points. Nervousness over retirement of Pierre du Pont and John J. Raskob from the Motors management has created a vague apprehension in trading mind despite the fact it was offically stated that Dupont's relinquishment of the chairmanship is in the manner of a temporary leave of absence. No statements have been issued as to the retention or disposal of any of the DuPont interests' holdings of General Motors shares.

General Motors Dividend.

Declaration of only the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on General Motors was regarded as unfavorable in some quarters, mainly because the Street "hoped" for an extra. It was pointed out, however, that the directors declared an extra of $2 at the previous meeting which, with the current disbursement, represents $4.50 a share for the half year, or just about 50 per cent of the earnings reported for that period.

Steel Tonnage Decreases.

The report of the United States Steel Corporation showing a decrease of 66,082 tons for the month of July was a little more favorable than yesterday's estimates had indicated. The general expectation was for a drop of not less than 100,000 tons. However, this 100,000-ton estimate was in itself a revision of earlier predictions and had anticipated an increase of about that tonnage. Forward orders on Steel's books as of July 31 were 3,570,927 tons as against 3,637,009 tons on June 30, and 3,142,014 tons on July 31, 1927.

Call Money 8 Per Cent.

Continued tightness in the money market was reflected in an advance in call loan rates to 8 per cent again today. On the opening call money was 7 per cent, but at midday there was an advance of one-half of 1 per cent followed by another similar raise at the beginning of the last hour. The incident caused considerable nervousness but failed to bring any drastic selling into the market. most conservative market observers look upon the money situation as a warning signal against too much enthusiasm on the long side of the market at present, and these interests were advising customers to reduce their holdings. Great significance was attached to the recent advance to 6¼% in time money, the highest rate in more than seven years, and it was pointed out that this development indicated a continued firm trend in call funds for a long time to come. On Tuesday, when the call money market stiffened, some of the bulls expressed the view that the firmness would be only temporary, and resulted from the fact that many out-of-town banks had failed to send in their usual quota of extra funds because they had not expected the higher rate. It must now be admitted that this reasoning could not be correct, especially as the call market has held firm and there have been rather steady withdrawals of out-of-town money, due to the increasing demands in other districts for commercial and crop purposes coming earlier than usual this year.

STOCKS HOLD STEADY IN QUIET LOCAL SESSION

LONE STAR GAS SCORES SMALL FRACTIONAL GAIN

A slightly firmer tone was noted in securities on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, but price changes were generally of small fractions and volume of business showed no increase over the low average of the past few days.

Armstrong Cork, which sagged off a new low of $55 a share yesterday, was handled at that price again in the forenoon session. Traders familiar with the company say Armstrong has naturally felt the keen competition in its line of business, but they point to the recent decision upholding the company's patent claims on embossed linoleum and state that this will eventually show in the balance sheet through royalty receipts.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt, another of the high grade local issues, was a little stronger today, but there is not much interest in the shares at this time and it is said that interests holding large amounts of the stock are fully confident that this year's earnings will show a measurable increase over last year, when approximately $5 a share was earned on the stock.

The fuel stocks were quiet. Neither Arkansas nor Lone Star appeared on the board until mid-day when a few trades in Arkansas preferred were recorded at 7¼, unchanged. Lone Star, however, showed some improvement over the prices of past week and was bid up to 52¼ before sellers were willing to part with stock. This was a fractional gain over yesterday's close and compares with the week's low of 51⅝.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

Mostly all lines of fruit and vegetables were in active demand at the local wholesale produce district today. The quotations were about unchanged.

Butter, eggs and cheese continued firm at unchanged quotations.

Poultry was in liberal supply, with the market about steady, demand fair and quotations unchanged.

Car lot supplies were liberal, a total of 511 cars being on track. Included in the arrivals were 7 cars of apples, 1 cabbage, 13 cantaloupes, 2 celery, 5 cucumbers, 8 grapes, 4 lemons, 3 lettuce, 2 onions, 6 oranges, 22 peaches, 4 pears, 13 potatoes, 11 tomatoes and 5 watermelons.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Oil Well Supply Sales Trend Upward With Prospects for More Drilling—Low Price of Stock Unique.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE Oil Well Supply Company, largest manufacturer of drilling equipment, has shown an improvement in sales the last two months. The outlook for the latter half of the year is much brighter, due to the reductions made in the stocks of crude oil and the possibility of a resumption in drilling activity in the near future.

The report for the first six months has not yet been published. It is quite probable that this will show a loss but better times became evident in June and July.

THE moving of the South Side plant to Oil City has been completed. This will reduce costs by centralizing operations at one point. Other economies and improvements in operating methods have been made since Walter C. Carroll assumed the presidency in January.

FOR 1926 the Oil Well Supply Company reported net profit of $2,045,227 which was equivalent to $4.81 a share on the common stock.

The curtailment of drilling activity was felt to some extent in the first half of 1927 when net profit of $726,860 was reported. In the latter half of the year the slump became more pronounced and losses were shown, part of which represented year end adjustments, which reduced net for the year to $490,502.

This was equivalent to 4 cents a share on the 490,502 shares of common stock, after deducting dividends on the $6,690,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock.

In spite of the unfavorable developments last year the company was able to free itself of funded debt and to retire $170,000 of the preferred stock.

AS a resut of the depression in its sales the present market price of the common stock is unique. It is one of the few well managed organizations in an established business whose stock is selling for less than half its book value. The common closed yesterday at 22½.

On December 31, 1927, after deducting the year's dividends of $1,184,373 and adjustments to prior periods of $394,611, surplus was $8,904,940, which indicated a book value of $49 a share for the common stock of $25 par value.

OF the total assets of $28,812,586, 73 per cent were current assets. Physical properties valued after depreciation at $7,178,537 represented most of the remainder.

Of the total current assets of $21,032,619, cash amounted to $1,308,957, notes and accounts receivable to $7,652,921 and inventories to $12,070,741. It is understood that inventories have been reduced since the end of the year as a result of more efficient control.

Current assets were 6.3 times current liabilities of $3,293,321. Notes payable amounted to $1,000,000 and accounts payable to $1,858,464.

AS a result of the unsatisfactory earnings results the directors recently omitted the quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock.

OIL WELL SUPPLY is one of the J. H. Hillman, Jr., organizations. A large block of the stock is held by Spang, Chalfant & Co., who bought the interest to secure the 90 Oil Well Supply stores as outlets for a share of their pipe production.

AT present Oil Well Supply may be regarded as a soundly financed company, engaged in a fundamental line of business, which is suffering from a temporary depression which now appears to be on the mend.

It recently secured new blood in the management and will be able to take full advantage of improved business when it develops.

STEEL ORDERS DECREASE

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(AP.)—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation on July 31 amounted to 3,570,927 tons, a decrease of 66,082 tons compared with the preceding month.

The decline in tonnage follows an increase of 220,187 tons which was reported for June, the first gain the corporation had shown for several months. Decreases of 455,311 tons were reported for May, 463,073 tons for April and 62,983 tons for March.

The trade attaches little significance to the drop of 66,082 tons, which was close to expectations, estimates having been made of a decline of about 100,000 tons. The hot weather interfered with buying in the last week of the month, but much of the business held up has come to the mills since August 1 and bookings thus far this month have been large.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The cotton market opened barely steady today at an advance of 1 to 16 points. Early fluctuations were extremely nervous and irregular.

After selling off from 18.83c to 18.65c, under continued liquidation combined with western, Wall street and southern selling, offerings seemed to taper off somewhat and the market was steadier at the end of the first hour, December ruling around 18.85c or about 20 to 25 points net higher. There was probably some buying on reports of rains in the eastern belt, covering by recent sellers and talk of a firmer technical position.

Private cables said there had been heavy general liquidation and further selling by India in the Liverpool market.

A private report estimating the consumption of lint cotton in this country for July at 429,000 bales, against 510,565 the previous month, was without apparent effect on the market.

Trading became less active and the tone steadied on the reports of heavy rains in Georgia and prospects for unsettled weather over much of the eastern belt. Private advices of increasing boll weevil infestation and reports of increased trade buying also contributed to the advance, which carried December up to 18.94c, or about 30 to 35 points net higher. This bulge was not fully maintained, but the midday market was fairly steady, with active months about 20 to 25 points above yesterday's closing quotations.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The raw sugar market was steady early today. No sales were reported, but there appeared to be buyers at last paid prices of 4.11c for spot duty paid, with holders asking advances of 1-32c or 4.14c.

The raw sugar futures market opened at advances of 1 to 3 points on covering believed to be against recent sales in the spot market and some buying by houses with trade and European connections. Cables from Europe reporting unfavorable beet sugar development as a result of the recent dry weather, with caterpillars damaging the crop in some parts of Germany, had a sustaining influence, as did also the steadier spot market. Prices showed further gains and at midday were 2 to 3 points net higher.

The refined market was unchanged at 5.55c for fine granulated. Withdrawals on old contracts were fairly liberal, but new business was light, with some second hands selling at 5.52½c.

In Memoriam 1-B

IN loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Florence Pattison Bennett, wife of Albert D. Bennett, of Washington, Pa., who died one year ago today, August 10, 1927.

The moon and stars are shining upon a lonely grave, where sleeps our Dear Mother we loved but could not save.
We often sit and think of you, and speak of how you died, to think we could not say good-bye before you closed your eyes.
Sadly missed by Husband, Children, Grandchildren and all who loved her.

OUR MOTHER.
In memory of Mrs. Emma Fink who died 1 year ago today, August 10, 1927.
Up above where angels dwelleth
Where there is no night or pain,
We shall all be re-united,
Happiness shall reign again.
Sadly missed by family.

No. 1207 Jones Law Bldg., Pittsburgh, Pa.
In the District Court of the United States for the western district of Pennsylvania.
In the matter of Charles H. Rosenfeld, trading as Rosenfeld's Department Store, bankrupt. No. 14253 in bankruptcy.
ORDER OF COURT.
And now, to wit, August 7th, 1928, the foregoing petition of Charles H. Rosenfeld, trading as Rosenfeld's Department Store, presented in open court, and upon consideration thereof and on motion of H. M. Stein, counsel for petitioner, it is ordered, adjudged and decreed that a meeting of the creditors of Charles H. Rosenfeld, trading as Rosenfeld's Department Store, be called at the office of Watson B. Adair, referee, at Room No. 24, St. Nicholas Building, corner of Fourth avenue and Grant street, Pittsburgh, Pa., on the 22nd day of August, 1928, at 10 o'clock a. m. (Daylight Saving time), for the allowance of claims against Charles H. Rosenfeld; the examination of said Charles H. Rosenfeld; the preservation and conduct of his estate; and for consideration by the creditors at said meeting, of such offer of composition as said Charles H. Rosenfeld may submit to them, at which meeting the said referee shall preside; that the said referee shall report to this court, within four days after said meeting, the claims of the creditors allowed by him, the action of said creditors upon the offer of composition, his findings and conclusions upon the same and any other proceeding had before him on said matter, and shall give notice to the creditors at said meeting that the terms of composition, if accepted by the requisite number of creditors, will be presented to the court for final confirmation on the 27th day of August, 1928, at 10 o'clock a. m. (Daylight Saving time). It is further directed that notice of this order shall be given by the clerk of this court, by mailing a copy thereof to all the creditors listed in the schedules filed by bankrupt, and by publishing a copy thereof in the Sun-Telegraph and in the Pittsburgh Legal Journal.

Debut of "Three Sisters" In New Bridge Opening

The announcement of Norman F. Brown, county director of public works, that the Sixth Street Bridge will be open to the public in advance of the date originally set for the completion of the structure, is cheering. It is especially welcome to businessmen of both sides of the Allegheny whose prosperity has been adversely affected through the traffic detour in effect since the old bridge was closed January 1, 1927. As a result of this condition work on the new structure has been rushed and relief for business that has been carried on under difficulty appears to be in sight.

Although a report that the bridge was to be opened the latter part of this month has no basis in fact, according to Mr. Brown, and no definite date for completion is designated, there is satisfaction in the information that the work is far ahead of schedule.

Completion of the work not only means easier direct communication between the business districts of downtown and the North Side, but it brings the termination of a building program that embraced the replacement of the old Sixth, Seventh and Ninth street bridges with beautiful new structures, all of the same type architecturally. From an esthetic standpoint they provide a group of peculiar significance. In gracefulness of line they are not surpassed by viaducts anywhere in the city. There is a majesty about their simplicity of form that is poetic, and fancy sees them endowed to posterity with the name, "The Three Sisters."

Violin—Finest Instrument

A Fine Young Artist, Also.

THE VIOLIN ADDS TO A YOUNG GIRL'S BEAUTY.

This talented young actress is Erna Rubenstein, a Hungarian girl of great promise, now playing in the United States. Hear her if you have the chance.

Young ladies of the United States, please notice how sensibly this girl of talent dresses, how pretty and becoming the velvet concert dress is. Just high enough, just low enough in the neck. And, although the picture doesn't show it, we assure you that it comes well below the girl's knees.

She has common sense.

This, however, is about the VIOLIN, noblest of all instruments, from the savage's tom-tom, or hollow tree trunk, beaten with clubs, all the way up to the grand piano and the pealing organ.

The violin comes nearest to the human voice. It is the absolutely perfect musical instrument.

And the violin, even better than the harp, emphasizes the beauty and grace of a young woman playing it.

The artist with a violin actually creates the music in the instrument with the power of his own feeling. He does not hit a hammer against strings, but actually touches the strings with the bow, that contact being the expression of his own emotion and feeling.

There has probably been no finer music ever heard on earth, barring the human voice, than the playing of Paganini, greatest violinist of all times.

If you have several children of talent, let one of them play the violin, by all means, and GET A GOOD INSTRUMENT, even if you have to hunt patiently and get good help in the choosing.

Whatever you do, as Henry Ford says, "Let the children play something." They will enjoy the music that they create themselves, feel it, and CREATING develops them. Don't let them go through life being merely listeners and hearers of what others do on the radio or the talking machine. Radio and talking machine are admirable. Every family should have both. But it is well for us to remember the Bible's command:

"But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only."

Gambling Worse Than Drugs

Fortunate New Zealand.

The State Full Court and the Federal High Court of New Zealand both declare illegal all betting on greyhounds and electrical hares. Fortunate New Zealand. There they not only SAY a thing but mean it, something we know nothing about here.

Have not grown men a right to bet if they choose? Perhaps, but have other men a right to tempt their brothers with foolish electric hares?

We forbid the maintaining of opium joints and forbid drug peddling. Everybody approves. For one family ruined by drugs, one hundred have been ruined by gambling. Ask the women.

New York Day by Day

By O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Thoughts while strolling: The benign old fellows who wear black cloth spats. Rube Goldberg, a San Francisco boy, who made good in the city. The Paramount lighted dome—as cold and distant as a winter star. Ruth Etting, who warbles for the records.

Wish someone would invent a spoon to which caviar wouldn't cling. Young medical students who wear imperials. Those charming elderly ladies wearing dove gray and black velvet neckbands. And drive every afternoon in the park. Sailors at a lunch counter, eating beans.

Patented face lifters—$25. What's become of the grocery cat that used to sleep in the apricot box? A pack of whippets yipping and yapping across town. Who remembers the change from oilcloth to the red table cloth? Nothing so cute as a Chow puppy. I'd just as soon Harry Richman didn't put that stuff on his hair.

The brass rail lunch places have crowded out "ye olde inns" with their open fireplaces. And walls lined with mugs. A recital of India music. Crazy-to-be glorified girls. No more Cubism exhibits. Ascot ties with turnover collars, despite the heat.

Wonder how many times De Wolf Hopper has recited "Casey at the Bat?" Those tight-lipped fellows with a slightly sonorous voice who never smile. And the systematic worldlings who walk at 5 o'clock on the avenue. The impression created by pedestrians who talk to themselves. Most of us do, but regard others who do it as nutty.

That idea Scandinavian people are mental wool gatherers has exploded. They have walked away with some of the highest honors on the stage, screen, in literature and in the air, the past year. An imported car upholstered in snake skin. Harry Hanson, the book critic.

Sign on a dingy old restaurant: "Good food and dancing do not mix." And there is truth to that. It appeals because it is solely about ourselves. Konrad Bercovici, who writes about gypsies and resembles one. The endless parade of new faces.

Next to an earthquake, nothing is so upsetting as a walter dropping a tray in a smart cafe. Among skilled attaches it brings a shuddery terror. Most headwaiters following a crash hurriedly leave the room until order is restored. When the trained waiter meets with such calamity it is his job never to hesitate. He keeps on his way as though nothing happened. And sometimes he suffers such mortification he does not return for the rest of the evening. The effect of a dropping tray is like the snapping of a taut fiddlestring, and the entire organization is thrown out of gear.

A headwaiter tells me an expert waiter can tell at a glance if a necessary article is missing from a table. He tests them by omitting a pepper shaker and using instead two salt shakers. In one instance he had a table set for 14 people. At a plate he placed an extra spoon. In less than a minute a waiter discovered it. But the only satisfactory way to make a bus boy discover your water glass is empty is to shoot off a cannon.

The desolation of a waiter who spots a lady's dress with food while serving is pitiful to behold. There is a record in Switzerland of two committing suicide following such unintentional accidents.

A favorite waiter is Slim, who holds forth in a cafe in Houston, Tex. He can stretch a pint of milk into a yard-long ribbon, toss a doughnut in the air and catch it on a plate held behind his back, slide a bottle of catsup down a long counter so it stops in front of you, and play "This is the day they give babies away" on a set of pearly buck teeth.

* * *

There is a tinge of pathos about those brash cafe diners who snatch for the check at the finish of a meal. I saw one swoop down on a check the other evening at the Colony restaurant without meeting the expected opposition. The Colony is the sort charging $1.25 for a fruit cocktail. And if you think he didn't look silly, don't be that way.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Geographic Sense

PEOPLE who have been all around the world sometimes exhibit astonishing ignorance of geography. They have very lazy ideas of the location of the places and countries that they have visited. Apparently they never study a map, or look at a globe, and have hardly a clearer conception of the shape of this planet than that of the "earth-flatteners."

I have heard persons, otherwise well informed, express surprise on being told that the British Isles lie in the same latitude as Labrador, and that if those islands were transported across the Atlantic and dropped onto the western world they would fall in the lower half of Hudson's Bay, and London would be more than 660 miles north of Chicago.

There is a kind of geographic sense, or sense of direction, or of orientation, which some possess, that saves them from confusion about their relative location on the globe, wherever they may be. Probably this depends more upon general attention to geographic facts, and habitual study of maps, than upon any special gift such as bees and birds are supposed to possess. But however it may be acquired, this sense is a highly valuable quality, even for those who never go far from home.

It is not becoming to human intelligence that people should be practically ignorant of the face of the globe on which they dwell. All Mohammedans are said to know in what direction Mecca lies; but ask the average American (after you have told him where north is), to turn his face toward Australia. Or inquire what he knows about longitudes and latitudes in general.

I think that too little study is given in school to the globe. The maps of an atlas are studied separately with but slight attention to their interrelation. Thus "world lines" are not fixed in the minds of pupils. It is no wonder that many of them get the notion that the earth is flat, for they seldom see it represented in any other form, and they hear still less said about its rotundity—a thing which completely alters many of the essential and fundamental relations between the different parts of the world.

No one can have a clear idea of the shape of the earth's surface who does not have fixed in his mind the fact that it is the surface of a sphere—more correctly a spheroid, but for ordinary purposes it may be thought of perfectly spherical. When once that truth is thoroughly rooted in the mind a great many otherwise puzzling things about our planet becomes as plain and evident as they are, in themselves, interesting.

The great bugbear of the "antipodes," which confuses so many, can only be banished by habitually representing the earth to the imagination in its real shape. When you study a globe the whole mystery vanishes; the meaning of the statement that there is no "down" for us, no matter where we dwell, except toward the center of the earth, becomes plain. The fact that all plumb-lines are directed toward practically the same point, and cannot hang parallel to one another, except when they are close together, needs no further explanation.

The best way to acquire real geographic sense is to see the earth in its true form as a globe; to teach yourself to feel that you are living on a rotating globe, and so to regard the phenomena of sunrise and sunset in the light of their actual cause. A full comprehension of this is the beginning of the science of astronomy.

A Heroine

MANY a hero has won acclaim by a single brave feat of brief duration. Think, by contrast, of the heroism of Mrs. Bessie Bodyfield, of Edgewater, Col.

She is 45, the wife of a pioneer, the mother of three children. All her life she has wanted an education. Not until a year ago was she able to leave home in quest of it.

She went to New York with only $20. But somehow she managed to enter Columbia. And there, by extra work and kindly aid, she persevered until now she has her degree and is home again, prepared to teach.

How many recipients of ovations deserve greater honor than she?

Are Your Thoughts Right?

A MACHINE to record thoughts has been perfected, is the report.

How accurate this statement is is unknown.

How would you like to have your thoughts recorded for the period of 24 hours?

What would be your reaction to a record of this kind?

Would you be proud of it or would you feel very much ashamed?

Yet your daily thoughts are recorded in your own mind.

They become a part of you and they influence your mind and your physical being to a great extent.

What are your thoughts making out of you?

Are they making you bigger and broader and better?

Or are they tearing down your moral fabric and weakening you, not only by the poison which they engender but because of what they lead you to do?

You are the custodian of your mind and your body.

You can nurture them and they will give you good service, or vice versa.

You know the picture your life is making, and only you can change your thoughts if they are wrong.

Penalty

WHEN you do wrong I only know
A pity that it must be so;
That folly, fraility and sin
Creep, sometimes, through the web men spin,
And marring life's most joyous song
Comes discord harsh, when you do wrong.

But, ah! When I do wrong I feel
Keen pangs that deeps of woe reveal,
As lightning's flash may show a dread,
Profound abyss by which I tread.
Remorse sends cruel ranks to throng
About my soul when I do wrong.

Great Passages from the Bible

The Source of Wisdom

(Job 28; 12-28)

BUT where shall wisdom be found? and where is the place of understanding?

Man knoweth not the price thereof; neither is it found in the land of living.

The depth saith, It is not in me: and the sea saith, It is not with me.

It cannot be gotten for gold, neither shall silver be weighed for the price thereof.

It cannot be valued with the gold of Ophir, with the precious onyx, or the sapphire.

The gold and the crystal cannot equal it: and the exchange of it shall not be for jewels of fine gold.

No mention shall be made of coral, or of pearls: for the price of wisdom is above rubies.

The topaz of Ethiopia shall not equal it, neither shall it be valued with pure gold.

Whence then cometh wisdom? and where is the place of understanding?

Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all living, and kept close from the fowls of the air.

Destruction and death say, We have heard the fame thereof with our ears.

God understandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

For he looketh to the ends of the earth, and seeth under the whole heaven;

To make the weight for the winds; and he weigheth the waters by measure.

When he made a decree for the rain, and a way for the lightning of the thunder:

Then did he see it, and declare it; he prepared it, yea, and searched it out.

And unto man he said, Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

A GUY by the name of Henry was having a hard day of it because he'd been to lodge or something the night before, and hadn't got home till morning. The missus wasn't very nice to him, because he didn't just feel right or look right or something, and she thought he must have been to blame.

"For heaven's sake, don't go to the office looking like a bum," she says.

"I don't look like a bum, darling. It was a very quiet party, and while I might be a little sleepy—"

"Well, you need a shave, that's sure.

"No, I don't need a shave. Why, we all shaved just before we come home, because George says that that makes a guy look fresher and everything. I thought you'd remark about it."

"Don't kid me, Henry. Look in the glass."

He did. Then he says. "Well, you see, I shaved all right, but there was three or four of us in the bathroom, and two small looking glasses, and we got all mixed up. If I ain't shaved, I know George is shaved twice, because I shaved somebody all right."

Barbarous

THE barber was feeling cheerful that afternoon, and as he lathered his customer's face he chatted pleasantly.

"No, sir," he said. "I used to give credit, but I don't now. In fact, nobody ever asks for it."

"Why is that?" asked the customer.

"Well, you see, sir," the barber explained, "I once had a set of customers who used to ask me to chalk it up, and they kept me waiting so long that I got tired of keeping books, and adopted a new system. Whenever I shaved one of them I put a little nick in his nose with my razor, and kept tally that way. It was wonderful how soon they came back to the old plan of paying for each shave at once."

There was a tremor in the customer's voice as he asked, from beneath the lather:

"D-do you object to being paid in advance?"

Humanizing Immigration

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

In accordance with an order made public the other day by the Department of Labor about a thousand children and a hundred husbands of American citizens will now be allowed to enter this country with non quota visas without further delay.

This proclamation carries into immediate effect the revisions in the immigration law made by the recent Congress concerning husbands and minor children.

This is as it should be. A country has a right to say who shall come into it. Very few except extremists favor unlimited immigration.

But every law should be tempered with humanity. There is no sense in excluding minor children. They certainly will not demoralize our labor supply, and as a rule do not make undesirable citizens. A man also in Europe that wants to join his wife here is not acting suspiciously. Neither does a woman seeking to join her husband cause undue alarm.

It is a good deal of a tragedy when people who are desirous of joining their families here reach Ellis Island and are turned back.

Mr. Hull's order is that an unmarried child under twenty-one years of age or the wife of a citizen of the United States shall not be regarded as a non-quota immigrant unless provided with an immigration visa designating the holder as such, and then only when the citizenship of the alleged father or husband and his relationship to the immigrant are established to the satisfaction of the examining immigration officer.

A similar rule in regard to husbands of citizens of the United States is made.

Thus the immigration officer is given opportunity to act humanely, and some scope is given to his discretion.

The immigration law has a sound basis in economics and social welfare. But the humanities ought also to have their place. And it is manifestly unjust and a tragic hardship when people simply want to rejoin their families over here.

The solidarity of the family should be the first concern to the state and it is doubtful whether the arbitary separation of members of the family is condusive to morals.

Nowhere should the strict observance of the letter of the law be more tempered with mercy and interpreted with discretion than at the country's front door. Many stories have been published of the cruelties inflicted by the Immigration Department in refusing admission to the country to innocent members of a family. The immigration officers doubtless strive to do their duty, but the law should give them a little leeway, and this order of the Department of Labor is in line with sound public policy.

The order was prepared by Harry E. Hull, Commissioner General of Immigration, and approved by W. W. Husband, Acting Secretary of Labor.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

IT WAS her first automobile. As she slid around a corner on one wheel, she waved to the corner policeman and said to the friend sitting open-mouthed beside her:

"It will be two weeks old—let me see, next Wednesday!"

"What?" queried the friend.

"The car," said the lady.

"But a few more corners like that and it won't be," said the friend, suddenly remembering she had an appointment.

Men are never as ingenuous as women. Now take the Chicago lady whose husband accused her of 50 acts of cruelty. Such as: Putting the dog in his bed. Taking the bed apart and strewing the parts about the room. Taking the door off the bathroom so he was nervous while he bathed. Rocking in a squeaky rocker while he tried to sleep, and putting coffee grounds in his automobile radiator.

Oh, yes, and this interesting wife, her husband says, purloined $110,000 worth of bonds and took possession of their joint holdings in real estate.

A Los Angeles film actress got a divorce because her husband loved his work more than he did her.

And a Los Angeles man got one because his wife was in love with the city of Los Angeles.

At finding rivals Los Angelens certainly are wows!

Of all men armed with excuses for not appearing when they have dates, the air pilot leads. And when he does get there, the girl is so glad he isn't in a hospital or a morgue, that all is forgiven at sight of him.

And what pikers sailors seem, now that cupid has discovered air pilots!

Women who joke about children in their presence, and get a good laugh at the expense of the little folks, probably don't realize that children can be hurt by such behavior. They are the kind of women who nag their husbands, and gossip about their friends. Children are people and their feelings should be respected.

Yesterday I heard a woman make fun of a child's hair cut and pity her. I could read the answer in the little girl's eyes. It takes a pretty sad type of sport to take that kind of advantage of a child's helplessness.
